Reinventing Africa Museums Material Culture And Popular Imagination In Late Victorian And Edwardian England:

Reinventing Africa Annie E. Coombes, 1994-01-01 Between 1890 and 1918 British colonial expansion in Africa led to the removal of many valuable African artifacts that were subsequently brought to Britain and displayed This fascinating book analyses the ways in which African peoples and their material culture were represented in Britain at this time the justifications for imperial expansion implicit in the displays and the effects that this had on racial stereotyping and prejudice Annie Coombes argues that this activity had profound repercussions for the construction of a national identity within Britain itself the effects of which are still with us today The Postcolonial Museum Iain Chambers, Alessandra De Angelis, Celeste Ianniciello, Mariangela Orabona, 2016-02-17 This book examines how we can conceive of a postcolonial museum in the contemporary epoch of mass migrations the internet and digital technologies The authors consider the museum space practices and institutions in the light of repressed histories sounds voices images memories bodies expression and cultures Focusing on the transformation of museums as cultural spaces rather than physical places is to propose a living archive formed through creation participation production and innovation The aim is to propose a critical assessment of the museum in the light of those transcultural and global migratory movements that challenge the historical and traditional frames of Occidental thought This involves a search for new strategies and critical approaches in the fields of museum and heritage studies which will renew and extend understandings of European citizenship and result in an inevitable re evaluation of the concept of modernity in a so called globalised and multicultural world Cultural Diplomacy and the Heritage of Empire Cynthia Scott, 2019-11-12 Cultural Diplomacy and the Heritage of Empire analyzes the history of the negotiations that led to the atypical return of colonial era cultural property from the Netherlands to Indonesia in the 1970s By doing so the book shows that competing visions of post colonial redress were contested throughout the era of post World War II decolonization Considering the danger this precedent posed to other countries the book looks beyond the Dutch Indonesian case to the Elgin Parthenon Marbles and Benin Bronzes controversies as well as recent developments relating to returns in France and the Netherlands Setting aside the universalism versus nationalism debate Scott asserts that the deeper meaning of post colonial cultural property disputes in European history has more to do with how officials of former colonial powers negotiated decolonization while also creating contemporary understandings of their nations pasts As a whole the book expands the field of cultural restitution studies and offers a more nuanced understanding of the connections drawn between postcolonial national identity making and the extension of cultural diplomacy Cultural Diplomacy and the Heritage of Empire offers a new perspective on the international influence of the UNGA and UNESCO on the return debate As such the book will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners engaged in the study of cultural property diplomacy and law museum and heritage studies modern European history post colonial studies and historical anthropology Photography,

Anthropology and History Elizabeth Edwards, 2016-04-22 Photography Anthropology and History examines the complex historical relationship between photography and anthropology and in particular the strong emergence of the contemporary relevance of historical images Thematically organized and focusing on the visual practices developed within anthropology as a discipline this book brings together a range of contemporary and methodologically innovative approaches to the historical image within anthropology Importantly it also demonstrates the ongoing relevance of both the historical image and the notion of the archive to recent anthropological thought As current research rethinks the relationship between photography and anthropology this volume will serve as a stimulus to this new phase of research as an essential text and methodological reference point in any course that addresses the relationship between anthropology and visuality

Hybridity and Its Discontents Avtar Brah, Annie Coombes, 2005-08-03 Hybridity and its Discontents explores the history and experience of hybridity the mixing of peoples and cultures in North and South America Latin America Britain and Ireland South Africa Asia and the Pacific The contributors trace manifestations of hybridity in debates about miscegenation and racial purity in scientific notions of genetics and race in processes of cultural translation and in ideas of nation community and belonging The contributors begin by examining the persistence of anxieties about racial contamination from nineteenth century fears of miscegenation to more recent debates about mixed race relationships and parenting Examining the lived experiences of children of mixed parentage contributors ask why such fears still thrive in a supposedly tolerant culture The contributors go on to discuss how science while apparently neutral is part of cultural discourses which affect its constructions and classifications of gender and race The contributors examine how new cultural forms emerge from borrowings exchanges and intersections across ethnic and cultural boundaries and conclude by investigating the contemporary experience of multiculturalism in an age of contested national borders and identities

Shadow House Jonathan Meuli, 2013-12-19 In this fascinating study of Northwest Coast art Jonathan Meuli has not only outlined a history of ideas associated with Northwest Coast art objects from pre Contact time to the present day but has also examined the ways in which the physical location and contexts in which the objects are produced has helped to determine their meanings Locating his linear historical narrative within a wider exploration of ethnographic art ideas which emphasizes links across cultures Meuli examines the differing attitudes towards Northwest Coast material culture particularly as these are embodied in oral mythic narratives collection methods and architectural constructions

Joseph Chamberlain Travis L. Crosby, 2011-03-30 Joseph Chamberlain was a dynamic orator notable reformer and superb parliamentary tactician of the late 19th and early 20th centuries In his early political career Chamberlain was a radically minded Liberal Party member and a supporter of political reform yet after the Liberal Split his allegiance changed dramatically when his Liberal Unionist Party entered into alliance with the Conservatives As Colonial Secretary in Salisbury's government he was a prime instigator of the Boer War and an important negotiator in the attempts to build an Anglo German alliance Ultimately disenchanted with the Conservative leadership of Salisbury and

Balfour he played an integral role in the Unionist Split over the issue of Tariff Reform which ultimately led to Balfour's downfall. Travis Crosby here sheds light on an often overlooked but exceptionally influential politician. He argues that Chamberlain was driven primarily by a personal need for power and control characteristics that went beyond political loyalties. Nevertheless his accomplishments as chief spokesman for electoral and social reform and his achievements as Colonial Secretary were genuine and lasting. This book sheds new light on an influential character who played an important role in the development of British politics. Multicultural Dilemmas Wojciech Kalaga, Marzena Kubisz, 2008

Multiculturalism has recently become a word without which hardly any discussion of identity, nationality or historical and ideological narratives seems possible. However the popularity of this word and its current usefulness should not obscure the fact that the concept itself is not an easy and obvious one. Many apparently firm assumptions have been disputed from a multicultural perspective while there are still a great number of social, cultural and political spheres which need to be redefined and rearticulated as some dominant notions and symbols have been subverted by recognition of the diversity of subjective positions and cultural identities. The concept of multiculturalism assumes that our identities both individual and collective are shaped by our relationships with others. This volume addresses issues of multiculturalism and identity in culture and reveals a wide spectrum of perspectives from which we look at the Other, the Unfamiliar, the Unknown. It is an attempt to reveal the patterns and practices our culture has used in order to envisage, negate or welcome the Other and seeks to contribute to the ongoing discussion about multiculturalism. Worlds of Difference Peter Pericles

Trifonas, 2015-12-22. The varying interests of competing minority groups often part company with regard to how to achieve an equitable community. Worlds of Difference rethinks the traditional interpretation of the principle of educational equity in light of this difficulty. Theorists and educational practitioners influenced by many disparate schools of thought reflect upon the possibilities of a curriculum of difference in relation to questions of language, culture and media at the forefront of global education issues today. Collectively the authors argue that education in theory and practice must reawaken an ethical consciousness that affirms the negative values of difference but still recognizes the uniqueness and particularity of each group. Britain and the Narration of Travel in the Nineteenth Century Kate Hill, 2017-05-15. Interrogating the multiple ways in which travel was narrated and mediated by and in response to nineteenth century British travelers, this interdisciplinary collection examines to what extent these accounts drew on and developed existing tropes of travel. The three sections take up personal and intimate narratives that were not necessarily designed for public consumption, tales intended for a popular audience and accounts that were more clearly linked with discourses and institutions of power such as imperial processes of conquest and governance. Some narratives focus on the things the travelers carried such as souvenirs from the battlefields of Britain's imperial wars while others show the complexity of Victorian dreams of the exotic. Still others offer a disapproving glimpse of Victorian mores through the eyes of indigenous peoples in contrast to the imperialist vision of British explorers.

Swiss hotel registers guest books and guidebooks offer insights into the history of tourism while new photographic technologies the development of the telegraph system and train travel transformed the visual audial and even the conjugal experience of travel The contributors attend to issues of gender and ethnicity in essays on women travelers South African travel narratives and accounts of China during the Opium Wars and analyze the influence of fictional travel narratives Taken together these essays show how these multiple narratives circulated cross fertilised and reacted to one another to produce new narratives new objects and new modes of travel

The Inbetweenness of Things Paul Basu, 2017-03-23 We habitually categorize the world in binary logics of animate and inanimate natural and supernatural self and other authentic and inauthentic The Inbetweenness of Things rejects such Western classificatory traditions which tend to categorize objects using bounded notions of period place and purpose and argues instead for a paradigm where objects are not one thing or another but a multiplicity of things at once Adopting an object centred approach with contributions from material culture specialists across various disciplines the book showcases a series of objects that defy neat classification In the process it explores how things mediate and travel between conceptual worlds in diverse cultural geographic and temporal contexts and how they embody this mediation and movement in their form With an impressive range of international authors each essay grounds explorations of cutting edge theory in concrete case studies An innovative thought provoking read for students and researchers in anthropology archaeology museum studies and art history which will transform the way readers think about objects

The Palgrave Handbook of African Colonial and Postcolonial History Martin S. Shanguhya, Toyin Falola, 2018-01-28 This wide ranging volume presents the most complete appraisal of modern African history to date It assembles dozens of new and established scholars to tackle the questions and subjects that define the field ranging from the economy the two world wars nationalism decolonization and postcolonial politics to religion development sexuality and the African youth experience Contributors are drawn from numerous fields in African studies including art music literature education and anthropology The themes they cover illustrate the depth of modern African history and the diversity and originality of lenses available for examining it Older themes in the field have been treated to an engaging re assessment while new and emerging themes are situated as the book's core strength The result is a comprehensive vital picture of where the field of modern African history stands today

Imagined Orphans Lydia Murdoch, 2006-02-16 With his dirty tattered clothes and hollowed out face the image of Oliver Twist is the enduring symbol of the young indigent spilling out of the orphanages and haunting the streets of late nineteenth century London He is the victim of two evils an aristocratic ruling class and more directly neglectful parents Although poor children were often portrayed as real life Oliver Twists either orphaned or abandoned by unworthy parents they in fact frequently maintained contact and were eventually reunited with their families In Imagined Orphans Lydia Murdoch focuses on this discrepancy between the representation and the reality of children's experiences within welfare institutions a discrepancy that she argues stems from conflicts over middle and working class notions of citizenship Reformers efforts to depict poor children as either orphaned or endangered by abusive or no good parents fed upon the poor s increasing exclusion from the Victorian social body Reformers used the public s growing distrust and pitiless attitude toward poor adults to increase charity and state aid to the children With a critical eye to social issues of the period Murdoch urges readers to reconsider the stereotypically dire situation of families living in poverty While reformers motivations seem well intentioned she shows how their methods solidified the public s anti poor sentiment and justified a minimalist welfare state that engendered a cycle of poverty As they worked to fashion model citizens reformers efforts to protect and care for children took on an increasingly imperial cast that would continue into the twentieth century

Dividing the spoils Henrietta Lidchi, Stuart Allan, 2020-09-29 At a time of heightened international interest in the colonial dimensions of museum collections Dividing the Spoils provides new perspectives on the motivations and circumstances whereby collections were appropriated and acquired during colonial military service Combining approaches from the fields of material anthropology imperial and military history this book argues for a deeper examination of these collections within a range of intercultural histories that include alliance diplomacy curiosity and enquiry as well as expropriation and cultural hegemony As museums across Europe reckon with the post colonial legacies of their collections Dividing the Spoils explores how the amassing of objects was understood and governed in British military culture and considers how objects functioned in museum collections thereafter suggesting new avenues for sustained investigation in a controversial contested field

Authentically African Sarah Van Beurden, 2015-11-25 Together the Royal Museum for Central Africa in Tervuren Belgium and the Institut des Mus es Nationaux du Zaïre IMNZ in the Congo have defined and marketed Congolese art and culture In Authentically African Sarah Van Beurden traces the relationship between the possession definition and display of art and the construction of cultural authenticity and political legitimacy from the late colonial until the postcolonial era Her study of the interconnected histories of these two institutions is the first history of an art museum in Africa and the only work of its kind in English Drawing on Flemish language sources other scholars have been unable to access Van Beurden illuminates the politics of museum collections showing how the IMNZ became a showpiece in Mobutu s effort to revive authentic African culture She reconstructs debates between Belgian and Congolese museum professionals revealing how the dynamics of decolonization played out in the fields of the museum and international heritage conservation Finally she casts light on the art market showing how the traveling displays put on by the IMNZ helped intensify collectors interest and generate an international market for Congolese art The book contributes to the fields of history art history museum studies and anthropology and challenges existing narratives of Congo s decolonization It tells a new history of decolonization as a struggle over cultural categories the possession of cultural heritage and the right to define and represent cultural identities

Hidden Histories of Gordonia Martin Legassick, 2016-04-01 The Gordonia region of the Northern Cape province has received relatively little attention from historians In Hidden Histories of Gordonia Land dispossession and resistance in the Northern Cape 1800 1990 Martin Legassick explores aspects of the generally unknown brown and black history of the region Emphasising the lives of ordinary people his writing is also in part an exercise in applied history historical writing with a direct application to people s lives in the present Tracing the indigenous history of Gordonia as well as the northward movement of Basters and whites from the western Cape through Bushmanland to the Orange River the book presents accounts of family histories episodes of indigenous resistance to colonisation and studies of the ultimate imposition of racial segregation and land dispossession on the inhabitants of the region A recurrent theme is the question of identity and how the extreme ethnic fluidity and social mixing apparent in earlier times crystallised in the colonial period into racial identities until with final conquest came imposed racial classification

British Jacobin Politics, Desires, and Aftermaths James Epstein, David Karr, 2021-01-31 This book explores the hopes desires and imagined futures that characterized British radicalism in the 1790s and the resurfacing of this sense of possibility in the following decades The articulation of Jacobin sentiments reflected the emotional investments of men and women inspired by the French Revolution and committed to political transformation The authors emphasize the performative aspects of political culture and the spaces in which mobilization and expression occurred including the club room tavern coffeehouse street outdoor meeting theater chapel courtroom prison and convict ship America imagined as a site of republican citizenship and New South Wales experienced as a space of political exile widened the scope of radical dreaming Part 1 focuses on the political culture forged under the shifting influence of the French Revolution Part 2 explores the afterlives of British Jacobinism in the year 1817 in early Chartist memorialization of the Scottish martyrs of 1794 and in the writings of E P Thompson The relationship between popular radicals and the Romantics is a theme pursued in several chapters a dialogue is sustained across the disciplinary boundaries of British history and literary studies The volume captures the revolutionary decade s effervescent yearning and its unruly persistence in later years

At Home with the Empire Catherine Hall, Sonya O. Rose, 2006-12-21 This pioneering 2006 volume addresses the question of how Britain s empire was lived through everyday practices in church and chapel by readers at home as embodied in sexualities or forms of citizenship as narrated in histories from the eighteenth century to the present Leading historians explore the imperial experience and legacy for those located physically or imaginatively at home from the impact of empire on constructions of womanhood masculinity and class to its influence in shaping literature sexuality visual culture consumption and history writing They assess how people thought imperially not in the sense of political affiliations for or against empire but simply assuming it was there part of the given world that had made them who they were They also show how empire became a contentious focus of attention at certain moments and in particular ways This will be essential reading for scholars and students of modern Britain and its empire
