New Perspectives in British Cultural History Rosalind Crone, David Gange, Katy Jones, 2021-03-04 This book is composed of a selection of papers presented at a conference in Cambridge in December 2005 Cultural history is a relatively new sub discipline Over the past few decades it has become increasingly apparent that a new generation of historians has emerged These scholars have become concerned with research sources and questions traditionally beyond the scope of the discipline of history Indeed recent monographs in history have demonstrated a growing awareness of the cultural imagination in analyses of patterns of change and continuity in the past Such a movement has also encouraged the development of new networks between different disciplines in the Arts and Social Sciences The authors of these chapters come from a wide range of academic backgrounds While all are concerned with crucial issues of the past they represent a substantial variety of disciplines In addition to the historians are those trained and working in literary studies art history design music and science As early career scholars the research they present is cutting edge these contributions represent the very latest trends in cultural studies and demonstrate the attempts of new researchers to answer the most current and challenging questions that are being proposed in this field

Expressions of Nationhood in Bronze & Stone Síghle Bhreathnach-Lynch, 2019-06-21 At the time of his death in 1945 Albert Power was the leading nationalist sculptor in the Irish Free State yet within a few decades he was almost forgotten This first major examination of his life and career tells of one artist's contribution to national identity before and after political independence In sculpture at that time the emphasis was on creating a pantheon of new Irish heroes by means of monumental and portrait commissions Power's work however sprang from deeply held nationalist beliefs and he felt that subject matter alone was insufficient to ensure a distinctive Irish art Wherever possible he deliberately chose native stone believing that this best conveyed a nationalist sentiment such as the limestone he used in the beloved monument to Padraic Conaire in Galway His political commissions from 1922 onward reveal the new State's desire for a national political and cultural identity and in this book Power's sculpture is explored both at the time of its production and within the broader context of writers and artists who wished to contribute to the new nation's cultural identity a legacy that modern Ireland enjoys today

There has been a proliferation in recent scholarship of studies of monuments and their histories and of theoretical positions that shed light on aspects of their meanings However just as monuments mark their territory by attempting to ensure the existence of boundaries sothese discourses set a boundary between their authority as platforms on which the interpretation of monumental space occurs and in this respect the different authority of the novel This study crosses this boundary by means of dynamic interdisciplinary movements between selected novels by James Joyce Yukio Mishima Rashid al Daif and Orhan Pamuk on the one hand and various theoretical perspectives history and cultural geography on the other Through the specific choice of literary texts that represent monumental space in a typical post imperial geopolitical contexts Monumental Space and the Post Imperial Novel brings into question many postcolonial paradigms Sakr establishes a two way interpretive methodology between theory history and cultural geography and the novel that serves as the groundwork for innovative interdisciplinary readings of monumental space

Forgetful Remembrance Guy Beiner,2018-11-10

Forgetful Remembrance examines the paradoxes of what actually happens when communities persistently endeavour to forget inconvenient events The question of how a society attempts to obscure problematic historical episodes is addressed through a detailed case study grounded in the north eastern counties of the Irish province of Ulster where loyalist and unionist Protestants and in particular Presbyterians repeatedly tried to repress over two centuries discomfiting recollections of participation alongside Catholics in a republican rebellion in 1798 By exploring a rich variety of sources Beiner makes it possible to closely follow the dynamics of social forgetting His particular focus on vernacular historiography rarely noted in official histories reveals the tensions between professed oblivion in public and more subtle rituals of remembrance that facilitated muted traditions of forgetful remembrance which were masked by a local culture of reticence and silencing Throughout Forgetful Remembrance comparative references demonstrate the wider relevance of the study of social forgetting in Northern Ireland to numerous other cases where troublesome memories have been concealed behind a veil of supposed oblivion
