Bulatov,Natalia A. Piskulova,2018-07-27 This volume offers profound analyses of the main theoretical and practical aspects of the concept of sustainable development namely current environmental problems the building of green economies climate policies specifics of international cooperation in the sphere of sustainable development specific features of business and government involvement in implementing sustainable development the role of civil society its social and gender aspects and specific characteristics of national models of sustainable development The focus on the international aspects of the implementation of sustainable development ideas makes the insights offered here fresh and unique This book will be useful for academics managers students and teaching staff of higher education institutions Cooperation and Sustainable Development Aleksei V. Bogoviz,Alexander E. Suglobov,Alexander N. Maloletko,Olga V. Kaurova,2021-12-03 This book presents a systematic view of the cooperative sector of the economy from the standpoint of sustainable development On the one hand the book reveals the consequences of business cooperation for the implementation of global sustainable development goals primarily in terms of environmental protection and food security On the other hand the book defines the essence of sustainable development of the cooperative sector of the economy as a demonstrative economic practice that reflects the general state of socio economic systems Scientific methodological and applied recommendations for the systemic optimization of the management of the cooperative sector of the economy in the interests of simultaneously achieving its maximum positive impact on the implementation of sustainable development goals as well as maintaining its stability are proposed The book contains the best works based on the results of the International Scientific and Practical Conference Cooperation and Sustainable Development which was held on December 15 16 2020 Its target audience is scientists studying processes of business structures cooperation business entities carrying out cooperation as well as public authorities which will find guidelines for improving state regulation of the cooperative sector of the economy in this book Emerging Issues in Financial Development Tatiana Didier,Sergio L. Schmukler,2013-12-17 This book synthesizes the results of a comprehensive analysis of the status prospects and challenges of sustainable financial development in Latin America as well as the lessons for developed and developing countries Nuclear Safety ,1980 Financing for Development 2030 Global Agenda and Post Covid19

Challenges Dr. Hebatallah Adam, 2021-11-02 The COVID 19 pandemic has uncovered major weaknesses in our global system. It has shown beyond doubt how the prevalence of poverty, weak health systems, lack of education and above all, sub-optimal global cooperation is aggravating the crisis. Besides its immediate impact on health, the socio-economic consequences of the pandemic are likely to be felt by economic actors all over the world and the populations of developing countries and economies in transition are expected to be among those most vulnerable to suffer from COVID 19 related challenges. The economic impact of COVID 19 pandemic has also left its mark on Sustainable Development financing. Financing Sustainable Development is critical for the future of the countries of the Global South. These countries are dependent on a single source of financing i.e. the ODAs from the developed Global North. It is estimated that the financing gap between the pre and post pandemic times could increase by a whopping 70 percent owing to the fall in ODAs as a result of poor growth outlook in the developed countries. The retreat from globalisation and the devastating impact of the pandemic on global economic growth needs to be dealt with an alternate strategy for financing Sustainable Development. The post pandemic development finance needs to tap into multiple sources of financing that might include the public domestic resources, private sector finance, ODA from other governments and philanthropies, remittances and South-South flows. This book is an outcome of the first of its kind conference in the middle of the Covid 19 pandemic tackling the questions of economic growth recovery in the Global South and financing sustainable development among the poor and vulnerable communities of the Global South. Prof. Dr. Hebatallah Adam is Associate Professor, Assistant Dean for Academic Affairs of Jindal School of International Affairs, ISIA and Executive director of Jindal Centre for the Global South, O.P. Jindal Global University, Haryana, India. She is affiliated as well to the Department of Economics, Faculty of Business, Ain Shams University, Cairo, Egypt, where she has acquired more than 17 years of research and academic teaching experience. Development Digest, 1976 The Development of Transnational Policing John McDaniel, Karlie Stonard, David Cox, 2019-10-10 This book draws together the insights of eminent academics and specialists to present an overview of past and present approaches to transnational policing throughout the Anglophone world. It aims to revitalize the study of transnational policing by showing that past and present developments in this field remain poorly understood while also suggesting future avenues of research. Containing chapters on police history, police accountability, gendered hate crime in an increasingly online world, counter-radicalisation strategies being pursued around the world, internet-facilitated sex trafficking and changes in organised crime, amongst others, the authors adopt revisionist, orthodox and progressive views in order to challenge our understanding and appreciation of developments in transnational policing. All of the chapters in the book use policing models employed within the UK as either their focal point or as a point of comparison so that direct comparisons and contrasts can be examined. The Development of Transnational Policing illustrates distinctive and separate aspects of what remains an undoubtedly complex and dynamic field but also forms an overview of developments and the dearth of academic research which surround them in order hopefully to inspire researchers.

policymakers and practitioners alike Handbook of Development Policy Habib, Zafarullah, Huque, Ahmed S., 2021-09-07
 This authoritative Handbook provides a thorough exploration of development policy from both scholarly and practical perspectives and offers insights into the policy process dynamics and a range of specific policy issues including corruption and network governance The White House Conference on Balanced National Growth and Economic Development United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Environment and Public Works, 1978 Journal of Economic Entomology, 1922 European Security Governance and the European Neighbourhood after the Lisbon Treaty Christian Kaunert, Sarah Léonard, 2013-09-13 The EU has often been considered to be a weak security actor However any assessment of the EU's role in international security is underpinned by a specific understanding of security This book is based on a broad understanding of security We consider that security concerns are increasingly triggered by challenges such as terrorism climate change mass migration flows and many other non traditional security issues This book tries to capture these aspects of the EU's fast changing security policies following the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty on 1 December 2009 There are several common themes stemming from a combined reading of the chapters Firstly the EU has sought to simultaneously pursue its security objectives and spread its values such as democracy the rule of law and human rights by encouraging reforms in its neighbourhood However it is increasingly evident that there are tensions and contradictions between these two objectives which can be illuminated and better understood by considering another strand of literature with which there has been little engagement in EU studies to date namely the literature on human security This book is the first to analyse these hugely topical developments in European security after the Lisbon Treaty It was published as a special issue of Perspectives on European Politics and Society Social and Political Issues on Sustainable Development in the Post Covid-19 Crisis Oman Sukmana, Salahudin, Iqbal Robbie, Ali Roziqin, Shannaz Mutiara Deniar, Iradhad T. Sihidi, Dedik F. Suhermanto, 2022-05-24 As a threat a pandemic has indirect implications for social economic and political conditions both at domestic and international levels Thus collective and comprehensive efforts are needed in responding to and preventing the expansion of infections caused by the virus including Covid 19 This international conference provides the discourse on social economic as well as political issues regarding the condition after the pandemic Social issues are studied through social welfare sociology governance communication and international relations approaches Meanwhile economic problems are discussed through business economic development and economic management approaches Under the First International Conference on Humanities and Social Sciences ICHSOS 2021 speakers from several countries provided solutions and alternative perspectives in preventing and dealing with problems after the Covid 19 pandemic This book contains 42 papers presented at the conference Mining, the Environment, and Indigenous Development Conflicts Saleem H. Ali, 2021-10-19 From sun baked Black Mesa to the icy coast of Labrador native lands for decades have endured mining ventures that have only lately been subject to environmental laws and a recognition of treaty rights Yet conflicts surrounding mining development and indigenous peoples continue to challenge policy makers This book gets to the heart of resource conflicts and environmental impact assessment by asking why indigenous communities support environmental causes in some cases of mining development but not in others Saleem Ali examines environmental conflicts between mining companies and indigenous communities and with rare objectivity offers a comparative study of the factors leading to those conflicts Mining the Environment and Indigenous Development Conflicts presents four cases from the United States and Canada the Navajos and Hopis with Peabody Coal in Arizona the Chippewas with the Crandon Mine proposal in Wisconsin the Chipewyan Inuits D n and Cree with Cameco in Saskatchewan and the Innu and Inuits with Inco in Labrador These cases exemplify different historical relationships with government and industry and provide an instance of high and low levels of Native resistance in each country Through these cases Ali analyzes why and under what circumstances tribes agree to negotiated mining agreements on their lands and why some negotiations are successful and others not Ali challenges conventional theories of conflict based on economic or environmental cost benefit analysis which do not fully capture the dynamics of resistance He proposes that the underlying issue has less to do with environmental concerns than with sovereignty which often complicates relationships between tribes and environmental organizations Activist groups he observes fail to understand such tribal concerns and often have problems working with tribes on issues where they may presume a common environmental interest This book goes beyond popular perceptions of environmentalism to provide a detailed picture of how and when the concerns of industry society and tribal governments may converge and when they conflict As demands for domestic energy exploration increase it offers clear guidance for such endeavors when native lands are involved
