Newsprint Literature and Local Literary Creativity in West Africa, 1900s-1960s Stephanie Newell, 2023 Winner 2024 Gustav Ranis International Book Prize Groundbreaking examination of literary production in West African newspapers and local printing presses in the first half of the 20th century which adds an African perspective to transatlantic Black studies and shows how African newsprint creativity has shaped readers ways of imagining subjectivity and society under colonialism From their inception in the 1880s African owned newspapers in British West Africa carried an abundance of creative writing by local authors largely in English Yet to date this rich and vast array of work has largely been ignored in critical discussion of African literature and cultural history This book for the first time explores this under studied archive of ephemeral writing from serialised fiction to poetry and short stories philosophical essays articles on local history travelogues and reviews and letters and argues for its inclusion in literary genres and anglophone world literatures Combining in depth case studies of creative writing in the Ghana and Nigeria press with a major reappraisal of the Nigerian pamphlets known as Onitsha market literature and focusing on non elite authors the author examines hitherto neglected genres styles languages and crucially readerships She shows how local print cultures permeated African literary production charting changes in literary tastes and transformations to genres and styles as they absorbed elements of globally circulating English texts into formats for local consumption Offering fresh trajectories for thinking about local and transnational African literary networks while remaining attuned to local textual cultures in contexts of colonial power relations anticolonial nationalism the Cold War and global circuits of cultural exchange this important book reveals new insights into ephemeral literature as significant sites of literary production and contributes to filling a gap in scholarship on colonial West Africa

Reading Contemporary African Literature Reuben Makayiko Chirambo, J. K. S. Makokha, 2013 Reading Contemporary African Literature brings together scholarship on critical debates about and examples of reading African literature in all genres poetry fiction and drama including popular culture The anthology offers studies of African literature from interdisciplinary perspectives that employ sociological historical and ethnographic besides literary analysis of the literatures It has assembled critical and researched essays on a range of topics theoretical and empirical by renowned critics and theorists of African literature that evaluate and provide examples of reading African literature that should be of interest to academics researchers and students of African literature culture and history amongst other subjects Some of the essays examine authors that have received little or no attention to date in books on recent African literature These essays provide new insights and scholarship that should broaden and deepen our understanding and appreciation of African literature

African City Textualities Ranka

Primorac, 2013-09-13 The stereotype of Africa as a predominantly natural space ignores the existence of vibrant and cosmopolitan urban environments on the continent Far from merely embodying backwardness and lack African cities are sites of complex and diverse cultural productions which participate in modernity and its dynamics of global flows and exchanges This volume merges the concerns of urban literary and cultural studies by focusing on the flows and exchanges of texts and textual elements By analysing how texts such as popular and canonical fiction popular music self help pamphlets graffiti films journalistic writing rumours and urban legends engage with the problems of citizenship self organisation and survival the collection shows that despite all the problems of Africa its cities continue to engender forward looking creativity and hope The texts collected here belong to several different genres themselves and they are authored by both distinguished and younger scholars based in and outside of Africa The volume explores the textualities emerging from the cities of Senegal Nigeria Ghana Uganda Kenya Zambia Zimbabwe and South Africa Above all it calls for an end to disabling hierarchical categorisations of both texts and cities This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Postcolonial Writing

West African Literatures Stephanie Newell, 2006-06-08 The Oxford Studies in Postcolonial Literatures series general editor Elleke Boehmer offers stimulating and accessible introductions to definitive topics and key genres and regions within the rapidly diversifying field of postcolonial literary studies in English This study of West African literatures interweaves the analysis of fiction drama and poetry with an exploration of the broader political cultural and intellectual contexts within which West African writers work Anglophone literatures form the central focus of the book with comparative comments on vernacular literature francophone writing and oral literatures and detailed discussion of selected francophone texts in translation e g Senghor Tadjou Beyala B Sembene Moving from a discussion of nationalist and anti colonial writing in the period before independence towards the more experimental writings of contemporary authors such as Vronique Tadjou Ivory Coast Syl Cheney Coker Sierra Leone and Kojo Laing Ghana the book constantly relates texts to the social and political history of West Africa Canonical internationally well known writers such as Chinua Achebe and Wole Soyinka are positioned in relation to the literary cultures and debates which surrounded them when they first produced their seminal texts the discussions and disagreements which have grown up around their work in subsequent decades are also considered The work of new and lesser known writers is also considered including Niyi Osundare Nigeria and Kofi Anyidoho Ghana In order to convey a sense of the rich and complex societies that are clustered beneath the umbrella term postcolonial emphasis is placed on West Africa's diverse oral and popular cultures and the ways in which local intellectuals and readers have responded to the most prominent authors through the aesthetic frameworks generated by these forms

The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 Simon Gikandi, Evan Mwangi, 2007 The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 challenges the conventional belief that the English language literary traditions of

East Africa are restricted to the former British colonies of Kenya Uganda and Tanzania Instead these traditions stretch far into such neighboring countries as Somalia and Ethiopia Simon Gikandi and Evan Mwangi assemble a truly inclusive list of major writers and trends They begin with a chronology of key historical events and an overview of the emergence and transformation of literary culture in the region Then they provide an alphabetical list of major writers and brief descriptions of their concerns and achievements Some of the writers discussed include the Kenyan novelists Grace Ogot and Ngugi wa Thiong'o Ugandan poet and essayist Taban Lo Liyong Ethiopian playwright and poet Tsegaye Gabre Medhin Tanzanian novelist and diplomat Peter Palangyo Ethiopian novelist Berhane Mariam Sahle Sellassie and the novelist M G Vassanji who portrays the Indian diaspora in Africa Europe and North America Separate entries within this list describe thematic concerns such as colonialism decolonization the black aesthetic and the language question the growth of genres like autobiography and popular literature important movements like cultural nationalism and feminism and the impact of major forces such as AIDS HIV Christian missions and urbanization Comprehensive and richly detailed this guide offers a fresh perspective on the role of East Africa in the development of African and world literature in English and a new understanding of the historical cultural and geopolitical boundaries of the region

A History of Twentieth-century African Literatures Oyekan Owomoyela, 1993-01-01 African literatures says volume editor Oyekan

Owomoyela testify to the great and continuing impact of the colonizing project on the African universe African writers must struggle constantly to define for themselves and other just what Africa is and who they are in a continent constructed as a geographic and cultural entity largely by Europeans This study reflects the legacy of colonialism by devoting nine of its thirteen chapters to literature in Europhone languages English French and Portuguese Foremost among the Anglophone writers discussed are Nigerians Amos Tutuola Chinua Achebe and Wole Soyinka Writers from East Africa are also represented as are those from South Africa Contributors for this section include Jonathan A Peters Arlene A Elder John F

Povey Thomas Knipp and J Ndukaku Amankulor In African Francophone literature we see both writers inspired by the French assimilationist system and those influenced by Negritude the African culture affirmation movement Contributors here include Servanne Woodward Edris Makward and Alain Ricard African literature in Portuguese reflecting the nature of one of the most oppressive colonizing projects in Africa is treated by Russell G Hamilton Robert Cancel discusses African language literatures while Oyekan Owomoyela treats the question of the language of African literatures Carole Boyce Davies and Elaine Savory Fido focus on the special problems of African women writers while Hans M Zell deals with the broader issues of publishing censorship resources and organization

Sokomoko: Popular Culture in East Africa ,2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural authenticity and national liberation towards critical exploration of African modernities The East African public transport vehicle from which Matatu takes its name is both a component and a symbol of these modernities based on Western these days usually Japanese technology it is a vigorously African institution it is usually regarded with some anxiety by those travelling in it but is often enough the only means of transport available it creates temporary communicative communities and provides a transient site for the exchange of news storytelling and political debate Matatu is firmly committed to supporting democratic change in Africa to providing a forum for interchanges between African and European critical debates to overcoming notions of absolute cultural ethnic or religious alterity and to promoting transnational discussion on the future of African societies in a wider world Matatu will be published as journal as of 2016 All back volumes are still available in print

Introduction to African Oral Literature and Performance Bayo Ogunjimi, Abdul Rasheed Na'Allah, Abdul Rasheed Na'Allah, 2005 Rev ed of Introduction to African oral literature c1991

The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature Lokangaka Losambe, Tanure Ojaide, 2024-05-16 The Routledge Handbook of the New African Diasporic Literature introduces world literature readers to the transnational multivocal writings of immigrant African authors Covering works produced in Europe North America and elsewhere in the world this book investigates three major aesthetic paradigms in African diasporic literature the Sankofan wave late 1960s early 1990s the Janusian wave 1990s 2020s and the Offshoots of the New Arrivants those born and growing up outside Africa Written by well established and emerging scholars of African and diasporic literatures from across the world the chapters in the book cover the works of well known and not so well known Anglophone Francophone and Lusophone writers from different theoretical positionalities and critical approaches pointing out the unique innovative artistic qualities of this major subgenre of African literature The focus on the diasporic consciousness of the writers and their works sets this handbook apart from others that solely emphasize migration which is more of a process than the community of settled African people involved in the dynamic acts of living reflected in diasporic writings This book will appeal to researchers and students from across the fields of Literature Diaspora Studies African Studies Migration Studies and Postcolonial Studies Chambers's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts ,1890 Student Encyclopedia of African Literature Douglas Killam,Alicia L. Kerfoot,2007-12-30 African literature is a vast subject of growing output and interest Written especially for students this book selectively surveys the topic in a clear and accessible way Included are roughly 600 alphabetically arranged entries on writers genres and major works Many entries cite works for further reading and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography Africa is a land of contrasts and of diverse cultures and traditions It is also a land of conflict and creativity The literature of the continent draws upon a fascinating body of oral traditions and lore and also reflects the political turmoil of the modern world With the increased interest in cultural diversity and the growing centrality of Africa in world politics African literature is figuring more and more prominently in the curriculum This book helps students learn about the African literary achievement Written expressly for students this book is far more accessible than other reference works on the subject Included are nearly 600 alphabetically arranged entries on authors such as Chinua Achebe Athol Fugard Buchi Emecheta Nadine Gordimer and Wole Soyinka major works such as Things Fall Apart and Petals of Blood and individual genres such as the novel drama and poetry Many entries cite works for further reading and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography Contexts of African Literature Albert S.

Gérard,2022-06-08 Popular Music Censorship in Africa Dr Michael Drewett,Professor Martin Cloonan,2013-01-28 In Africa tension between freedom of expression and censorship in many contexts remains as contentious if not more so than during the period of colonial rule which permeated the twentieth century Over the last one hundred years popular musicians have not been free to sing about whatever they wish to and in many countries they are still not free to do so This volume brings together the latest research on censorship in colonial and post colonial Africa focusing on the attempts to censor musicians and the strategies of resistance devised by musicians in their struggles to be heard For Africa the twentieth century was characterized first and foremost by struggles for independence as colonizer and colonized struggled for territorial control Throughout this period culture was an important contested terrain in hegemonic and counter hegemonic struggles and many musicians who aligned themselves with independence movements viewed music as an important cultural weapon Musical messages were often political opposing the injustices of colonial rule Colonial governments reacted to counter hegemonic songs through repression banning songs from distribution and or broadcast while often targeting the musicians with acts of intimidation in an attempt to silence them In the post independence era a disturbing trend has occurred in which African governments have regularly continued to practise censorship of musicians However not all attempts to silence musicians have emanated from government nor has all contested music been strictly political Religious and moral rationale has also featured prominently in censorship struggles Both Christian and Muslim fundamentalism has led to extreme attempts to silence musicians In response musicians have often sought ways of getting their music and message heard despite censorship and harassment The book includes a special section on case studies that highlight issues of nationality
