Religion and Ethnicity Leslie Kawamura, 2006-01-01 The essays in this volume deal with the relationship between living religious traditions in Canada and the fabric of Canadian society Canada is a pluralistic society ethnically and religiously How are these two pluralisms related Their connection is intimate but never simple For many years there could plausibly have been said to be a dominant Anglo Canadian Protestant tradition with other faiths and denominations being associated primarily with ethnic minorities No doubt this would always have been a simplistic understanding but today as Canadian culture is increasing secularized it is religion itself that the majority sees as a minority concern Ethnic and religious loyalties pull together against a secular assimilation Such a change leaves the establishment denominations with an unwanted identity crisis of their own not the least part of which is due to an unfamiliar awareness of their own ethnic roots and histories

Christianity and Ethnicity in Canada Paul Bramadat, David Seljak, 2008-06-14 Over the past decade scholars and policy makers interested in Canadian multiculturalism have begun to take religion much more seriously. Moreover, Christian communities have become increasingly aware of the impact of ethnic diversity on church life. However, until very recently, almost no systematic academic attention has been paid to the intersection between the ethnic and religious identities of individuals or communities. This gap in both our academic literature and our public discourse represents an obstacle to understanding and integrating the large numbers of ethnic Christians, most of whom either join existing Canadian churches or create ethnically specific congregations. In Christianity and Ethnicity in Canada, eleven scholars explore the complex relationships between religious and ethnic identity within the nine major Christian traditions in Canada. The contributors discuss the ways in which changes in the ethnic composition of these traditions influence religious practice and identity, as well as how the nine religious traditions influence communal and individual ethnic identities. An introductory chapter by Paul Bramadat and David Seljak provides a thorough discussion of the theoretical, historical, and empirical issues involved in the study of Christianity and ethnicity in Canada. This volume complements Religion and Ethnicity in Canada, in which the authors address similar issues within the six major non-Christian communities in Canada and within Canadian health care, education, and politics.

Christianity and Ethnicity in Canada Paul Bramadat, 2009-02-01 Religion and Everyday Life and Culture Vincent F. Biondo, Richard D.

Hecht, 2010-03-25 This intriguing three-volume set explores the ways in which religion is bound to the practice of daily life and how daily life is bound to religion. In Religion and Everyday Life and Culture, 36 international scholars describe the impact of religious practices around the world using rich examples drawn from personal observation. Instead of repeating generalizations about what religion should mean, these volumes examine how religions actually influence our public and private lives on the ground on a day-to-day basis. Volume one introduces regional histories of the world's religions and discusses major ritual practices such as the Catholic Mass and the Islamic pilgrimage to Mecca. Volume two examines themes that will help readers understand how religions interact with the practices of public life, describing the ways religions influence government, education, criminal justice, economy, technology, and the environment. Volume three takes up themes that are central to how religions are realized in the practices of individuals In these essays readers meet a shaman healer in South Africa laugh with Buddhist monks sing with Bob Dylan cheer for Australian rugby and explore Chicana and Iranian art

Canadians and Their Pasts Margaret Conrad, Kadriye Ercikan, Gerald Friesen, Jocelyn Létourneau, D.A. Muise, David Northrup, Peter Seixas, 2013-12-31 What role does history play in contemporary society Has the frenetic pace of today s world led people to lose contact with the past A high profile team of researchers from across Canada sought to answer these questions by launching an ambitious investigation into how Canadians engage with history in their

Between Dispersion and Belonging Amitava Chowdhury, Donald Harman Akenson, 2016-06-01 As a historical and religious term diaspora has existed for many years but it only became an academic and analytical concept in the 1980s and 90s Within its various usages two broad directions stand out diaspora as a dispersion of people from an original homeland and diaspora as a claim of identity that expresses a form of belonging and also keeps alive a sense of difference Between Dispersion and Belonging critically assesses the meaning and practice of diaspora first by engaging with the theoretical life histories of the concept and then by examining a range of historical case studies Essays in this volume draw from diaspora formations in the pre modern Indian Ocean region read diaspora against the concept of indigeneity in the Americas reassess the claim for a Swedish diaspora interrogate the notion of an invisible English diaspora in the Atlantic world calibrate the meaning of the Irish diaspora in North America and consider the case for a global Indian indentured labour diaspora Through these studies the contributors demonstrate that an inherent appeal to globality is central to modern formulations of diaspora They are not global in the sense that diasporas span the entire globe rather they are global precisely because they are not bound by arbitrary geopolitical units In examining the ways in which academic and larger society discuss diaspora Between Dispersion and Belonging presents a critique of modern historiography and positions that critique in the shape of global history Contributors include William Safran University of Colorado Boulder James T Carson Queen's University Eivind H Seland University of Bergen Don MacRaild University of Ulster and Rankin Sherling Marion Military Institute the Military College of Alabama

Varieties of Religious Establishment Lori G.
