Robert Sitton

Sidney Bernstein:

Sidney Bernstein Caroline Moorehead, 1984 Holocaust and the Moving Image Toby Haggith, Joanna Newman, 2005
Based on an event held at the Imperial War Museum in 2001 this book is a blend of voices and perspectives archivists curators filmmakers scholars and Holocaust survivors Each section examines films and how they have contributed to wider awareness and understanding of the Holocaust since the war The Dream That Died Raymond Fitzwalter, 2008 This title presents a unique insider account of the rise and fall of ITV as seen through the fate of Granada Television and the ripple effect on the standard of broadcasting we see on our screens today It is the unfolding of the story of 25 years in which The best broadcasting system in the world was turned into Ignorance and self interest the idiocy and feeble mindedness that is 21st century ITV It is a book based on more than 90 exclusive interviews with key players who had their hands on the money and the power behind commercial television but who saw politicians businessmen and broadcasters convert high quality public service broadcasting into a ratings driven commercial wasteland undermining the BBC and Channel 4 Accompanied by a collection of original photographs The Dream That Died is essential for anyone involved in or learning about the broadcasting industry Concentrationary Cinema Griselda Pollock, Max Silverman, 2012-01-01 Since its completion in 1955 Alain Resnais's Night and Fog Nuit et Brouillard has been considered one of the most important films to confront the catastrophe and atrocities of the Nazi era But was it a film about the Holocaust that failed to recognize the racist genocide Or was the film not about the Holocaust as we know it today but a political and aesthetic response to what David Rousset the French political prisoner from Buchenwald identified on his return in 1945 as the concentrationary universe which now actualized might release its totalitarian plague any time and anywhere What kind of memory does the film create to warn us of the continued presence of this concentrationary universe This international collection re-examines Resnais's benchmark film in terms of both its political and historical context of representation of the camps and of other instances of the concentrationary in contemporary cinema Through a range of critical readings Concentrationary Cinema explores the cinematic aesthetics of political resistance not to the Holocaust as such but to the political novelty of absolute power represented by the concentrationary system and its assault on the human condition City Court of the City of New York , Jew Made in England Anthony Blond, 2004 A rake's progress by one of publishing's great eccentrics the memoirs of Anthony Blond Richly entertaining delightfully unstuffy plenty of juicy gossip Mail on Sunday Lady in the Dark Robert Sitton, 2014-04-01 Iris Barry 1895-1969 was one of the first critics to recognize film as an art form The mother of film preservation internationally she founded the film department at New York City's Museum of Modern Art and became its first curator cementing film's critical legitimacy Drawing on letters memorabilia and other documentary sources Robert Sitton reconstructs Barry's remarkable life and work sharing the story of a thoroughly modern muse and mentor to some of the most influential artists of her day Although she had the bearing of a British aristocrat Barry was the self-educated daughter of a brass founder and a palm reader from the Isle of Man An aspiring poet her early work attracted the attention of Ezra Pound whose letters to Barry comprise the essence of his thoughts on writing Moving to London at Pound s suggestion in 1917 Barry joined a demimonde of Bloomsbury figures including Ford Maddox Ford T S Eliot Arthur Waley Edith Sitwell and William Butler Yeats and fell in love with Pound s eccentric fellow Vorticist Wyndham Lewis During these tumultuous years Barry launched a career as a novelist biographer and critic of motion pictures which were dismissed as lower class amusements She wrote articles for the Spectator positioning film as a new art form and in 1925 cofounded the London Film Society Emigrating to America in 1930 Barry joined the modernist Askew Salon where she met Alfred Barr Jr the director of the new Museum of Modern Art Barr helped Barry establish a film library and convince powerful Hollywood interests to submit their work for exhibition creating a significant new respect for film and prompting the founding of the International Federation of Film Archives for which Barry served as Life President Barry continued to augment MoMA s film library until World War II when she joined the Office of Strategic Services to develop pro American films with Orson Welles Walt Disney John Houston Samuel Goldwyn and Frank Capra Yet despite these patriotic efforts Barry s foreignness and association with such filmmakers as Luis Bu uel made her the target of an anticommunist witch hunt She eventually left for France working for MoMA only as consultant Barry died in obscurity her contribution to film and cultural history largely forgotten Sitton reclaims her phenomenal achievements while recasting the political involvement of artistic institutions in the early twentieth century
