Lost Property The Woman Writer And English Literary History 1380 1589:

Lost Property Jennifer Summit, 2000-07 The English literary canon is haunted by the figure of the lost woman writer In our own age she has been a powerful stimulus for the rediscovery of works written by women But as Jennifer Summit argues the lost woman writer also served as an evocative symbol during the very formation of an English literary tradition from the fourteenth through the sixteenth centuries Lost Property traces the representation of women writers from Margery Kempe and Christine de Pizan to Elizabeth I and Mary Queen of Scots exploring how the woman writer became a focal point for emerging theories of literature and authorship in English precisely because of her perceived alienation from tradition Through original archival research and readings of key literary texts Summit writes a new history of the woman writer that reflects the impact of such developments as the introduction of printing the Reformation and the rise of the English court as a literary center A major rethinking of the place of women writers in the histories of books authorship and canon formation Lost Property demonstrates that rather than being an unimaginable anomaly the idea of the woman writer played a key role in the invention of English literature

Who Is Mary? Vittoria Colonna, Chiara Matraini, Lucrezia Marinella, 2010-07-15 For women of the Italian Renaissance the Virgin Mary was one of the most important role models Who Is Mary presents devotional works written by three women better known for their secular writings Vittoria Colonna famed for her Petrarchan lyric verse Chiara Matraini one of the most original poets of her generation and the wide ranging intellectually ambitious polemicist Lucrezia Marinella At a time when the cult of the Virgin was undergoing a substantial process of redefinition these texts cast fascinating light on the beliefs of Catholic women in the Renaissance and also in the cases of Matraini and Marinella on contemporaneous women's social behavior prescribed for them by male writers in books on female decorum. Who Is Mary testifies to the emotional and spiritual relationships that women had with the figure of Mary whom they were required to emulate as the epitome of femininity. Now available for the first time in English language translation, these writings suggest new possibilities for women in both religious and civil culture and provide a window to women's spirituality concerning the most important icon set before them as wives, mothers, and Christians.

The Correspondence between Princess Elisabeth of Bohemia and René Descartes Princess Elisabeth of Bohemia, René Descartes, 2007-11-01 Between the years 1643 and 1649 Princess Elisabeth of Bohemia 1618-80 and René Descartes 1596-1650 exchanged fifty-eight letters: thirty-two from Descartes and twenty-six from Elisabeth. Their correspondence contains the only known extant philosophical writings by Elisabeth, revealing her mastery of metaphysics, analytic geometry, and moral philosophy, as well as her keen interest in natural philosophy. The letters are essential reading for anyone interested in Descartes's philosophy, in particular his account of the human being as a union of mind and body, as well as his ethics. They also provide a unique insight into the character of their authors and the way ideas develop through intellectual collaboration. Philosophers have long been familiar with Descartes's side of the correspondence. Now Elisabeth's letters, never before available in translation, in their entirety emerge, this volume adding much needed context and depth both to Descartes's ideas and the legacy of the princess.

Lisa Shapiro's annotated edition, which also includes Elisabeth's correspondence with the Quakers William Penn and Robert Barclay, will be heralded by students of philosophy, feminist theorists, and historians of the early modern period.

Warnings to the Kings and Advice on Restoring Spain María de Guevara, 2008-09-15 During a pivotal point in Spanish history, aristocrat María de Guevara 1683 produced two extraordinary essays that appealed for strong leadership, protested political corruption, and demanded the inclusion of women in the court's decision making. Treaty gave Philip IV practical suggestions for fighting the war against Portugal, and Disenchantments counseled the king to be Charles II on strategies to raise the country's status in Europe. This annotated bilingual edition, featuring Nieves Romero Díaz's adroit translation, reproduces Guevara's polemics for the first time. Guevara's provocative writings call on Spanish women to bear the responsibility equally with men for restoring Spain's power in Europe and elsewhere. The collection also includes examples of Guevara's shorter writings that exemplify her ability to speak on matters of state, network with dignitaries, and govern family affairs. Witty, ironic, and rhetorically sophisticated, Guevara's essays provide a fresh perspective on the possibilities for women in the public sphere in seventeenth-century Spain.

Memoirs Marie Mancini, Hortense Mancini, 2009-05-15 The memoirs of Hortense 1646-1699 and of Marie 1639-1715 Mancini, nieces of the powerful Cardinal Mazarin and members of the court of Louis XIV, represent the earliest examples in France of memoirs published by women under their own names during their lifetimes. Both unhappily married, Marie had also fled the aftermath of her failed affair with the king; the sisters chose to leave their husbands for life on the road, a life quite rare for women of their day. Through their writings, the Mancinis sought to rehabilitate their reputations and reclaim the right to define their public images themselves rather than leave the stories of their lives to the intrigues of the court and to their disgruntled ex husbands First translated in 1676 and 1678 and credited largely to male redactors the two memoirs reemerge here in an accessible English translation that chronicles the beginnings of women s rights to personal independence within the confines of an otherwise circumscribed early modern aristocratic society Material Cultures of Early Modern Women's Writing P. Pender,R. Smith,2015-12-04 This collection examines the diverse material cultures through which early modern women s writing was produced transmitted and received It focuses on the ways it was originally packaged and promoted how it circulated in its contemporary contexts and how it was read and received in its original publication and in later revisions and redactions The Oxford Handbook of Early Modern Women's Writing in English, 1540-1700 Elizabeth Scott-Baumann,Danielle Clarke,Sarah C. most recent English translations with a new introduction to Zayas's entire body of stories and restores Zayas's author's note and prologue omitted from previous English language editions Tracing her slow but steady progress from notions of ideal love to love's treachery Exemplary Tales of Love and Tales of Disillusion will restore Zayas to her rightful place in modern letters

Images, Idolatry, and Iconoclasm in Late Medieval England Jeremy Dimmick,James Simpson,Nicolette Zeeman,2002-02-14 This book capitalizes on brilliant recent work on sixteenth century iconoclasm to extend the study of images both their making and their breaking into an earlier period and wider discursive territories Pressures towards iconoclasm are powerfully registered in fourteenth and fifteenth century writings both heterodox and orthodox just as the use of images is central to the practice of both politics and religion The governance of images turns out indeed to be central to governance itself It is also of critical concern in any moment of historical change when new cultural forms must incorporate or destroy the images of the old order The iconoclast redescribes images as pure matter objects of idolatry worthy only of the hammer Issues of historical memory no less than of social ethics are then inherent to the making love and destruction of images These issues are the consistent concern of the essays of this volume essays commissioned from a range of outstanding late medievalists in a variety of disciplines literature art history Biblical studies and intellectual history
