the Epilogue supports this point It indicates a significant difference in the attitude of American exposition commissioners who were less attuned to the looming war than their European counterparts The book provides a novel assessment of modern architecture s involvement with national representation Whether in the service of Fascist Italy or of Imperial Japan of Republican Spain or of the post war Franquista regime of the French Popular Front or of socialist Yugoslavia of the arising FRG or of capitalist USA of Stalinist Russia or of post colonial Britain exposition architecture during the period in question was driven by a deep faith in its ability to represent ideology The book argues that this widespread confidence in architecture s ability to act as a propaganda tool was one of the reasons why Modernist architecture lent itself to the service of such different masters

Architects and Intellectual Culture in Post-Restoration England Matthew Walker,2017-10-13 Architects Builders and Intellectual Culture in Restoration England charts the moment when well educated well resourced English intellectuals first became interested in classical architecture in substantial numbers This occurred after the Restoration of the Monarchy in 1660 and involved people such as John Evelyn Robert Hooke Sir Christopher Wren and Roger North Matthew Walker explores how these figures treated architecture as a subject of intellectual enquiry either as writers as designers of buildings or as both In four substantial chapters it looks at how the architect was defined as a major intellectual figure how architects acquired material that allowed them to define themselves as intellectually competent architects how intellectual writers in the period handled knowledge of ancient architecture in their writing and how the design process in architecture was conceived of in theoretical writing at the time In all Walker shows that the key to understanding English architectural culture at the time is to understand how architecture was handled as knowledge and how architects were conceived of as collectors and producers of such knowledge He also makes the claim that architecture was treated as an extremely serious and important area of intellectual enquiry the result of which was that by the turn of the eighteenth century architects and architectural writers could count themselves amongst England's intellectual and cultural elite
