Morality And Expediency The Folklore Of Academic Politics:

Morality and Expediency Frederick George Bailey, 1977 Morality and Expediency F.g. Bailey, 2017-07-26 This book is about micro politics that kind of manoeuvre to control or avoid being controlled to claim friendship or proclaim enmity which takes place between people who know one another and who must temper and adjust their actions towards one another because they share other activities They are members of the one community and of the same organization and this not only moderates their actions but also provides them with themes for use in the political arena These justificatory themes and the irresolvable contradictions between them and what is to be done when decisions cannot be made through rational procedures is one subject of the book The setting is the university world of committees and dons and administrators but the inquiry is into general questions about organizational life How are value contradictions resolved Why are some matters discussed openly and others only before restricted audiences Could we dispense with confidentiality and secrecy What masks are used to make a person or a point of view persuasive It is impossible and therefore wholly unwise to try to attempt to run such organizations in a wholly open and wholly rational fashion without an appropriate measure of pretence and secrecy even of hypocrisy they cannot be made to work At a basic level organizations require secrecy and confidentiality to run effectively Morality and Expediency Frederick George Bailey, 2017 This book is about micro politics that kind of manoeuvre to control or avoid being controlled to claim friendship or proclaim enmity which takes place between people who know one another and who must temper and adjust their actions towards one another because they share other activities They are members of the one community and of the same organization and this not only moderates their actions but also provides them with themes for use in the political arena These justificatory themes and the irresolvable contradictions between them and what is to be done when decisions cannot be made through rational procedures is one subject of the book The setting is the university world of committees and dons and administrators but the inquiry is into general questions about organizational life How are value contradictions resolved Why are some matters discussed openly and others only before restricted audiences Could we dispense with confidentiality and secrecy What masks are used to make a person or a point of view persuasive It is impossible and therefore wholly unwise to try to attempt to run such organizations in a wholly open and wholly rational fashion without an appropriate measure of pretence and secrecy even of hypocrisy they cannot be made to work At a basic level organizations require secrecy and confidentiality to run effectively Provided by publisher Morality and Expediency Frederick George Bailey, 1977-01-01 This book is about micro politics that kind of manoeuvre to control or avoid being controlled to claim friendship or proclaim enmity which takes place between people who know one another and who must temper and adjust their actions towards one another because they share other activities They are members of the one community and of the same organization and this not only moderates their actions but also provides them with themes for use in the political arena These justificatory themes and the irresolvable contradictions between them and what is to be done when decisions cannot be made through rational procedures is one subject of the book The setting is the university world of committees and dons and administrators but the inquiry is into general questions about organizational life How are value contradictions resolved Why are some matters discussed openly and others only before restricted audiences Could we dispense with confidentiality and secrecy What masks are used to make a person or a point of view persuasive It is impossible and therefore wholly unwise to try to attempt to run such organizations in a wholly open and wholly rational fashion without an appropriate measure of pretence and secrecy even of hypocrisy they cannot be made to work At a basic level organizations require secrecy and confidentiality to run effectively F G Bailey is professor emeritus in the department of Anthropology at the University of California San Diego He has written fifteen books and he was the recipient of the Academic Senate Career Distinguished Teaching Award Morality and Expediency F.G. understandings that keep human social groups intact Morality includes both the shoulds and should nots of human activity its proactive and inhibitive elements At one time sociologists were centrally concerned with morality issues like social cohesion values the goals and norms that structure society and the ways individuals get socialized to reproduce those concerns In the last half century however explicit interest in these topics has waned and modern sociology has become uninterested in these matters and morality has become marginalized within the discipline But a resurgence in the topic is happening in related disciplines psychology neurology philosophy and anthropology and in the wider national discourse Sociology has much to offer but is not fully engaged in this conversation Many scholars work on areas that would fall under the umbrella of a sociology of morality but do not self identify in such a manner nor orient their efforts toward conceptualizing what we know and should know along these dimensions The Handbook of the Sociology of Morality fills a niche within sociology making explicit the shared concerns of scholars across the disciplines as they relate to an often overlooked dimension of human social life It is unique in social science as it would be the first systematic compilation of the wider social structural cultural cross national organizational and interactional dimension of human moral understood broadly thought feeling and behavior

The anthropology of power, agency, and morality Victor de Munck, Elisa J. Sobo, 2022-06-07 The works of F G Bailey 1924 2020 provide a seminal template for good ethnography Central to this is Bailey s ability to conceptually connect the well described micro contexts of individual interactions to the macro context of culture Bailey s core concerns the tension between individual and collective interests the will to power and the dialectics of social forces which foster both collective solidarity as well as divisiveness and discontent are themes of universal interest the beauty of his work lies in his analyses of how these play out in local arenas between real people His models provide nuanced yet explicit road maps to analysing the different leadership styles of everyday people and contemporary leaders This volume seeks to inspire new generations of anthropologists to revisit Bailey s seminal texts to help them navigate their way through the ethnographic thicket of their own research

The New Work of Educational Leaders Peter Gronn, 2003-02-20 If there is one word to describe the issues addressed by Peter Gronn in The New Work of Educational Leaders it s timely And if there is one book that education policy makers system CEOs and education ministers should find the time to read this is it Educare News This book is essential reading for those involved in educational leadership and policy development This work is also valuable for those interested in the locally organized and interactionally achieved context of institutional work Discourse Studies in the Cultural Politics of Education Though based in Australia Peter Gronn shows familiarity with the British education system and this book is relevant to those in the compulsory and post compulsory sectors interested in the themes of education leadership Learning and Skills Research In The New Work of Educational Leaders Peter Gronn provides a new framework for understanding leadership practice The work of leaders will increasingly be shaped by three overriding but contradictory themes design distribution and disengagement These are the architecture of school and educational leadership Designer leadership is the use of mandatory standards of assessment and accreditation for school leaders such as the National Qualification for Headship NPQH in the United Kingdom and the Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium ISLLC standards in the United States Distributed patterns of leadership have developed in response to the intensification of school leaders work under policy regimes of site based and school self management Disengagement describes a culture of abstention in which school systems anticipate leadership succession problems such as projected shortages and recurring recruitment difficulties

Landmarks Andrew Strathern, 1993 Landmarks addresses a wide range of questions relevant to the recent history of anthropology and its importance to contemporary issues These questions include the significance of anthropology for Third World studies the debate on whether anthropology is a scientific or a humanistic subject anthropology as a means of reflecting on ourselves as well as others and the criticisms of anthropological work that have emerged out of postmodernism Drawing on his research findings in Papua New Guinea since 1964 and his more recent work on the cross cultural study of medicine the author examines the extent to which we can achieve understanding between different cultures and the relative merits of approaches that stress indigenous categories or those of the observer He concludes that the discipline now requires reconstruction rather than deconstruction and advances the call for holistic models of human behavior which reconceptualize the relationship between body and mind

Transforming Higher Education M. Kogan, M. Bauer, I. Bleiklie, M. Henkel, 2007-12-05 Chicago the Leverhulme Trust for an emeritus fellowship awarded to Maurice Kogan which enabled a particular part of the English study to be completed and to the Bank of Sweden Tercentenary Foundation which provided funds assisting us with the last stage of the project and its dissemination The list of names of the editorial team on the cover of this book in no sense exhausts the account of its authorship or of those responsible for the country studies Our equal partners in the whole exercise have been Steve Hanney England Berit Askling and Susan Marton Sweden and Roar H. Staker and Agnete Vab Norway The names of individual authors are to be found at the beginning of each chapter Throughout the five years of our project we have enjoyed an intellectual camaraderie which enabled the experience of different cultures and systems to flow into our research We are also indebted to Tom Kogan for expert copy editing of the first version and to Deana Parker for producing a camera ready version of this second edition Our first publishers on selling out the first edition arbitrarily took the book out of print We have been fortunate in finding new publishers Springer for this second edition which has given us the opportunity to update our macro data about changes in systems and advance further some of our arguments

Economic Globalisation as Religious War Michael McKinley, 2007-06-28 Using a critical theory approach to analyze the globalization of the world economy this provocative and topical new book presents economic globalization not as a recent development but rather as a familiar process that has occurred throughout history Michael McKinley argues that it is ultimately a self serving arbitrary and destructive imperial project that should be viewed as a religious war

The Tudor and Stuart Town 1530 - 1688 Jonathan Barry, 2014-06-17 The Tudor and Stuart Town brings together many of the most important articles in the field of urban history Moral Mazes Robert Jackall,1988 Examines the influence of corporate managers in major business scandals and discusses the shaping of personal ethics in bureaucratic systems Supporting Lifelong Learning: Perspectives on learning Roger Harrison,2002 This Open University Reader examines the practices of learning and teaching which have been developed to support lifelong learning and the understanding and assumptions which underpin them The selection of texts trace the widening scope of academic understanding of learning and teaching and considers the implications for those who develop programmes of learning It examines in great depth those theories which have had the greatest impact in the field theories of reflection and learning from experience and theories of situated learning The implications of these theories are examined in relation to themes which run across the reader namely workplace learning literacies and the possibilities offered by information and communication technologies The particular focus of this Reader is on the psychological or cognitive phenomena that happen in the minds of individual learners The readings have been selected to represent a range of experience in different sectors of education from around the globe Rules of Law and Laws of Ruling Franz von Benda-Beckmann,Keebet von

Benda-Beckmann,2016-04-08 Offering an anthropological perspective this volume explores the changing relations between law and governance examining how changes in the structure of governance affect the relative social significance of law within situations of legal pluralism The authors argue that there has been a re regulation rather than a de regulation propagated by a plurality of regulative authorities and this re regulation is accompanied by an increasing ideological dominance of rights talk and juridification of conflict Drawing on insights into such processes this volume explores the extent to which law is used both as a constitutive legitimation of governance and as the medium through which governance processes take place Highlighting some of the paradoxes and the unintended consequences of these regulating processes and the ensuing dynamics Rules of Law and Laws of Ruling will be a valuable resource for researchers and students working in the areas of legal anthropology and governance The Meeting H.B. Schwartzman,2013-06-29 In writing this book I discovered that everyone I talked to had his or her own theory about meetings and yet there is no theory of meetings in the research literature This makes writing about this subject both exciting and hazardous It is always exciting to examine the significance of something that has been ignored but it is hazardous to write about something that everyone already thinks they understand Without recourse to the legitimacy of a research tradition readers are likely to evaluate this study based on their own theory I have tried to take this into account by discussing what might be referred to as American folk theory about meetings see particularly Chapter 3 and also by juxtaposing my own research in an American organization with research in traditional or non Western societies as conducted by anthropologists This juxtaposition throws into relief some of the important differences as well as similarities in views of meetings as well as the form of meetings across cultures It is also the only way that I know to examine how and when one's cultural context is affecting one's theoretical constructions If this book is successful it will challenge what I believe is the most common interpretation of meetings found in American society that is that meetings are a blank slate phenomenon useful as a tool for such functions as making decisions solving problems and resolving conflicts but having no impact on behavior in and of themselves

The Collegial Tradition in the Age of Mass Higher Education Ted Tapper, David Palfreyman, 2010-07-20 Much of our writing reflects a long term commitment to the analysis of the collegial tradition in higher education This commitment is reflected most strongly in Oxford and the Decline of the Collegiate Tradition 2000 which we are pleased to say will reappear as a considerably revised second edition Oxford The Collegiate University Conflict Consensus and Continuity to be published by Springer in the near future To some extent this volume The Collegial Tradition in the Age of Mass Higher Education is a reaction to the charge that our work has been too narrowly focussed upon the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge Oxbridge Not surprisingly you would expect us to reject that critique while responding constructively to it The focus may be narrow and although the relative presence and more arguably the influence of Oxford and Cambridge may have declined in English higher education they remain important national universities Moreover as the plethora of so called world class higher education league tables would have us believe they also have a powerful international status This however is essentially a defensive response dependent upon the alleged reputations of the two universities This book is intent on making a more substantial argument To examine the collegial tradition in higher education means much more than presenting a nostalgic look at the past

Islamic Higher Education in Indonesia R. Lukens-Bull, 2013-11-19 This project looks at the work of the faculty in Indonesia's National Islamic Institutes to address respond and prevent the success of radical Islamic discourse and institution of Shari'a law in the school system

Envy, Poison, and Death Esther Eidinow, 2016 At the heart of this volume are three trials held in Athens in the fourth century BCE The defendants were all women and in each case the charges involved a combination of ritual activities Two were condemned to death Because of the brevity of the ancient sources and their lack of agreement the precise charges are unclear and the reasons for taking these women to court remain mysterious Envy Poison and Death takes the complexity and confusion of the evidence not as a riddle to be solved but as revealing multiple social dynamics It explores the changing factors material ideological and psychological that may have provoked these events It focuses in particular on the dual role of envy phthonos and gossip as processes by which communities identified people and activities that were dangerous and examines how and why those local even individual dynamics may have come to shape official civic decisions during a time of perceived hardship At first sight so puzzling these trials reveal a vivid picture of the socio political environment of Athens during the early mid fourth century BCE including responses to changes in women's status and behaviour and attitudes to ritual activities within the city The volume reveals some of the characters events and even emotions that would help to shape an emergent concept of magic it suggests that the boundary of acceptable behaviour was shifting not only within the legal arena but also through the active involvement of society beyond the courts
