Slipping Through the Cracks Mark Sanders, 2011-12-01. Clients who have multiple addictions and disorders are more difficult to engage and treat than clients with a single disorder. Many of the current systems are ill equipped to address the myriad challenges of these clients; their relapse and recidivism rates are higher, and many of these clients tend to slip through the cracks, often going back and forth among addictions, treatment, psychiatric and medical hospitalizations, and incarceration. Too many difficult-to-reach clients are at risk for relapse because their practitioners lack effective, innovative strategies for this unique client base who remain part of a revolving door syndrome. Now Certified Alcohol and Drug Addictions Counselor, Mark Sanders, LCSW, offers specific strategies to assist therapists and counselors who work with difficult and at-risk populations, including those with multiple addictions, co-occurring disorders, adolescents, rural methamphetamine users, antisocial personality disorder, criminality, and addiction trauma or grief and chemical dependency history. Chronic relapse and recidivism. Slipping Through the Cracks is an encyclopedic handbook to specific traits of the difficult-to-reach client as well as a concise guidebook to effective strategies that will be useful to anyone working with clients in private practice or in treatment programs who have both mental health and substance abuse issues. examines the disruption many families endure when addiction impacts their lives Based in part on her own family's journey Ellen Van Vechten explains the science of addiction the theory of treatment and the Twelve Step model of recovery providing sensible information and tips for reasoned action in support of a loved one while fostering personal growth and recovery Powerlessness over another's addiction has a caustic effect on the family Too often parents and partners equate letting go with giving up While acceptance of a lack of control is essential to coping with the disease within the family system there is nothing passive about supporting a partner or child on their journey to recovery This concept is the foundation of Van Vechten's original approach to empower individuals with knowledge which when coupled with acceptance allows any family dealing with active addiction to make thoughtful and reasoned decisions to facilitate the recovery of both their loved ones and themselves Crime, Justice, and Society Calvin J.
