

The background of the slide features a close-up, slightly blurred photograph of a magnifying glass resting on a stack of aged, yellowed papers. The lighting is soft, creating a sense of historical research or investigation. The text is overlaid on a dark, semi-transparent rectangular area in the upper half of the image.

Should Prisoners Work:

Prisoners' Work and Vocational Training Frances H. Simon, 2005-09 Employing a balance of qualitative and quantitative data including first hand accounts from UK prisons gathered during field research to make Prisoners Work and Vocational Training is an invaluable book in the study of work in prisons Can Prisons Work? Stephen Duguid, 2000-01-01 Duguid shows that both critics and defenders of incarceration have erred by making prisoners the object rather than the subject of their discourse Prisons, Education, and Work John Braithwaite, 1980 Doing Prison Work Elaine Crawley, 2013-01-11 Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork in different types of prisons and drawing from interviews with prison officers partners and children as well as prison officers themselves this book will be essential reading for all those with an interest in prisons and the day to day interactions and relationship that take place behind their walls Jacket

Prisoners' Rights John Kleinig, 2017-07-05 This volume brings together a selection of the most important published research articles from the ongoing debate about the moral rights of prisoners The articles consider the moral underpinnings of the debate and include framework discussions for a theory of prisoners rights as well as several international documents which detail the rights of prisoners including women prisoners Finally detailed analysis of the moral bases for particular rights relating to prison conditions covers areas such as health solitary confinement recreation work religious observance library access the use of prisoners in research and the disenfranchisement of prisoners Rehabilitation of Prisoners Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Home Affairs Committee, 2005 The Committee's report examines the rehabilitation of offenders looking in particular at the effectiveness of prisons in reducing re offending through rehabilitation given the problems of overcrowded conditions Issues discussed include recent government initiatives the provision and adequacy of education vocational training and paid work programmes offending behaviour and cognitive skills programmes mental healthcare provision and drug treatment services and rehabilitation issues related to certain groups of prisoners such as remand and short term prisoners women young offenders minority ethnic and religious groups The Committee argues that the best way of reducing re offending is to ensure that prisoners on their release have the ability to get into work and a home to go to and it explores ways of delivering an effective rehabilitation strategy which reintegrates offenders into society by providing opportunities and assistance which address the differing needs of prisoners and their backgrounds Works Sydney Smith, 1858 Welsh prisoners in the prison estate Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Welsh Affairs Committee, 2007-06-06 The Committee undertook this inquiry to address concerns about the imprisonment of Welsh prisoners outside Wales At present there are only four prisons in Wales all in the South and there is little provision for juveniles and no prisons for women The overcrowding means that Welsh prisoners have a reduced chance of serving their sentence near home and reduces the chances of successful resettlement on release The Committee believe there should be new prison places in North Wales separate provision for young offenders and a new approach to women prisoners along the lines suggested by Baroness Corston The report also address concerns about support services for mental illness amongst prisoners the amount of Welsh language provision and education services

Principles of European Prison Law and Policy Dirk van Zyl Smit, Sonja Snacken, 2009-01-08 In recent years European prison law and policy have emerged as a force to be reckoned with This book explores its development and analyses the penological and human rights foundations on which it is based It examines the findings of the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture the recommendations of the Council of Europe and the judgments of the European Court of Human Rights From these sources it makes the general principles that underlie European prison law and policy explicit emphasising the principle of using imprisonment as a last resort and the recognition of prisoners rights The book then moves on to apply these principles to conditions of imprisonment regimes in prison contacts between prisoners and the outside world and the maintenance of good order in prisons The final chapter of the book considers how European prison law and policy could best be advanced in future The authors argue that the European Court of Human Rights should adopt a more proactive approach to ensuring that imprisonment is used only as a last resort and that a more radical interpretation of the existing provisions of the European Convention on Human Rights will allow it to do so It concludes that the growing cooperation on prison matters within Europe bodes well for the increased recognition of prisoners rights across Europe In spite of some countervailing voices Europe should increasingly be able to give an international lead in a human rights approach to prison law and policy in the same way it has done with the abolition of the death penalty
