Aboriginal Writers and Popular Fiction Fiannuala Morgan, 2021-02-11 Wiradjuri woman Anita Heiss is arguably one of the first Aboriginal Australian authors of popular fiction. A focus on the political characterises her chick lit and her identity as an author is both supplemented and complemented by her roles as an academic activist and public intellectual. Heiss has discussed genre as a means of targeting audiences that may be less engaged with Indigenous affairs and positions her novels as educative but not didactic. Her readership is constituted by committed readers of romance and chick lit as well as politically engaged readers that are attracted to Heiss' dual authorial persona and both groups bring radically distinct expectations to bear on these texts. Through analysis of online reviews and surveys conducted with users of the book reviewing website Goodreads, I complicate the understanding of genre as a cogent interpretative frame and deploy this discussion to explore the social significance of Heiss' literature.

Chinese Science Fiction during the Post-Mao Cultural Thaw Hua Li, 2021-06-01 The late 1970s to the mid 1980s, a period commonly referred to as the post Mao cultural thaw, was a key transitional phase in the evolution of Chinese science fiction. This period served as a bridge between science popularization, science fiction of the 1950s and 1960s, and New Wave Chinese science fiction from the 1990s into the twenty-first century. Chinese Science Fiction during the Post Mao Cultural Thaw surveys the field of Chinese science fiction and its multimedia practice, analysing and assessing science fiction works by well-known writers such as Ye Yonglie, Zheng Wenguang, Tong Enzheng, and Xiao Jianheng, as well as the often overlooked tech science fiction writers of the post Mao thaw. Exploring the socio-political and cultural dynamics of science-related Chinese literature during this period, Hua Li combines close readings of original Chinese literary texts with literary analysis informed by scholarship on science fiction as a genre, Chinese literary history, and media studies. Li argues that this science fiction of the post Mao thaw began its rise as a type of government-backed literature yet it often stirred up controversy and received pushback as a contentious and boundary-breaking genre. Topically structured and interdisciplinary in scope, Chinese Science Fiction during the Post Mao Cultural Thaw will appeal to both scholars and fans of science fiction.
