Scotland Photographs:

Photography of Victorian Scotland Roddy Simpson, 2012-09-03 This is the first book to provide a full and coherent introduction to the photography of Victorian Scotland. The material has been structured and the topics organised with appropriate illustrations as both a readable narrative and a foundation text for Nineteenth-Century Photographs and Architecture. Micheline Nilsen, 2017-07-05 Eschewing the limiting idea that nineteenth century architecture photography merely reflects functionality, the objective of this collection is to reflect the aesthetic, intellectual and cultural concerns of the time. The essays hold appeal for social and cultural historians as well as those with an interest in the fields of art history, urban geography, history of travel and tourism. Nineteenth century photographers captured what could be seen and what they wanted to be seen. Their images informed of exploration, progress, heritage and destruction. Architecture was a staple subject for the first generation of photographers as it patiently tolerated the long exposures of the early processes. During its formative decades, photography responded to evolutionary cultural forces of market and artistic production. Photographs of architecture reflected a specific political or social context, modulated through individual points of view. For this reason, the examination of each photographic image as a primary visual document and an aesthetic object, rather than a technical milestone on a chronological trajectory, affords a richer, multi-faceted approach to the extensive and complex corpus of photographs taken by photographers all over the world. This project acknowledges the importance of technique in the early decades of photography but focuses on the thematic content of the material. It places the photography of architecture in an international context under the contemporary critical lens sharpened by theoretical and cultural examinations of the topic.

Encyclopedia of Nineteenth-Century Photography John Hannavy, 2013-12-16 The Encyclopedia of Nineteenth Century Photography is the first comprehensive encyclopedia of world photography up to the beginning of the twentieth century. It sets out to be the standard definitive reference work on the subject for years to come. Its coverage is global, an important first in that authorities from all over the world have contributed their expertise and scholarship towards making this a truly comprehensive publication. The Encyclopedia presents new and ground-breaking research alongside accounts of the major established figures in the nineteenth century arena. Coverage includes all the key people, processes, equipment, movements, styles, debates and groupings which helped photography develop from being a solution in search of a problem when first invented to the essential communication tool, creative medium and recorder of everyday life which it had become by the dawn of the twentieth century. The sheer breadth of coverage in the 1200 essays makes the Encyclopedia of Nineteenth Century Photography an essential reference source for academics, students, researchers and libraries worldwide. Uncertain Images: Museums and the Work of Photographs Elizabeth Edwards, Sigrid Lien, 2016-02-17 Almost all museums hold photographs in their collections and museum professionals and their audiences engage with photographs in a myriad of ways. Yet despite some three decades of critical museology and photographic theory and an extensive debate on the politics of representation outside art museums almost no critical attention has been given specifically to the roles purposes and lives of these photographs within museums This book brings into focus the ubiquitous yet entirely unconsidered work that photographs are put to in museums The authors argument is that there is an economy of photographs in museums which is integral to the processes of the museum and integral to the understanding of museums The international contributors drawn from curators and academics reflect a range of visual and museological expertise After an introduction setting out the range of questions and problems the first part addresses broad curatorial strategies and ways of thinking about photographs in museums Shifting the emphasis from curatorial practices and anxieties to the space of the gallery this is followed by a series of case studies of exhibitionary practices and the museum strategies that support them The third section focuses on the role of photographs in the museum articulation of difficult histories A final section addresses photograph collections in a digital environment New technologies and new media have transformed the management address and purposing in photographs in museums from cataloguing practices to streaming on social media These growing practices challenge both traditional hierarchies of knowledge in museums and the location of authority about photographs The volume emerges from PhotoCLEC a HERA funded project on museums and the photographic legacy of the colonial past in a postcolonial and multicultural Europe

Victorian Photography and Literary Nostalgia Helen Groth,2003 This study looks back to the early days of photography when writers publishers and photographers were only beginning to consider the impact of this new way of seeing on their work and lives Helen Groth demonstrates that rather than being extraneous to the ongoing concerns of writing Victorian literary history the early history of photography constitutes a rich part of the cultural history of the mediation and reception of literary texts in the nineteenth century

Scotland's Landscapes James Crawford,2012 Over the past 10 000 years every inch of Scotland whether remote hilltop fertile floodplain or storm lashed coastline has been shaped changed and moulded by its people The third book in a series showcasing Scotland s National Collection of Aerial Photography Scotland s Landscapes tells the enduring story of this interaction between man and his environment

accessible camera technology crowdsourced public media projects abound like never before Such projects often seek to secure a snapshot of a single day in order to establish communities and create visual time capsules for the future Mass Photography Collective Histories of Everyday Life assesses the potential of these popular moment in time projects by examining their current day prevalence and their historical predecessors Through archival research and interviews with organisers and participants it examines for the first time the vast photographic collections resulting from such projects analysing their structures and systems their aims and objectives and their claims and promises The central case study is the 55 000 photographs submitted to One Day for Life in 1987 which aimed in its own time to be the biggest photographic event the world had ever seen Aerial Photography and Archaeology 2003 Jean Bourgeois, Marc Meganck, 2005 This publication contains the selected proceedings of a conference devoted to the history of aerial photography Ghent 2003 Cosmo Innes and the Defence of Scotland's Past c. 1825-1875 Richard A. Marsden, 2016-05-13 Today Scotland's history is frequently associated with the clarion call of political nationalism However in the nineteenth century the influence of history on Scottish national identity was far more ambiguous How then did ideas about the past shape Scottish identity in a period when union with England was all but unquestioned The activities of the antiquary Cosmo Innes 1798 1874 help us to address this question Innes was a prolific editor of medieval and early modern documents relating to Scotland's parliament legal system burghs universities aristocratic families and pre Reformation church Yet unlike scholars today he saw that editorial role in interventionist terms His source editions were artificial constructs that powerfully articulated his worldview and agendas emphasising Enlightenment inspired narratives of social progress and institutional development At the same time they used manuscript facsimiles and images of medieval architecture to foreground a romantic concern for the texture of past lives Innes operated within an elite associational culture which gave him access to the leading intellectuals and politicians of the day His representations of Scottish history therefore had significant influence and were put to work as commentaries on some of the major debates which exercised Scotland's intelligentsia across the middle decades of the century This analysis of Innes's work with sources set within the intellectual context of the time and against the antiquarian activities of his contemporaries provides a window onto the ways in which the national past was perceived in Scotland during the nineteenth century This allows us to explore how historical thinkers negotiated the apparent dichotomies between Enlightenment and Romanticism whilst at the same time enabling a re-examination of prevailing assumptions about Scotland's supposed failure to maintain a viable national consciousness in the later 1800s DK Eyewitness Travel Guide: Scotland Alastair Scott, Juliet Clough, 2012-04-02 DK Eyewitness Scotland travel guide will lead you straight to the best attractions this wild country has to offer Packed with photographs illustrations and detailed maps discover Scotland region by region from the culturally diverse and architecturally magnificent Glasgow to the peerless beauty of the highlands The guide provides all the insider tips every visitor needs from where to walk with Reindeers to how to tread the Malt whisky trail with comprehensive listings of the best

Plants in north-east Highlands Adam Watson,2014 Timing of blaeberry growth tree regeneration land use plant orientation The author noted when blaeberry buds on Scottish alpine land began growth in spring and compared this with climatic data He mapped natural tree regeneration on Deeside and Donside The author criticises invalid claims about land use in Scotland and Norway and about the alleged effects of sporting estates in reducing land fertility Signs of orientation by plants and animals are described

Scotlandville Rachel L. Emanuel PhD,Ruby Jean Simms PhD,Charles Vincent PhD,2015-06-01 A rural village that was once the entry point for the slave trade and home to a cotton plantation Scotlandville became the largest majority African American town in Louisiana Located in the northern part of East Baton Rouge Parish Scotlandville s history is intricately tied to Southern University and A M College System the only historically black university system in the United States Southern University relocated from New Orleans to the bluff of the Mississippi River on the western edge of Scotlandville in 1914 The story of the university and town is a tale of triumph and struggle in the midst of racism inequality and oppression Presented through the theme of firsts in businesses churches schools residential developments environmental issues politics social organizations and community service Images of America Scotlandville focuses on the people who shaped the community economically politically socially and culturally

Images of Conflict Jean Bourgeois,Nicholas Saunders,Birger Stichelbaut,2008-12-18 Striking aerial views of war and of the scarred landscapes of its aftermath are the focus of this unique and multidisciplinary book For the first time the history significance and technology of military aerial photography are brought together and explored by military historians archaeologists and anthropologists This new approach opens the door to a modern reassessment of military aerial imagery reveals the concepts and philosophies that guided their production and interpretation and illustrates the complex interaction between humans and technology in creating and understanding the landscapes of conflict

Archaeology and Photography Lesley McFadyen,Dan Hicks,2020-08-05 Does a photograph freeze a moment of time What does it mean to treat a photographic image as an artefact In the visual culture of the 21st century do new digital and social forms change the status of photography as archival or objective or are they revealing something more fundamental about photography s longstanding relationships with time and knowledge Archaeology and Photography imagines a new kind of Visual Archaeology that tackles these questions The book reassesses the central place of Photography as an archaeological method and re wires our cross disciplinary conceptions of time objectivity and archives from the History of Art to the History of Science Through twelve new wide ranging and challenging studies from an emerging generation of archaeological thinkers Archaeology and Photography introduces new approaches to historical photographs in museums and to contemporary photographic practice in the field The book re frames the relationship between Photography and Archaeology past and present as more than a metaphor or an analogy but a shared vision Archaeology and Photography calls for a change in how we think about photography and time It argues that new archaeological accounts of duration and presence can replace older conceptions of the photograph as a snapshot or remnant received in the present The book challenges us to imagine Photography like Archaeology not as a representation of the past and the reception of traces in the present but as an ongoing transformation of objectivity and archive Archaeology and Photography will prove indispensable to students researchers and practitioners in History Photography Art Archaeology Anthropology Science and Technology Studies and Museum and Heritage Studies Bulletin - Museums of Art and Archaeology, University of Michigan University of Michigan.
