witches and associated phenomena      Children of Lucifer Ruben van Luijk, 2016-05-02 If we are to believe sensationalist media coverage Satanism is at its most benign the purview of people who dress in black adorn themselves with skull and pentagram paraphernalia and listen to heavy metal At its most sinister its adherents are worshippers of evil incarnate and engage in violent and perverse secret rituals the details of which mainstream society imagines with a fascination verging on the obscene Children of Lucifer debunks these facile characterizations by exploring the historical origins of modern Satanism Ruben van Luijk traces the movement's development from a concept invented by a Christian church eager to demonize its internal and external competitors to a positive anti religious identity embraced by various groups in the modern West Van Luijk offers a comprehensive intellectual history of this long and unpredictable trajectory This story involves Romantic poets radical anarchists eccentric esotericists Decadent writers and schismatic exorcists among others and culminates in the establishment of the Church of Satan by carnival entertainer Anton Szandor LaVey Yet it is more than a collection of colorful characters and unlikely historical episodes The emergence of new attitudes toward Satan proves to be intimately linked to the ideological struggle for emancipation that transformed the West and is epitomized by the American and French Revolutions It is also closely connected to secularization that other exceptional historical process which saw Western culture spontaneously renounce its traditional gods and enter into a self imposed state of religious indecision Children of Lucifer makes the case that the emergence of Satanism presents a shadow history of the evolution of modern civilization as we know it Offering the most comprehensive account of this history yet written van Luijk proves that in the case of Satanism the facts are much more interesting than the fiction      British Women's History ,1996 This is one of a series of bibliographical guides designed to meet the needs of undergraduates postgraduates and their teachers in universities and colleges of further education All volumes in the series share a number of common characteristics They are selective manageable in size and include those books and articles which are considered most important and useful All are edited by practising teachers of the subject in question and are based on their experience of the needs of students The arrangement combines chronological with thematic divisions Most of the items listed receive some descriptive comment
