The Scarlet Letter Nathaniel Hawthorne,2018-07-07 The Scarlet Letterby Nathaniel HawthorneExcerptTHE CUSTOM HOUSE INTRODUCTORY TO THE SCARLET LETTERIt is a little remarkable that though disinclined to talk overmuch of myself and my affairs at the fireside and to my personal friends an autobiographical impulse should twice in my life have taken possession of me in addressing the public The first time was three or four years since when I favoured the reader inexcusably and for no earthly reason that either the indulgent reader or the intrusive author could imagine with a description of my way of life in the deep quietude of an Old Manse And now because beyond my deserts I was happy enough to find a listener or two on the former occasion I again seize the public by the button and talk of my three years experience in a Custom House We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience

The Scarlet Letter Annotated Nathaniel Hawthorne,2020-04-20 Nathaniel Hawthorne was born on July 4 1804 in Salem Massachusetts where his birthplace is now a museum William Hathorne who emigrated from England in 1630 was the first of Hawthorne s ancestors to arrive in the colonies After arriving William persecuted Quakers William s son John Hathorne was one of the judges who oversaw the Salem Witch Trials One theory is that having learned about this the author added the w to his surname in his early twenties shortly after graduating from college Hawthorne's father Nathaniel Hawthorne Sr was a sea captain who died in 1808 of yellow fever when Hawthorne was only four years old in Raymond, Maine. Hawthorne attended Bowdoin College at the expense of an uncle from 1821 to 1824, befriending classmates Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and future president Franklin Pierce. While there he joined the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Until the publication of his Twice Told Tales in 1837, Hawthorne wrote in the comparative obscurity of what he called his owl's nest in the family home. As he looked back on this period of his life, he wrote, "I have not lived but only dreamed about living." And yet it was this period of brooding and writing that had formed as Malcolm Cowley was to describe it, the central fact in Hawthorne's career: his term of apprenticeship that would eventually result in the richly meditated fiction. Hawthorne was hired in 1839 as a weigher and gauger at the Boston Custom House. He had become engaged in the previous year to the illustrator and transcendentalist Sophia Peabody. Seeking a possible home for himself and Sophia, he joined the transcendentalist utopian community at Brook Farm in 1841; later that year, however, he left when he became dissatisfied with farming and the experiment. His Brook Farm adventure would prove an inspiration for his novel The Blithedale Romance. He married Sophia in 1842; they moved to The Old Manse in Concord, Massachusetts, where they lived for three years. There he wrote most of the tales collected in Mosses from an Old Manse. Hawthorne and his wife then moved to Salem and later to the Berkshires, returning in 1852 to Concord and a new home, The Wayside, previously owned by the Alcotts. Their neighbors in Concord included Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau. Like Hawthorne, Sophia was a reclusive person. She was bedridden with headaches until her sister introduced her to Hawthorne, after which her headaches seem to have abated. The Hawthornes enjoyed a long marriage, often taking walks in the park. Sophia greatly admired her husband's work. In one of her journals, she writes, "I am always so dazzled and bewildered with the richness, the depth, the jewels of beauty in his productions that I am always looking forward to a second reading where I can ponder and muse and fully take in the miraculous wealth of thoughts." In 1846, Hawthorne was appointed surveyor, determining the quantity and value of imported goods at the Salem Custom House. Like his earlier appointment to the custom house in Boston, this employment was vulnerable to the politics of the spoils system. A Democrat, Hawthorne lost this job due to the change of administration in Washington after the presidential election of 1848. Hawthorne's career as a novelist was boosted by The Scarlet Letter in 1850, in which the preface refers to his three-year tenure in the Custom House at Salem. The House of the Seven Gables (1851) and The Blithedale Romance (1852) followed in quick succession. In 1852, he wrote the campaign biography of his old friend Franklin Pierce. With Pierce's election as president, Hawthorne was rewarded in 1853 with the position of United States consul in Liverpool. In 1857, his appointment ended, and the Hawthorne family toured France and Italy. They returned to The Wayside in 1860, and that year saw the publication of The Marble Faun. Failing health, which biographer Edward Miller speculates was stomach cancer, prevented him from completing The Scarlet Letter "Annotated and Illustrated Book". The Scarlet Letter "Annotated Book" Nathaniel Hawthorne,2020-03-22 The Scarlet Letter opens with a long preamble about how the book came to be written The nameless narrator was the surveyor of the customhouse in Salem Massachusetts In the customhouse's attic he discovered a number of documents among them a manuscript that was bundled with a scarlet gold embroidered patch of cloth in the shape of an A. The manuscript the work of a past surveyor detailed events that occurred some two hundred years before the narrator's time. When the narrator lost his customs post he decided to write a fictional account of the events recorded in the manuscript. The Scarlet Letter is the final product. The story begins in seventeenth century Boston then a Puritan settlement. A young woman Hester Prynne is led from the town prison with her infant daughter Pearl in her arms and the scarlet letter A on her breast. A man in the crowd tells an elderly onlooker that Hester is being punished for adultery. Hester's husband a scholar much older than she is sent her ahead to America but he never arrived in Boston. The consensus is that he has been lost at sea. While waiting for her husband Hester has apparently had an affair as she has given birth to a child. She will not reveal her lover's identity however and the scarlet letter along with her public shaming is her punishment for her sin and her secrecy. On this day Hester is led to the town scaffold and harangued by the town fathers but she again refuses to identify her child's father. The elderly onlooker is Hester's missing husband who is now practicing medicine and calling himself Roger Chillingworth. He settles in Boston intent on revenge. He reveals his true identity to no one but Hester whom he has sworn to secrecy. Several years pass. Hester supports herself by working as a seamstress and Pearl grows into a willful impish child. Shunned by the community they live in a small cottage on the outskirts of Boston. Community officials attempt to take Pearl away from Hester but with the help of Arthur Dimmesdale a young and eloquent minister the mother and daughter manage to stay together. Dimmesdale however appears to be wasting away and suffers from mysterious heart trouble seemingly caused by psychological distress. Chillingworth attaches himself to the ailing minister and eventually moves in with him so that he can provide his patient with round the clock care. Chillingworth also suspects that there may be a connection between the minister's torments and Hester's secret and he begins to test Dimmesdale to see what he can learn. One afternoon while the minister sleeps Chillingworth discovers a mark on the man's breast the details of which are kept from the reader which convinces him that his suspicions are correct. Dimmesdale's psychological anguish deepens and he invents new tortures for himself. In the meantime Hester's charitable deeds and quiet humility have earned her a reprieve from the scorn of the community. One night when Pearl is about seven years old she and her mother are returning home from a visit to a deathbed when they encounter Dimmesdale atop the town scaffold trying to punish himself for his sins. Hester and Pearl join him and the three link hands. Dimmesdale refuses Pearl's request that he acknowledge her publicly the next day and a meteor marks a dull red A in the night sky. Hester can see that the minister's condition is worsening and she resolves to intervene. She goes to Chillingworth and asks him to stop adding to Dimmesdale's self torment. Chillingworth refuses.
