1995 Death under the Deodars Ruskin Bond, 2018-01-01 Colonel Bakshi burst in looking very agitated. Something s happened to Mrs Basu he said. She s lying outside in a flower bed. I think she s dead. In this marvellous collection of thrilling new stories set in the Mussoorie of a bygone era, Ruskin Bond recounts the deliciously sinister cases of a murdered priest, an adulterous couple, a man who is born evil, and a body in the box bed. Not to forget the strange happenings involving arsenic in the post, strychnine in the cognac, a mysterious black dog, and the Daryaganj strangler. As the elderly Miss Ripley, Bean, her Tibetan terrier Fluff, the hotel pianist Mr Lobo, and the owner of the Royal Nandu mull over these curious incidents, the reader will be enthralled and delighted until the very end. Handbook of Children, Culture, and Violence Nancy E.

Dowd, Dorothy G. Singer, Robin Fretwell Wilson, 2006 Each chapter contains recommendations for legislators, policy makers, researchers, and families. This book should be on the desk and minds of legislators, attorneys, social workers, and other mental health professionals who encounter and wish to ameliorate the effects of violence in the lives of their young constituents, clients, and patients. JOURNAL OF CHILD AND FAMILY STUDIES Questions relating to violence and children surround us in the media. Should V-chips be placed in every television set? How can we prevent another Columbine school shooting from occurring? How should pornography on the internet be regulated? The Handbook of Children, Culture, and Violence addresses these questions and more, providing a comprehensive interdisciplinary examination of childhood violence that considers children as both consumers and perpetrators of violence as well as victims of it. The Handbook offers much needed empirical evidence that will help inform debate about these important policy decisions. Moreover, it is the first single volume to consider situations when children are responsible for violence rather than focusing exclusively on occasions when they are victimized. Providing the first comprehensive overview of current research in the field, the editors have brought together the work of a group of prominent scholars whose work is united by a common concern for the impact of violence on the lives of children. The Handbook of Children, Culture, and Violence is poised to become the ultimate resource and reference work on children and violence for researchers, teachers, and students of psychology, human development, and family studies, law, communications, education, sociology, and political science, public policy. It will also appeal to policymakers, media professionals, and special interest groups concerned with reducing violence in children s lives. Law firms specializing in family law as well as think tanks will also be interested in the Handbook. Talking Through Death Christine S. Davis, Deborah C. Breede, 2018-07-18 Talking Through Death examines communication at the end of life from several different communication perspectives: interpersonal, patient-provider, family-mediated, and cultural. By studying interpersonal and family communication, cultural media, funeral-related rituals, religious and cultural practices, medical settings, and legal issues surrounding advance directives, readers gain insight into the ways symbolic communication constructs the experience of death and dying, and the way meaning is infused into the process of death and dying. The book looks at the communication-related health and social issues facing people and their loved ones as they transition through the end of life experience. It reports on research recently conducted by the authors and others to create a conversational narrative text that helps students patients and medical providers understand the symbolism and construction of meaning inherent in end of life communication
