Schuchman,1988 Once described as the invisible handicap deafness remains a mystery to most Americans From the silent film era to 1986 when deaf actress Marlee Matlin won an Oscar for her performance in Children of a Lesser God Hollywood has reinforced stereotypical views of deafness and deaf people in nearly two hundred movies and television episodes front flap Disability Across the Developmental Life Span Julie Smart,2011-11-14 This is the only text to provide comprehensive coverage of human growth and development a requirement mandated by the Council of Rehabilitation Education CORE for a master s degree in rehabilitation counseling and for Licensed Professional Counselor certification Written by an eminent leader in the field of disability studies this book reflects a significant change in perceptions of individuals with disabilities from being defined foremost by their disability to being viewed as normal individuals with a disability It provides an understanding of traditional human growth and development that will enhance the practice of disability counseling by enabling an understanding of a client's childhood and prior life experiences The book begins with a focus on developmental theories and tasks followed by a discussion of cultural and ethical considerations in human development It considers the major theories of human development as they relate to people with and without disabilities and career theories with a focus on the concept of choice The book addresses specific developmental stages including a description of developmental tasks risks disability applications specific disabilities common to a particular stage and cultural and ethical issues all supported by case examples Key Features Fulfills the required CORE mandated course on human growth and development and the disability experience Addresses disability across the lifespan in relation to developmental stages Authored by highly a respected expert in disability studies

Recovering Bodies G. Thomas Couser, 1997-11-01 This is a provocative look at writing by and about people with illness or disability in particular HIV AIDS breast cancer deafness and paralysis who challenge the stigmas attached to their conditions by telling their lives in their own ways and on their own terms Discussing memoirs diaries collaborative narratives photo documentaries essays and other forms of life writing G Thomas Couser shows that these books are not primarily records of medical conditions they are a means for individuals to recover their bodies or those of loved ones from marginalization and impersonal medical discourse Responding to the recent growth of illness and disability narratives in the United States such works as Juliet Wittman's Breast Cancer Journal John Hockenberry's Moving Violations Paul Monette's Borrowed Time An AIDS Memoir and Lou Ann Walker's A Loss for Words The Story of Deafness in a Family Couser addresses questions of both poetics and politics He examines why and under what circumstances individuals choose to write about illness or disability what role plot plays in such narratives how and whether closure is achieved who assumes the prerogative of narration which conditions are most often represented and which literary conventions lend themselves to representing particular conditions By tracing the development of new subgenres of personal narrative in our time this book explores how explicit consideration of illness and disability has enriched the repertoire of life writing In addition Couser's discussion of medical discourse joins the current debate about whether the biomedical model is entirely conducive to humane care for ill and disabled people With its sympathetic critique of the testimony of those most affected by these conditions Recovering Bodies contributes to an understanding of the relations among bodily dysfunction cultural conventions and identity in contemporary America

Disability Bioethics Jackie Leach Scully, 2008-08-15 Jackie Leach Scully argues that bioethics cannot avoid the task of considering the moral meaning of disability in humans beyond simply regulating reproductive choices or new areas of biomedical research By focusing on the experiential and empirical reality of impairment and drawing on recent work in disability studies Scully brings new attention to complex ethical questions surrounding disability Impairment is variously considered as a set of social relations and practices as experienced embodiment and as an emancipatory movement as well as a biomedical phenomenon In this way disability is joined to the general late twentieth century trend of attending to difference as a significant and central axis of subjectivity and social life Stutter Marc Shell,2009-06-30 In a book that explores the phenomenon of stuttering from its practical and physical aspects to its historical profile to its existential implications Shell who has himself struggled with stuttering all his life plumbs the depths of this murky region between will and flesh intention and expression idea and word Looking into the difficulties encountered by people who stutter as do fifty million world wide Shell shows that stutterers share a kinship with many other speakers both impeded and fluent This book takes us back to a time when stuttering was believed to be diagnosis induced then on to the complex mix of physical and psychological causes that were later discovered Ranging from cartoon characters like Porky Pig to cultural icons like Marilyn Monroe from Moses to Hamlet Shell reveals how stuttering in literature plays a role in the formation of tone narrative progression and character From publisher description The Time of Your Life Eugenie G.
