 international fiction and translation Ranging from lyrical to humorous from optimistic to jaded from earthbound to the Money imagines the consequences of unscrupulous pharmacologists creating drugs that allow people to fulfill their deepest desire which is to change In Earthrise Lavie Tidhar examines what it means to be an artist in a futuristic society where humanity has colonized the solar system In Alvaro Zinos-Amaro's eh human colonists encounter a region of space in

 Liu, Nora Schinnerl, Stories from Austria China Germany USA and Russia Old People's Folly features a cantankerous disabled idealistic woman from before the collapse whose personality has been digitally stored there's both a culture clash and a generational divide Can the two find something in common in order to help a teenager in need The Life Cycle of a Cyber Bar is a madcap unorthodox narrative that may have minor notes of Douglas Adams but is really unlike anything you've read To say too much would be to spoil the story Alexa Seidel returns to the pages of Future SF with a dark novelette about a xenoarchaeologist who finds more in an alien dig than she bargained for I mean does anyone ever find nice things in a creepy alien structure Whether or not you know Jane Espenson by name you've probably enjoyed her work She's written for Buffy the Vampire Slayer Game of Thrones Gilmore Girls Battlestar Galactica and most recently Foundation Her epistolary story is about a despicable human being who ends up doing something very good despite himself Finally there's a story by another returning author Oleg Divov His satirical and very Russian look at the process of elections is guaranteed to feel relevant to modern readers everywhere

Bruce Franklin,1970 Speculative & Science Fiction Ernest N. Emenyonu,Chimalum Nwankwo,Louisa Uchum Egbunike,2021 Over the past two decades there has been a resurgence in the writing of African and African diaspora speculative and science fiction writing Discussions around the rise of science fiction and fantasy have led to a push back by writers and scholars who have suggested that this is not a new phenomenon in African literature This collection focuses on the need to recalibrate ways of reading and categorising this genre of African writing through critical examinations both of classics such as Kofi Awoonor's Woman of the Aeroplanes 1988 and Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o's oeuvre as well as more recent fiction from writers including Nnedi Okorafor Namwali Serpell and Masande Ntshanga Back cover Contemporary Futurist Thought Thomas Lombardo,2006-06-23 Contemporary Futurist Thought describes recent thinking about the future dealing with both the hopes and the fears expressed in modern times concerning what potentially lies ahead There are many such hopes and fears perhaps an overpowering number competing with each other and swirling about in the collective mind of humanity Psychologist and futurist Tom Lombardo describes this mental universe of inspiring dreams and threatening premonitions regarding the future The book begins with an in depth examination of the highly influential literary genre of science fiction which Dr Lombardo identifies as the mythology of the future He next describes the modern academic discipline of future studies which attempts to apply scientific methods and principles to an understanding of the future Social and technological trends in the twentieth century are then reviewed setting the stage for an analysis of the great contemporary transformation occurring in our present world Given the powerful and pervasive changes taking place across the globe and throughout all aspects of human life the questions arise Where are we potentially heading and perhaps more importantly where should we be heading The final chapter provides an extensive review of different answers to these questions Describing theories and approaches that highlight science technology culture human psychology and religion among other areas of focus as well as integrative views which attempt to provide big pictures of all aspects of human life the book provides a rich and broad overview of contemporary ideas and visions about the future In the conclusion Dr Lombardo assesses and synthesizes these myriad perspectives proposing a set of key ideas central to understanding the future This book completes the study of future consciousness begun in its companion volume The Evolution of Future Consciousness These two volumes rich in historical detail and concise observations on the interrelatedness of a wide range of interdisciplinary topics are a significant contribution to the field of future studies and a valuable resource for educators consultants and anyone wishing to explore the significance of thinking about the future

The (Un)Certain Future of Empathy in Posthumanism, Cyberculture and Science Fiction Elsa Bouet, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2015 This volume investigates the future of empathy as contemplated by posthumanism cyberculture and science fiction As humanity increasingly networks and communicates online the reconfiguration of human communities through the removal and immediacy of the body challenges traditional notions of humanity and human capacity for empathy The impact of cyberculture and posthumanism on humanity and its capacity for empathy is here assessed through research in literature films neuroscience anthropology and philosophy This volume addresses the centrality of the body to human interactions and assesses how intrinsic it is to the defining of the human The exploration of posthuman narratives which display futuristic bodily modifications also engages with the anxieties and hopes for the future of human empathy Research in dystopian narratives shows that these anxieties are also expressed without the tropes of bodily modifications and that ideological distancing creates the conditions necessary for a lack of empathy towards otherness

Eschatology and the Technological Future Michael S. Burdett, 2014-12-05 The rapid advancement of technology has led to an explosion of speculative theories about what the future of humankind may look like These technological futurisms have arisen from significant advances in the fields of nanotechnology biotechnology and information technology and are drawing growing scrutiny from the philosophical and theological communities This text seeks to contextualize the growing literature on the cultural philosophical and religious implications of technological growth by considering technological futurisms such as transhumanism in the context of the long historical tradition of technological dreaming Michael Burdett traces the latent religious sources of our contemporary technological imagination by looking at visionary approaches to technology and the future in seminal technological utopias and science fiction and draws on past theological responses to the technological future with Pierre Teilhard de Chardin and Jacques Ellul Burdett's argument arrives at a contemporary Christian response to transhumanism based around the themes of possibility and promise by turning to the works of Richard Kearney Eberhard Jüngel and Jürgen Moltmann Throughout the author highlights points of correspondence and divergence between technological futurisms and the Judeo Christian understanding of the future
