Schooling And The Quality Of Human Capital:

Schooling and the Quality of Human Capital Ludger Wößmann, 2002-10-16 This book presents a thorough economic analysis of both the determinants and the consequences of international differences in schooling quality. It is shown that cross country differences in quality adjusted human capital can account for a substantial part of the international variation in economic development. However, large increases in per student spending over recent decades were not matched by increases in student achievement in most countries. In a simple principal agent model, the book stresses the importance of institutional features of the schooling system such as central examinations, school autonomy, and private sector competition. Microeconomic estimations based on data for more than a quarter of a million students reveal that international differences in these institutions rather than differences in resources can explain the large international differences in schooling quality.

School education in Kerala from quantity to quality JEENA P M, SABU P J, Quality in Higher Education as a Tool for Human Development Patience Mukwambo, 2019-04-11 Whilst many studies have explored how quality in higher education is conceptualised in the Global North, less attention has been paid to quality in higher education in Africa and the Global South. This book uses the human development and capabilities approach to demonstrate how quality in teaching and learning contributes to a range of benefits such as improved wellbeing, economic outcomes, political engagement, and human capital formation amongst graduates. The book interrogates the various dimensions of quality as well as factors that impact on the realisation of quality in universities and society at large. Recognising that measures of quality are context and stakeholder specific, the book uses the Zimbabwean context as a Global South case study. It evaluates how quality is conceptualised and operationalised in Zimbabwean universities and how that impacts on teaching and learning policy and practice. The book also demonstrates the need for economic resources for individuals and universities and emphasises the importance of a social and educational environment conducive to critical learning and post university opportunities. This book will be of interest to researchers across Education, African and Development Studies, as well as to policymakers and practitioners with an interest in quality assurance and the promotion of teaching and learning in universities in the Global South The Economics of School Quality Investments in Developing Countries Paul Glewwe, 1999-07-05 This book presents a method to estimate the economic returns to investments in school quality While economists have long had methods to estimate rates of return to additional years of schooling until now there has been no method for analyzing returns to investments in school quality This is regrettable because many if not most government education policies focus on school quality Empirical work using data from Ghana shows that investments in school quality have higher rates of return than investments in increased years in schooling The bulk of the study is written by Paul Glewwe with some coauthored and contributed pieces from his co researchers Jaikishan Desai Dean Jolliffe Raylynn Oliver and Wim Vijverberg who worked as research assistants on this project Teacher Quality and Education Policy in India Preeti Kumar, Alexander W. Wiseman, 2021-03-31 By drawing on quantitative data and qualitative analyses of five major national education policies implemented in India over the last 15 years this comprehensive volume explores their impact on teacher quality and perceived effectiveness explaining how this relates to variations in student performance Responding to a national agenda to increase the quality of the Indian teacher workforce Teacher Quality and Education Policy in India critically questions the application of human capital theory to Indian education policy Chapters provide in depth and strategically structured analyses of five national policies including the recently approved National Education Policy NEP 2020 to see how Indian policymakers use teacher quality as a driver and measurement of education and national economic development Ultimately the text offers evidence based policy recommendations to improve teacher quality in India suggesting that while all five policies have contributed significant frameworks and recommendations for teacher quality reform they have failed to move beyond a symbolic function Given its rigorous methodological approach this book will be a valuable addition to the under researched question of education policymaking in postcolonial contexts It will be an indispensable resource not only for scholars working on policymaking in the Indian context but also for those working at the intersection of education teacher development and policymaking in developing countries public expenditure and growth ,

Reis Monteiro,2014-11-03 This volume contributes to debates about the teaching profession by reviewing international and national reports on its status as well as on reforms of various education systems It proposes a global approach to the quality of the teaching profession as a decisive ingredient of education quality including a conception of its identity and a vision of its future Moreover it is suggested that professional self regulation may be the best way to achieve higher professional and social status for teachers since it allows educators collectively to assume the culture of the values that comprise the uniqueness and fullness of the teaching profession Growth, Inequality, and Poverty Anthony Shorrocks,Rolph van der Hoeven,2004-03-04 The relationship between growth inequality and poverty lies at the heart of development economics This volume draws together many of the most important recent contributions to the controversies surrounding this topic Some of the chapters help explain why there is profound disagreement on crucial issues of growth poverty and inequality within academic circles and among organizations and various groups active in the development field Another central theme is the cross country evidence on the relationship between growth and poverty and the extent to which it is valid to draw policy conclusions from this empirical evidence The volume also shows how new microeconomic techniques such as poverty maps and microsimulation models can be used to improve poverty analysis and the design of pro poor policies The overall conclusion points to the need for diverse strategies towards growth and poverty rather than simple blanket policy rules Initial conditions specific country structures and time horizons all play a significant role Initial conditions affect the speed with which growth reduces poverty and can also determine whether policies such as trade liberalization have a pro poor or an anti poor outcome Improved education is valuable in itself and also contributes to poverty reduction but its effect on inequality depends on supply and demand factors which differ significantly across countries Likewise the quantitative impact on poverty of redistribution from the rich to the poor vis vis an increase in total national income can vary greatly across countries Hence the need for creative approaches to poverty which take full account of the specific circumstances of individual nations and which assign a central role to inequality analysis in the discussion of poverty alleviation policies Education and International Development Tristan McCowan, Elaine Unterhalter, 2021-08-12 Education and International Development provides an introduction to the debates on education and international development giving an overview of the history influential theories key concepts areas of achievement and emerging trends in policy and practice Written by leading academics from Canada India Netherlands South Africa UK USA and New Zealand this second edition has been fully updated in light of recent changes in the field such as the introduction of the Sustainable Development Goals and the increased focus on environmental sustainability and equality The book includes three new chapters on private providers decolonisation and learning outcomes as well as a range of pedagogical features including key concept boxes biographies of influential thinkers and practitioners further reading lists questions for reflection and debate and case studies from around the developing world

O. Eisemon, 2014-06-28 Studies of the retention of literacy and numeracy by adults who have only obtained primary schooling have given little encouragement to the belief that the cognitive effects of schooling are enduring for many school leavers How these findings can be reconciled with the claims made for the importance of schooling as an instrument of social and economic change is the subject of investigation in this volume The cognitive outcomes of literacy acquisition and secular schools in coastal Kenya are the focus of this ethnographic study which stresses the relevance of an international understanding of the particular problems and dilemmas that face the educational systems of individual countries School Quality, Achievement Bias, and Dropout Behavior in Egypt Eric Alan Hanushek, Victor Lavy, 1994-01-01 Living Standards Measurement Study No 107 Lost investment opportunities for society and the inefficient provision of public schooling are just some of the reasons why developing countries are concerned with low school

Routledge Handbook of International Education and Development Simon McGrath, Qing Gu, 2015-07-24 This timely Handbook takes stock of the range of debates that characterise the field of international education and development and suggests key aspects of a research agenda for the next period It is deliberately divergent in its approach recognising the major ideological and epistemological divides that characterise a field that draws on many traditions Leading and emergent voices from different paradigms and contexts are afforded a space to be heard and each section puts current debates in larger historical contexts The Handbook is divided in four parts and book ended by an introduction and a conclusion the latter oriented towards the implications that the volume has for future research agendas The first part explores major strands of debates about education's place in development theory The second acknowledges the disciplining of the field by the education for all movement and examines the place that learning and teaching and schools play in development Part three looks beyond schools to consider early years adult and vocational education but focuses particularly on the return to thinking about higher education's role in development The final part considers the changing but still important role that international cooperation plays in shaping education in developing countries Featuring over thirty chapters written by leading international and interdisciplinary scholars the Routledge Handbook of International Education and Development offers the first comprehensive and forward looking resource for students and scholars New Approaches Towards the

'Good Life' Hans-Uwe Otto, Sabine Schäfer, 2014-08-13 The Capability Approach founded by Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum offers a justicebased analytical framework for human development The contributions to the present volume show how the Capability Approach can be applied productively in empirical analyses of the life situations of young people and the educational institutions they attend in different parts of the world including Serbia Kosovo Kenya India Greece and Germany Moreover the volume helps to extend the Capability Approach by relating it to different theoretical and methodological approaches such as the capability concept of Paul Ricoeur critical materialism critical discourse analysis and biographical research Thus the volume delivers comprehensive insights into the social injustices to be found not only on the level of individual life paths but also in institutions and in educational policy while showing innovative ways of applying the Capability Approach in the social sciences Technological Change and Skill Development in Arab Gulf Countries Samia Mohamed Nour, 2013-12-02 This book discusses skill formation upskilling of workers and their interaction with technological change in Gulf countries Heavy dependence on oil the Dutch Disease and the high incidence of unskilled foreign workers have caused serious structural imbalances in the labour market in the Gulf The author shows that success of economic development strategies to address such imbalances are all contingent upon the development of adequate and appropriate skills in the region This book confirms the role and impact of the deficiencies in the educational system alongside the well established effects of the excessive use of uneducated foreign workers and lack of incentives in the labour market A comprehensive investigation of the skill problem and an elaborate in depth analysis to assess the causes consequences and relationships between poor skills and technological performance are highlights of this book This is an ideal resource for policy makers in the Gulf region and researchers of the topic
