Media Knowledge Readings In Popular Culture Pedagogy And Critical Citizenship:

Media Knowledge James Schwoch,Mimi White,Miriam White,Susan Reilly,1992-01-01 This book calls for a way of reading and responding to the media culture that is more than passive reception It argues for the fostering of critical citizenship as the key to engaging debating and ultimately reconstructing the concepts and beliefs society brings to bear upon popular culture The authors analyze contemporary media culture including television news and dramatic programming advertising Hollywood film and discuss the relationships between technology culture and society

Media Knowledge James Schwoch,Mimi White,Miriam White,Susan Reilly,1992-03-02 This book calls for a way of reading and responding to the media culture that is more than passive reception It argues for the fostering of critical citizenship as the key to engaging debating and ultimately reconstructing the concepts and beliefs society brings to bear upon popular culture The authors analyze contemporary media culture including television news and dramatic programming advertising Hollywood film and discuss the relationships between technology culture and society

Popular Culture and Critical Pedagogy Toby Daspit,John A. Weaver,2012-09-10 This collection attempts to incorporate cultural studies into the understanding of schooling not simply addressing how students read themselves as members of a distinct culture but how they along with teachers and administrators read popular texts in general The purpose of this book is to suggest some alternative directions critical pedagogy can take in its critique of popular culture by inviting multiple reading of popular texts into its analysis of schooling and seeing many forms of popular culture as critical pedagogical texts

Mass Media James B. Martin,2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes

Revolutionary Multiculturalism Peter McLaren,2018-02-12 This work by one of North America s leading educational theorists and cultural critics culminates a decade of social analyses that focuses on the political economy of schooling Paulo Freire and literacy education hip hop culture and multicultural education Peter McLaren also examines the work of Baudrillard as well as Bourdieu s reflexive sociology Always in McLaren s work is a profound understanding of the relationship among advanced capitalism the politics of knowledge and the formation of identity One of the central themes of this volume is the relationship between the political and the pedagogical for educators activists artists and other cultural workers McLaren argues that the central project ahead in the struggle for social justice is not so much the politics of diversity as the global decentering and dismantling of whiteness This volume also contains an interview with the author

Visual Pedagogy Brian Goldfarb,2002-10-18 Critiques some deployments of media in education in and out of school while exploring progressive possibilities in others

Television Histories Gary R. Edgerton,Peter C.

Rollins,2021-09-15 From Ken Burns's documentaries to historical dramas such as Roots from A E's Biography series to CNN television has become the primary source for historical information for tens of millions of Americans today Why has television become such a respected authority What falsehoods enter our collective memory as truths How is one to know what is real and what is imagined or ignored by producers directors or writers Gary Edgerton and Peter Rollins have collected a group of essays that answer these and many other questions The contributors examine the full spectrum of historical genres but also institutions such as the History Channel and production histories of such series as The Jack Benny Show which ran for fifteen years The authors explore the tensions between popular history and professional history and the tendency of some academics to declare the past off limits to nonscholars Several of them point to the tendency for television histories to embed current concerns and priorities within the past as in such popular shows as Quantum Leap and Dr Quinn Medicine Woman The result is an insightful portrayal of the power television possesses to influence our culture Channels of Discourse, Reassembled

Robert Allen,2010-01-27 Since its original publication in 1987 Channels of Discourse has provided the most comprehensive consideration of commercial television drawing on insights provided by the major strands of contemporary criticism semiotics narrative theory reception theory genre theory ideological analysis psychoanalysis feminist criticism and British cultural studies The second edition features a new introduction by Robert Allen that includes a discussion of the political economy of commercial television Two new essays have been added one an assessment of postmodernism and television the other an analysis of convergence and divergence among the essays and the original essays have been substantially revised and updated with an international audience in mind Sixty one new television stills illustrate the text Each essay lays out the general tenets of its particular approach discusses television as an object of analysis within that critical framework and provides extended examples of the types of analysis produced by that critical approach Case studies range from Rescue 911 and Twin Peaks to soap operas music videos game shows talk shows and commercials Channels of Discourse Reassembled suggests new ways of understanding relationships among television programs between viewing pleasure and narrative structure and between the world in front of the television set and that represented on the screen The collection also addresses the qualities of popular television that traditional aesthetics and quantitative media research have failed to treat satisfactorily including its seriality mass production and extraordinary popularity The contributors are Robert C Allen Jim Collins Jane Feuer John Fiske Sandy Flitterman Lewis James Hay E Ann Kaplan Sarah Kozloff Ellen Seiter and Mimi White

Disturbing Pleasures Henry A. Giroux,2012-11-12 In Disturbing Pleasures Henry Giroux demonstrates how his well known theories of education critical pedagogy and popular culture can be put to use in the classroom and in other cultural settings Adding an entirely new dimension to his thinking about the cultural sites at which pedagogical practice takes place Giroux illustrates how professors school teachers and other cultural workers can appropriate what he refers to as a pedagogy of cultural studies Fugitive Cultures Henry A. Giroux,2012-12-06 Fugitive Cultures examines how youth are being increasingly subjected to racial stereotyping and violence in various realms of popular culture especially children's culture But rather than dismissing popular culture Henry Giroux addresses its political and pedagogical value as a site of critique and learning and calls for a reinvigorated critical relationship between cultural studies and those diverse cultural workers committed to expanding the possibilities and practices of democratic public life Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace Julie D. Frechette, 2002-07-30 By joining bodies of research in media theory cultural studies and critical pedagogy Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace offers a vision of learning that values social empowerment over technical skills An inquiry into the existence and range of models equipped to cultivate critical teaching and learning in the Internet supported classroom this new study argues that media literacy offers the best long term training for today's youth to become experienced practitioners of 21st century technology Author Julie Frechette helps educators develop and provide concrete learning strategies that enable students to judge the validity and worth of what they see on the Internet as they strive to become critically autonomous in a technology laden world Part of this effort lies in developing a keen awareness of the institutional political and economic structure of the Internet as a means of communication that is increasingly marketing products and targeting advertisements toward youth Values on the Internet are discussed constantly both by the major media and by the private sector with little regard for the pervasive interests and authority of profitable industries staking out their territory in this new global village Unlike other studies that provide a broad sociohistorical context for the development of theoretical uses of new technologies in the classroom Developing Media Literacy in Cyberspace lays the groundwork for establishing critical thinking skills that will serve students interests as they navigate this vast and complicated cyberterritory

Television Program Master Index Charles V. Dintrone, 1996 Television history has become one of the hottest areas of research in popular culture Because the field is relatively new and so wide ranging no matter what one is researching much of the relevant material will be found scattered through numerous other works frustrating scholarly progress This work makes the television researcher's job easier by providing a single index to 341 books that include information on 1 002 shows Most of the books deal exclusively with television though some autobiographies biographies Congressional hearings and works on communication and the media are also indexed For a show to be included it must have been carried on NBC CBS ABC or Fox and must have been a series Shows on PBS are generally not included though exceptions have been made for Sesame Street and Mister Rogers Neighborhood Discourse and Knowledge Teun A. van Dijk, 2014-07-17 Most of our knowledge is acquired by discourse and our ability to produce and understand discourse is impossible without the activation of massive amounts of knowledge of the world Both discourse and knowledge are fundamental concepts of the humanities and social sciences but they are often treated separately Based on a theory of natural knowledge the book deals with the cognitive processes social distribution cultural differences and the linguistic and discursive management of knowledge in interaction and communication in epistemic communities The first book to adopt a multidisciplinary approach to studying the relationship between the two concepts Discourse and Knowledge introduces the new field of epistemic discourse analysis Using a wide range of examples to illustrate the theory it is essential reading for both students and academics interested in epistemology linguistics discourse analysis cognitive and social psychology and the social sciences

Broadcasting the End of Apartheid Martha Evans, 2014-07-15 South Africa came late to television when it finally arrived in the late 1970s the rest of the world had already begun to boycott the country because of apartheid While the ruling National Party feared the integrative effects of television they did not foresee how exclusion from globally unifying broadcasts would gradually erode their power South Africa was barred from participating in some of television's greatest global attractions including sporting events such as the Olympics and contests such as Miss World With the release of Nelson Mandela from prison came a proliferation of large scale live broadcasts as the country was permitted to return to international competition and its readmittance was played out on television screens across the world These events were pivotal in shaping and consolidating the country's emerging post apartheid national identity Broadcasting the End of Apartheid assesses the socio political effects of live broadcasting on South Africa's transition to democracy Martha Evans argues that just as print media had a powerful influence on the development of Afrikaner nationalism so the liveness of television helped to consolidate the post apartheid South African national identity
