Screen World:

Screens Kate Mondloch, 2010 Media screens film video and computer screens have increasingly pervaded both artistic production and everyday life since the 1960s Yet the nature of viewing artworks made from these media along with their subjective effects remains largely unexplored Screens addresses this gap offering a historical and theoretical framework for understanding screen reliant installation art and the spectatorship it evokes Examining a range of installations created over the past fifty years that investigate the rich terrain between the sculptural and the cinematic including works by artists such as Eija Liisa Ahtila Doug Aitken Peter Campus Dan Graham VALIE EXPORT Bruce Nauman and Michael Snow Kate Mondloch traces the construction of screen spectatorship in art from the seminal film and video installations of the 1960s and 1970s to the new media artworks of today s digital culture Mondloch identifies a momentous shift in contemporary art that challenges key premises of spectatorship brought about by technological objects that literally and metaphorically filter the subject s field of vision As a result she proposes that contemporary viewers are quite literally screen subjects and offers the unique critical leverage of art as an alternative way to understand media culture and contemporary visuality Between Film and

Screen Garrett Stewart, 1999 What is the mysterious region between photography and the phenomenon of narrative cinema between the photogram a single film frame and the illusion of motion we recognise as movies War and Algorithm Max Liljefors, Gregor Noll, Daniel Steuer, 2019-10-11 New military technologies are animated by fantasies of perfect knowledge lawfulness and vision that contrast sharply with the very real limits of human understanding law and vision Thus various kinds of violent acts are proliferating while their precise nature remains unclear Especially man machine ensembles guided by algorithms are operating in ways that challenge conceptual understanding War and Algorithm looks at the increasing power of algorithms in these emerging forms of warfare from the perspectives of critical theory philosophy legal studies and visual studies The contributions in this volume grapple with the challenges posed by algorithmic warfare and trace the roots of new forms of war in the technological practices and forms of representation of the digital age Together these contributions provide a first step toward understanding and resisting our emerging world of war Thinking on Screen Thomas E.

Wartenberg, 2007-10-31 Thinking on Screen Film as Philosophy is an accessible and thought provoking examination of the way films raise and explore complex philosophical ideas Written in a clear and engaging style Thomas Wartenberg examines films ability to discuss and even criticize ideas that have intrigued and puzzled philosophers over the centuries such as the nature of personhood the basis of morality and epistemological skepticism Beginning with a demonstration of how specific forms of philosophical discourse are presented cinematically Wartenberg moves on to offer a systematic account of the ways in which specific films undertake the task of philosophy Focusing on the films The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance Modern Times The Matrix Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind The Third Man The Flicker and Empire Wartenberg shows how these films express meaningful and pertinent philosophical ideas This book is essential reading for students of philosophy with an interest in film aesthetics and film theory It will also be of interest to film enthusiasts intrigued by the philosophical implications of film
