Mobilizing Human Resources in the Arab World (RLE Economy of Middle East) R. Paul Shaw,2015-05-15 R Paul Shaw has travelled widely in the Arab world obtaining data and gathering impressions first hand from national and local planners In this book he identifies population and manpower problems that are likely to become more serious and more difficult to solve if they are neglected at this early stage of Arab development He focuses on five broad areas which are directly or indirectly related to mobilizing human resources and his book will be of special interest to all those who are concerned with such issues as population migration employment inequality the emancipation of women construction and agriculture Dr Shaw proposes policy directives which are sensitive to the problems as they are seen by the Arab governments themselves and sets out practical guidelines which can be used by Arab planners and policy makers An important feature of the book with respect to current literature on Arab development is that it moves away from a preoccupation with growth related investments to a concentration on development related population manpower and employment issues By bringing together such comprehensive empirical and bibliographic information it will also be invaluable as a reference source for some twenty Arab countries First published in 1983

Agrarian Change and Economic Development E.L. Jones,S.J. Woolf,2013-11-05 Agrarian Change and Economic Development is a landmark volume that examines the historical experience of the relationship between agrarian change and economic development Because agriculture was until recently man s dominant occupation scholars have traditionally drawn little attention to its immense historical importance The essays in this book redress this balance and illustrate the significance of the western world s escape from an overwhelmingly agrarian condition It is therefore an ideal work for encouraging those concerned with current problems to perceive agricultural development as professional historians see it and to question the oversimplified historical analogies commonly employed in development economics Presenting historical examples of change within particular agricultural systems and discussing their implications for national economic development both social scientists and planners less concerned with historical revision will have equal reason to welcome these case studies of the long run interaction of agrarian change and economic activity This classic book was first published in 1969
