The Cinematic Representation of the Chinese American Family Qijun Han, 2016-03-08 There has been an increasing recognition of the fluidity and ambiguity of ethnic identities within the context of global mobility With that in mind how have films constructed the identity of ethnic Chinese in the United States This book addresses this issue through three sub questions First why is the family narrative so characteristic of films about Chinese Americans in transnational Chinese cinema In other words how and why are images of Chinese or Chinese Americans in transnational Chinese cinema different from those in Hollywood movies

Second how does transnational Chinese cinema define and negotiate the aesthetic conventions of melodrama commonly used to depict Chinese American families In terms of establishing melodrama as an evolving mode of how does Chinese American cinema historically connect with both Hollywood and Chinese cinema Third what have the narrative treatments of Chinese American families in transnational Chinese cinema contributed to the ongoing representation of Chinese culture and construction of ethnic Chinese identities in Western societies This book traverses fields such as cultural studies Chinese studies media studies American studies and film studies and engages with a select corpus of films from the 1990s to the 2000s directed by Chinese American Taiwanese and Hong Kong filmmakers and produced in the USA Taiwan Hong Kong and mainland China to analyze the role the American Chinese family plays in their work With sensitivity towards transnational bonds and historical processes a negotiation process of three sets of conflicting forces has subsequently emerged the traditional and the modern the national and the transnational and Chinese American identity crisis in favor of a Chinese identity or a true American identity Contrasting cultural beliefs undoubtedly create cross cultural and generational conflicts within the family yet also open the way to negotiation and compromise This research on the cinematic depiction of Chinese Americans reveals the historically significant transnational connection among Chinese American Chinese and American cultures On the one hand ethnic Chinese are represented by boundaries that establish and define the Chinese American community against other communities and yet on the other hand the representation of family life and structure of Chinese immigrants is multiple and fluid as culture itself is unstable and uncertain Therefore a process of fixation and a process of fluidity seem to take place at the same time

Race, Ethnicity, and Language Data Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Care Services, Subcommittee on Standardized Collection of Race/Ethnicity Data for Healthcare Quality Improvement, 2009-12-30 The goal of eliminating disparities in health care in the United States remains elusive Even as quality improves on specific measures disparities often persist Addressing these disparities must begin with the fundamental step of bringing the nature of the disparities and the groups at risk for those disparities to light by collecting health care quality information stratified by race ethnicity and language data Then attention can be focused on where interventions might be best applied and on planning and evaluating those efforts to inform the development of policy and the application of resources A lack of standardization of categories for race ethnicity and language data has been suggested as one obstacle to achieving more widespread collection and utilization of these data Race Ethnicity and Language Data identifies current models for collecting and coding race ethnicity and language data reviews challenges involved in obtaining these data and makes recommendations for a nationally standardized approach for use in health care quality improvement

Envisioning Asia Jeanette Roan, 2010-09-22 Whereas some other scholars read selected films mainly to illustrate political arguments Roan never loses sight of the particularities of film as a distinctive cultural form and practice Her drive to see cinema as a mechanism of American orientalism results in not just a textual analysis of these films but also a history of their material production and distribution Josephine Lee University of Minnesota Envisioning Asia offers an exciting new contribution to our understandings of the historical developments of American Orientalism Jeannette Roan deftly situates changing cinematic technologies within the context of U S imperial agendas in this richly nuanced analysis of shooting on location in Asia in early 20th century American cinema Wendy Kozol Oberlin College Through her vivid illustration of the role of American cinema in the material visual and ideological production of Asia Jeanette Roan takes the reader on a journey to Asia through a very different route from the virtual travel taken by the viewers of the films she discusses Mari Yoshihara University of Hawai i at Manoa The birth of cinema coincides with the beginnings of U S expansion overseas and the classic Hollywood era coincides with the rise of the United States as a global superpower In Envisioning Asia Jeanette Roan argues that throughout this period the cinema s function as a form of virtual travel coupled with its purported authenticity served to advance America s shifting interests in Asia Its ability to fulfill this imperial role depended however not only on the cinematic representations themselves but on the marketing of the films production histories and in particular their use of Asian locations Roan demonstrates this point in relation to a wide range of productions offering an engaging and useful survey of a largely neglected body of film Not only that by focusing on the material practices involved in shooting films on location that is the actual travels negotiations and labor of making a film she moves beyond formal analysis to produce a richly detailed history of American interests attitudes and cultural practices during the first half of the twentieth century Jeanette Roan is Adjunct Professor of Visual Studies at California College of the Arts and author of Exotic Explorations Travels to Asia and the Pacific in Early Cinema in Re collecting Early Asian America Essays in Cultural History 2002 Cover art Publicity still Tokyo File 212 Dorrell McGowan and Stuart McGowan 1951 The accompanying text reads Hundreds of spectators gather on the sidelines as technicians prepare to photograph a parade scene in Tokyo File 212 a Breakston McGowan Production filmed in Japan for RKO Radio distribution Courtesy of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences

Chinese Cinemas Felicia Chan, Andy Willis, 2016-05-20 Chinese Cinemas: International Perspectives examines the impact the rapid expansion of Chinese filmmaking in mainland China has had on independent and popular Chinese cinemas both in and outside of China. While the large Chinese markets are coveted by Hollywood, the commercial film industry within the People's Republic of China has undergone rapid expansion since the 1990s. Its own production, distribution, and exhibition capacities have increased exponentially in the past 20 years, producing box office success both domestically and abroad. This volume gathers the work of a range of established scholars and newer voices on Chinese cinemas to address questions that interrogate both Chinese films and the place and space of Chinese cinemas within the contemporary global film industries, including the impact on independent filmmaking both within and outside of China, the place of Chinese cinemas produced outside of China, and the significance of new internal and external distribution and
