Interactive Cinema Marina Hassapopoulou, 2024-06-25 Connecting interactive cinema to media ethics and global citizenship Interactive Cinema explores various cinematic practices that work to transform what is often seen as a primarily receptive activity into a participatory multimedia experience Surveying a multitude of unorthodox approaches throughout the history of motion pictures Marina Hassapopoulou offers insight into a range of largely ephemeral and site specific projects that consciously assimilate viewers into their production Analyzing examples of early cinema Hollywood B movies museum and gallery installations virtual reality experiments and experimental web based works Hassapopoulou travels across numerous platforms highlighting a diverse array of strategies that attempt to unsettle the allegedly passive spectatorship of traditional cinema Through an exploration of these radically inventive approaches to the medium many of which emerged out of sociopolitical crises and periods of historical transition she works to expand notions of interactivity by considering it in both technological and phenomenological terms Deliberately revising and expanding Eurocentric scholarship to propose a much broader transnational scope the book emphasizes the ethical dimensions of interactive media and their links to larger considerations around community building citizenship and democracy By combining cutting edge theory with updated conventional film studies methodologies Interactive Cinema presses at the conceptual limits of cinema and offers an essential road map to the rapidly evolving landscape of contemporary media

Early Bird Special Bud Simpson, 2005-10 Forsyth sat on the step of the parking lot office reading the Monday morning newspaper The same little tombstone notice had appeared in the paper three times now just like clockwork He wasn't given to reading the paper's legal notices but a news clipping containing a foreclosure notice on the lot had been mailed to Harry by Fidelity Union Bank a few weeks earlier and he'd opened it by mistake Since then he'd located it in the paper and read it for himself every week He was fascinated to see his brother's name in the paper amidst all that legal jargon. It wasn't often that anything about his family was worthy of print. The last time was his father's obituary. It seemed that the occasions were always sad ones. But then so was just about everything else in the newspaper. According to the notice, an auction of the lot would take place on the steps of the county courthouse a week from Tuesday at nine thirty. The public was invited to attend and submit bids. He could go. He was a member. As a matter of fact, the public was the only group he belonged to.

Alimentary Performances Kristin Hunt, 2018-06-12. A pea soda. An apple balloon. A cotton candy picnic. A magical mole. These are just a handful of examples of mimetic cuisine, a diverse set of culinary practices in which chefs and artists treat food as a means of representation. As theatricalised fine dining and the use of food in theatrical situations both grow in popularity, Alimentary Performances traces the origins and implications of food as a mimetic medium used to imitate, represent, and assume a role in both theatrical and broader performance situations. Kristin Hunt's rich and wide-ranging account of food's growing representational stakes asks: What culinary approaches to mimesis can tell us about enduring philosophical debates around knowledge and authenticity? How the dramaturgy of food within theatres connects with the developing role of theatrical cuisine in restaurant settings? Ways in which these turn toward culinary mimicry engender new histories, advance new epistemologies, and enable new modes of multisensory spectatorship and participation. This is an essential study for anyone interested in the intersections between food, theatre, and performance, from fine dining to fan culture and celebrity chefs to the drama of the cookbook.
