No Turning Back A True Account Of A Hopi:

No Turning Back Vada F. Carlson, Elizabeth Q. White, 1964 No Turning Back Polingaysi Qoyawayma, Vada F. Carlson, 1964 Biography of a Hopi Indian woman and her career as an educator Religion and Hopi Life, Second Edition John D. Loftin, 2003-05-08 Includes material on shamanism death witchcraft myth tricksters and kachina initiations When Jesus Came, the Corn Mothers Went Away Ramón A. Gutiérrez, 1991 The author uses marriage to examine the social history of New Mexico between 1500 and 1846 Negotiating a Perilous Empowerment Erica Abrams Locklear, 2011-11-19 In many parts of Appalachia family ties run deep constituting an important part of an individual's sense of self In some cases when Appalachian learners seek new forms of knowledge those family ties can be challenged by the accusation that they have gotten above their raisings a charge that can have a lasting impact on family and community acceptance Those who advocate literacy sometimes ignore an important fact although empowering newly acquired literacies can create identity conflicts for learners especially Appalachian women In Negotiating a Perilous Empowerment Erica Abrams Locklear explores these literacy initiated conflicts analyzing how authors from the region portray them in their fiction and creative nonfiction Abrams Locklear blends literacy studies with literary criticism to analyze the central female characters in the works of Harriette Simpson Arnow Linda Scott DeRosier Denise Giardina and Lee Smith She shows how these authors deftly overturn stereotypes of an illiterate Appalachia by creating highly literate characters women who not only cherish the power of words but also push the boundaries of what literacy means Negotiating a Perilous Empowerment includes in depth interviews with Linda Scott DeRosier and Lee Smith making this an insightful study of an important literary genre Changing Woman Karen Anderson, 1997-07-24 While great strides have been made in documenting discrimination against women in America our awareness of discrimination is due in large part to the efforts of a feminist movement dominated by middle class white women and is skewed to their experiences Yet discrimination against racial ethnic women is in fact dramatically different more complex and more widespread and without a window into the lives of racial ethnic women our understanding of the full extent of discrimination against all women in America will be woefully inadequate Now in this illuminating volume Karen Anderson offers the first book to examine the lives of women in the three main ethnic groups in the United States Native American Mexican American and African American women revealing the many ways in which these groups have suffered oppression and the profound effects it has had on their lives Here is a thought provoking examination of the history of racial ethnic women one which provides not only insight into their lives but also a broader perception of the history politics and culture of the United States For instance Anderson examines the clash between Native American tribes and the U S government particularly in the plains and in the West and shows how the forced acculturation of Indian women caused the abandonment of traditional cultural values and roles in many tribes women held positions of power which they had to relinquish subordination to and economic dependence on their husbands and the loss of meaningful authority over their children Ultimately Indian women were forced into the labor market the extended family was destroyed and tribes were dispersed from the reservation and into the mainstream all of which dramatically altered the woman's place in white society and within their own tribes The book examines Mexican American women revealing that since U S job recruiters in Mexico have historically focused mostly on low wage male workers Mexicans have constituted a disproportionate number of the illegals entering the states placing them in a highly vulnerable position And even though Mexican American women have in many instances achieved a measure of economic success in their families they are still subject to constraints on their social and political autonomy at the hands of their husbands And finally Anderson cites a wealth of evidence to demonstrate that in the years since World War II African American women have experienced dramatic changes in their social positions and political roles and that the migration to large urban areas in the North simply heightened the conflict between homemaker and breadwinner already thrust upon them Changing Woman provides the first history of women within each racial ethnic group tracing the meager progress they have made right up to the present Indeed Anderson concludes that while white middle class women have made strides toward liberation from male domination women of color have not yet found in feminism any political remedy to their problems

Call for Change Donald L. Fixico, 2019-06-24 For too many years the academic discipline of history has ignored American Indians or lacked the kind of open minded thinking necessary to truly understand them Most historians remain oriented toward the American experience at the expense of the Native experience As a result both the status and the quality of Native American history have suffered and remain marginalized within the discipline In this impassioned work noted historian Donald L Fixico challenges academic historians and everyone else to change this way of thinking Fixico argues that the current discipline and practice of American Indian history are insensitive to and inconsistent with Native people's traditions understandings and ways of thinking about their own history In Call for Change Fixico suggests how the discipline of history can improve by reconsidering its approach to Native peoples He offers the Medicine Way as a paradigm to see both history and the current world through a Native lens This new approach paves the way for historians to better understand Native peoples and their communities through the eyes and experiences of Indians thus reflecting an insightful indigenous historical ethos and reality

"If Each Comes Halfway" Kathryn S. March, 2018-08-06 For twenty five years Kathryn S March has collected the life stories of the women of a Buddhist Tamang farming community in Nepal In If Each Comes Halfway she shows the process by which she and Tamang women reached across their cultural differences to find common ground March allows the women's own words to paint a vivid portrait of their highland home Because Tamang women frequently told their stories by singing poetic songs in the middle of their conversations with March each book includes a CD of traditional songs not recorded elsewhere Striking photographs of the Tamang people accent the book's written accounts and the CD's musical examples In conversation and song the Tamang open their hearts and minds as they address a broad range of topics life in extended households women's property issues wage employment and out migration sexism and troubled relations with other ethnic groups Young women reflect on uncertainties Middle aged women discuss obligations Older women speak poignantly and bluntly about weariness and waiting to die The goal of March s approach to ethnography is to place Tamang women in control of how their stories are told and allow an unusually intimate glimpse into their world

In Search of Our Past, 1980 Objects of Survivance Lindsay M. Montgomery, Chip Colwell, 2019-11-21 Between 1893 and 1903 Jesse H Bratley worked in Indian schools across five reservations in the American West As a teacher Bratley was charged with forcibly assimilating Native Americans through education Although tasked with eradicating their culture Bratley became entranced by it collecting artifacts and taking glass plate photographs to document the Native America he encountered Today the Denver Museum of Nature Science s Jesse H Bratley Collection consists of nearly 500 photographs and 1 000 pottery and basketry pieces beadwork weapons toys musical instruments and other objects traced to the S Klallam Lakota Sioux Cheyenne Arapaho Havasupai Hopi and Seminole peoples This visual and material archive serves as a lens through which to view a key moment in US history when Native Americans were sequestered onto reservation lands forced into unfamiliar labor economies and attacked for their religious practices Education the government hoped would be the final tool to permanently transform Indigenous bodies through moral instruction in Western dress foodways and living habits Yet Lindsay Montgomery and Chip Colwell posit that Bratley s collection constitutes objects of survivance things and images that testify not to destruction and loss but to resistance and survival Interwoven with documents and interviews Objects of Survivance illuminates how the US government sought to control Native Americans and how Indigenous peoples endured in the face of such oppression Rejecting the narrative that such objects preserve dying Native cultures Objects of Survivance reframes the Bratley Collection showing how tribal members have reconnected to these items embracing them as part of their past and reclaiming them as part of their contemporary identities This unique visual and material record of the early American Indian school experience and story of tribal perseverance will be of value to anyone interested in US history Native American studies and social justice Co published with the Denver Museum of Nature Science

American Indian Studies Program Guide Byron Lee Blackwell, Byron Lee Blackwell Jd Ed D., 2010-12 In this increasingly homogenous society the American Indian Studies Program Guide provides a framework for college educators and administrators to develop degree programs focusing on American Indian studies with an eye toward creating future leaders for Indian communities These degree programs are intended to help American Indians gain control of their own educational systems and develop institutions that can help to reverse the alarmingly high dropout rate This book provides all the tools necessary for college educators and administrators to develop top notch programs including Diagnostic tests to determine students level of knowledge Defined learning goals and objectives Seminar descriptions Established grading criteria Useful outside resources Six courses make up the interdisciplinary curriculum The North American Indian American Indian History American Indian Law and Federal Policy

American Indian Religion and Philosophy American Indian Literature and the History of American Indian Education The American Indian Studies Program Guide offers a proven approach and insights into the problems American Indians have faced in the past and the battles they continue to fight today Viola Martinez, California Paiute Diana Meyers Bahr, 2012-10-09 The life story of Viola Martinez an Owens Valley Paiute Indian of eastern California extends over nine decades of the twentieth century Viola experienced forced assimilation in an Indian boarding school overcame racial stereotypes to pursue a college degree and spent several years working at a Japanese American internment camp during World War II Finding herself poised uncertainly between Indian and white worlds Viola was determined to turn her marginalized existence into an opportunity for personal empowerment In Viola Martinez California Paiute Diana Meyers Bahr recounts Viola s extraordinary life story and examines her strategies for dealing with acculturation Bahr allows Viola to tell her story in her own words beginning with her early years in Owens Valley where she learned traditional lifeways such as gathering pi ons from her aunt In the summers she traveled by horse and buggy into the High Sierras where her aunt traded with Basque shepherders Viola was sent to the Sherman Institute a federal boarding school with a mandate to assimilate American Indians into U S mainstream culture Punished for speaking Paiute at the boarding school Viola and her cousin climbed fifty foot palm trees to speak their native language secretly Realizing that despite her efforts she was losing her language Viola resolved not just to learn English but to master it She earned a degree from Santa Barbara State College and pursued a career as social worker During World War II Viola worked as an employment counselor for Japanese American internees at the Manzanar War Relocation Authority camp Later in life she became a teacher and worked tirelessly as a founding member of the Los Angeles American Indian Education Commission Teaching for Diversity Ricardo L. Garcia, 2011-09-15 Explore the demographic shifts in American life and schools throughout the late 20th and early 21st centuries and examine the impact of these shifts on education This book provides a powerful theoretical framework for thinking about and fostering acceptance of diversity and difference Utilizing a combination of theory and concrete examples the author constructs a vision of schools as the foundation for an inclusive democratic society A Land Apart Flannery Burke, 2017-05-02 Winner Spur Award for Best Contemporary Nonfiction Western Writers of America A Land Apart is not just a cultural history of the modern Southwest it is a complete rethinking and recentering of the key players and primary events marking the Southwest in the twentieth century Historian Flannery Burke emphasizes how indigenous Hispanic and other non white people negotiated their rightful place in the Southwest Readers visit the region s top tourist attractions and find out how they got there listen to the debates of Native people as they sought to establish independence for themselves in the modern United States and ponder the significance of the U S Mexico border in a place that used to be Mexico Burke emphasizes policy over politicians communities over individuals and stories over simple narratives Burke argues that the Southwest s reputation as a region on the margins of the nation has caused many of its problems in the twentieth century

She proposes that as they consider the future Americans should view New Mexico and Arizona as close neighbors rather than distant siblings pay attention to the region's history as Mexican and indigenous space bear witness to the area's inequalities and listen to the Southwest's stories Burke explains that two core parts of southwestern history are the development of the nuclear bomb and subsequent uranium mining and she maintains that these are not merely a critical facet in the history of World War II and the militarization of the American West but central to an understanding of the region's energy future its environmental health and southwesterners conception of home Burke masterfully crafts an engaging and accessible history that will interest historians and lay readers alike It is for anyone interested in using the past to understand the present and the future of not only the region but the nation as a whole Multicultural Women's Sourcebook Martha Cotera,1982

Changed Forever, Volume I Arnold Krupat,2018-04-01 The first in depth study of a range of literature written by Native Americans who attended government run boarding schools Changed Forever is the first study to gather a range of texts produced by Native Americans who voluntarily or through compulsion attended government run boarding schools in the last decades of the nineteenth and the first decades of the twentieth centuries Arnold Krupat examines Hopi Navajo and Apache boarding school narratives that detail these students experiences The book's analyses are attentive to the topics topoi and places loci of the boarding schools Some of these topics are re Naming students imposing on them the regimentation of Clock Time compulsory religious instruction and practice and corporal punishment among others These topics occur in a variety of places like the Dormitory the Dining Room the Chapel and the Classroom Krupat's close readings of these narratives provide cultural and historical context as well as critical commentary In her study of the Chilocco Indian School K Tsianina Lomawaima asked poignantly What has become of the thousands of Indian voices who spoke the breath of boarding school life Changed Forever lets us hear some of them Boarding School Blues Clifford E. Trafzer,Jean A. Keller,Lorene Sisquoc,2006-01-01 An in depth look at boarding schools and their effect on the Native students

Indiscipline Alicia Carroll,2024-10-25 In the last few years there have been myriad media reports regarding Federal Indian boarding schools and their grisly history of violence and cultural erasure against Native people in the United States The US government recently acknowledged its role for the first time with the Department of the Interior's publication of the Federal Indian Boarding School Initiative Investigative Report In this book Alicia Carroll tells the history of one form of literary Native resistance to this violence that of the collaboratively written autobiography Focusing on work by Hopi boarding school residents Carroll shows readers that collaborative autobiographical authorship is a practice of Indigenous intellectual sovereignty using a method they dub indiscipline a strategy of defying refusing or purposefully failing to follow mandates to conform to settler colonial sex and gender norms including heteronormativity the binary construct of sex and gender and the idea of personhood itself Through collaboratively written autobiography Carroll argues that Native authors not only resisted colonial attempts to use sex and gender to alienate them from their homelands and bodies they created an important Indigenous literary genre that informs our understanding of Native life and art today Native Peoples of the Southwest Trudy Griffin-Pierce, 2000-09 A comprehensive guide to the historic and contemporary indigenous cultures of the American Southwest intended for college courses and the general reader Arizona and the West, 1977
