The Faces of Racism Vladimir Prempin, 2024-06-24 Say no to racism and never look away again This book is about the faces of racism These are mainly presented and clarified with the help of the author's own experiences with this destructive virus Many see it but only few people dare to do something against racism Through this book we see how we can best tackle this virus and gain courage to at least stand up to it This book is intended to inspire everyone to live racism critically and also give us clarity on why it is so important to fight this virus in our lives It may be that you are not aware of how many times you have been treated badly or discriminated against for racial reasons in your life but one thing is certain it doesn't matter what skin color or origin you have this topic racism affects us all Today it hurts me but tomorrow it can affect you So what are we waiting for Let us eradicate this virus from our lives once and for all to leave a safe peaceful and above all a just world for future generations

South Africa, Race and the Making of International Relations Vineet Thakur, Peter Vale, 2020-01-17 This book offers readers an alternative history of the origins of the discipline of International Relations Conventional western histories of the discipline point to 1919 as the year of the birth of the discipline with two seminal initiatives setting up of the first Chair of IR at Aberystwyth and the founding of the Institute of International Relations on the side lines of the Paris Peace Conference From these events International Relations is argued to have been established as a path to create peace in the post War era and facilitated through a scientific study of international affairs International Relations was therefore both a field of study and knowledge production and a plan of action This pathbreaking book challenges these claims by presenting an alternative narrative of International Relations In this book we make three interconnected arguments First we argue that the natal moment in the founding of IR is not World War I as is generally believed but the Anglo Boer War Second we argue that the ideas methods and institutions that led to the making of IR were first thrashed out in South Africa in Johannesburg in fact Finally this South African genealogy of IR we show in the book allows us to properly investigate the emergence of academic IR at the interstices of race Empire and science Police Under Fire Aubrey A. Baker, 2016-08-05 This book is about the war on the police that is taking place in America today It is about the unfair and false narratives being promulgated against the police by black activists left wing liberals and the lamestream media It is about racial politics and violence in the black community and how it spills over onto the police It is about controversial uses of force by the police It is about injustices being perpetrated against the police by neer do wells It is also about how to improve the situation overall Adopting for God Soojin Chung, 2021-12-14 Explores the role played by missionaries in the twentieth century transnational adoption movement Between 1953 and 2018 approximately 170 000 Korean children were adopted by families in dozens of different countries with Americans providing homes to more than two thirds of them In an iconic photo taken in 1955 Harry and Bertha Holt can be seen descending from a Pan American World Airways airplane with twelve Asian babies eight for their family and four for other families As adoptive parents and evangelical Christians who identified themselves as missionaries the Holts unwittingly became both the metaphorical and literal parental figures in the growing movement to adopt transnationally Missionaries pioneered the transnational adoption movement in America Though their role is known there has not yet been a full historical look at their theological motivations which varied depending on whether they were evangelically or ecumenically focused and what the effects were for American society relations with Asia and thinking about race more broadly Adopting for God shows that somewhat surprisingly both evangelical and ecumenical Christians challenged Americans to redefine traditional familial values and rethink race matters By questioning the perspective that equates missionary humanitarianism with unmitigated cultural imperialism this book offers a more nuanced picture of the rise of an important twentieth century movement the evangelization of adoption and the awakening of a new type of Christian mission The Subject of Race in American Science Fiction Sharon DeGraw, 2006-12-19 While the connections between science fiction and race have largely been neglected by scholars racial identity is a key element of the subjectivity constructed in American SF In his Mars series Edgar Rice Burroughs primarily supported essentialist constructions of racial identity but also included a few elements of racial egalitarianism Writing in the 1930s George S Schuyler revised Burroughs normative SF triangle of white author white audience and white protagonist and promoted an individualistic highly variable concept of race instead While both Burroughs and Schuyler wrote SF focusing on racial identity the largely separate genres of science fiction and African American literature prevented the similarities between the two authors from being adequately acknowledged and explored Beginning in the 1960s Samuel R Delany more fully joined SF and African American literature Delany expands on Schuyler s racial constructionist approach to identity including gender and sexuality in addition to race Critically intertwining the genres of SF and African American literature allows a critique of the racism in the science fiction and a more accurate and positive portrayal of the scientific connections in the African American literature Connecting the popular fiction of Burroughs the controversial career of Schuyler and the postmodern texts of Delany illuminates a gradual change from a stable essentialist construction of racial identity at the turn of the century to the variable social construction of poststructuralist subjectivity today
