Papua New Guinea Country Study on Biological Diversity Nikhil Sekhran, S. Miller, Scott Everett Miller, 1995

Country gender assessment of agriculture and the rural sector in Papua New Guinea Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-10-09 The Country Gender Assessment of Agriculture and the Rural Sector report provides a gender perspective of the agricultural and rural sector of Papua New Guinea. The analysis provides an overview of the gender based gaps and inequalities in access to and control over critical productive resources and opportunities. The methods used involved a two tier approach where there was the review of literature related to women's engagement in agriculture and the rural sector as well as semi structured interviews and focus group discussions with selected groups. The findings recognize that agriculture is key for the country's economy. However, there remain persisting challenges in creating an enabling environment for enhancing women's participation in food value chains. Additionally, the disparities are obvious in access to and control over key agricultural resources. Rural women, even though they are major contributors to the economy, their rights are not properly recognized, hence they are excluded systematically from access to decision making. It is thereby concluded that the lack of influential gender sensitive leadership and coordination of the agricultural sector impedes the empowerment of rural women and girls in the country. The recommendation includes a gender and workplace policy developed for the agricultural sector. Importantly, this publication is a tool for FAO, the Government of Papua New Guinea and other development partners to mainstream gender into programming towards gender equality and the empowerment of rural women in Papua New Guinea.

Papua New Guinea Ingrid Gascoigne, Cassandra Schumacher, 2018-04-15 The country of Papua New Guinea has a diverse landscape filled with incredible animals and plant life. With thick rain forests and beautiful mountains, it is a tropical paradise. The people are as varied as the lands. In fact, the country is home to the greatest language diversity in the world. Modern pressures on one of the last nations to maintain a tribal life lead to a complex culture trying to preserve the beauty of the land while growing and prospering as a nation. Allow readers to explore the incredible landscape, the vast diversity and the rich culture of Papua New Guinea in this exciting informative book.

Riseman,2012-12-01 In the campaign against Japan in the Pacific during the Second World War the armed forces of the United States Australia and the Australian colonies of Papua and New Guinea made use of indigenous peoples in new capacities The United States had long used American Indians as soldiers and scouts in frontier conflicts and in wars with other nations With the advent of the Navajo Code Talkers in the Pacific theater Native servicemen were now being employed for contributions that were unique to their Native cultures In contrast Australia Papua and New Guinea had long attempted to keep indigenous peoples out of the armed forces altogether With the threat of Japanese invasion however they began to bring indigenous peoples into the military as guerilla patrollers coastwatchers and regular soldiers Defending Whose Country is a comparative study of the military participation of Papua New Guineans Yolngu and Navajos in the Pacific War In examining the decisions of state and military leaders to bring indigenous peoples into military service as well as the decisions of indigenous individuals to serve in the armed forces Noah Riseman reconsiders the impact of the largely forgotten contributions of indigenous soldiers in the Second World War Passport Series: Australia, Oceania and Antarctica
