Now everyone can learn to write programs for themselves; no previous experience is necessary. Chris Pine takes a thorough but lighthearted approach that teaches you the fundamentals of computer programming with a minimum of fuss or bother. Whether you are interested in a new hobby or a new career, this book is your doorway into the world of programming. Computers are everywhere and being able to program them is more important than it has ever been. But since most books on programming are written for other programmers, it can be hard to break in. At least it used to be. Chris Pine will teach you how to program. You'll learn to use your computer better to get it to do what you want it to do. Starting with small, simple, one-line programs to calculate your age in seconds, you'll see how to write interactive programs to use APIs to fetch live data from the internet to rename your photos from your digital camera and more. You'll learn the same technology used to drive modern dynamic websites and large professional applications. Whether you are looking for a fun new hobby or are interested in entering the tech world as a professional, this book gives you a solid foundation in programming. Chris teaches the basics but also shows you how to think like a programmer. You'll learn through tons of examples and through programming challenges throughout the book. When you finish, you'll know how and where to learn more; you'll be on your way. What You Need All you need to learn how to program is a computer, Windows, macOS, or Linux, and an internet connection. Chris Pine will lead you through setting up with the software you will need to start writing programs of your own. Pop Convergence James Gabrillo, 2024 What do the power rock band Aegis, multimedia superstar Vice Ganda, queer zombie film Zombadings, and globalized movement P-Pop have in common? These subjects of Philippine pop culture embody novel convergences in aesthetics, style, tone, and thematic content culled from local, regional, and global ideas. Pop Convergence explores the contemporary pop music and related multimedia cultures of Manila, the center for commercial entertainment industries in the Philippines. At the turn of the twenty-first century, the country was recovering from decades of political mayhem and economic turbulence against a backdrop of swelling class divide and the maturation of mass media. Distinct from the somberness of nationalist anthems, Western music covers, and protest songs of prior years, the creative industries of new millennium Manila generated a multimedia movement emphasizing kitsch, parody, and overstatement. These works, author James Gabrillo claims, can be read as complex expressions of consumer fatigue, ironic self-consciousness, and instinctive reclamation of social power by the creative working class. This entertainment industry developed a buoyant system of mass culture filtered through the demands of postcolonial, postmodern Manila's broadening capitalist media enterprises. Pop Convergence locates the hallmarks and contributions of this scene within an assortment of platforms on screens, via streams, and on the streets to explore musical sequences in cinema, reality television spectacles.

melismatic power ballads song and dance contests musical comedy bars and viral virtual sensations Dissecting these arenas of musical articulation and negotiation Pop Convergence metaphorizes the interplay within Manila's contemporary networks of artistic production power and spectatorship as a complex patchwork of convergence This multimedia patchwork is framed not simply as a culmination of tradition stained by outside influence but as a fascinating force resulting from endless confrontation
