Jack Shadbolt and the Coastal Indian Image Marjorie M. Halpin, 2011-11-01 Jack Shadbolt was inspired in his formative years by his contact with Emily Carr and with her brooding works portraying the remnants of Indian villages against the overwhelming wilderness He made sketches of Indian artefacts and the Cowichan Reserve in the 1930s but it was only after World War II that elements of Indian art began to show up in his style Marjorie Halpin finds in the changes in the way Indian forms occur in Shadbolt's paintings an appropriate expression of the changing attitudes of British Columbians to Native society and the political will the Native people now manifest The place of Indian motifs in Shadbolt's painting can be broadly correlated with the cultural quickening of Indian society in recent years They reveal his emotional sympathy with Kwagiutl Haida and Tlingit forms and his deep response to the Indians spiritual and historic presence in the British Columbia environment

Souvenirs of the Fur Trade Mary Malloy, Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology, 2000-12-18 American mariners made more than 175 voyages to the Northwest Coast during the half century after 1787 The art and culture of Northwest Coast Indians so intrigued American sailors that the collecting of ethnographic artifacts became an important secondary trade Malloy has brought details about these early collections together for the first time

The Yuquot Whalers' Shrine Aldona Jonaitis, 1999 In 1905 George Hunt acquired a collection of materials from the Mowachaht band of the Nuuchahnulth Nootka for the American Museum of Natural History An assemblage of 92 carved wooden figures and whales 16 human skulls and the small building that sheltered them the shrine had for centuries stood in Yuquot or Friendly Cove on the remote west coast of Vancouver Island to be visited only by chiefs and their wives Since its removal to New York it has captured the imagination of individuals who have represented it in anthropological and historical writings film television video and newspapers

BOOK JACKET Aldona Jonaitis investigates and reconstructs the history of the shrine both before and after it was acquired for the museum She analyzes the various representations that have shaped the public's understanding of the shrine's significance and reviews the history of its acquisition detailing Boas's almost obsessive desire for its purchase as well as Hunt's dealings with its owners

BOOK JACKET Taking the shrine's history up to the present day Jonaitis addresses important contemporary issues including the Mowachaht's desire to have the shrine repatriated to Yuquot

BOOK JACKET The Responsive Eye Ralph T. Coe, 2003 Over the past three decades Ralph T. Coe has traveled extensively throughout the United States and Canada to assemble this collection of Native American art one of the finest in private hands today Immersed in the cultures of Native America he has come to know artists and artisans traders dealers and shop proprietors selecting the very best they have to offer The Ralph T Coe Collection includes representative pieces from most Native American geographic regions and historical periods beginning with objects dating back to the fourth millennium B C Many examples men s shirts with ermine fringe weapons and button blankets evoke the heroic lifestyle of the past while small objects such as tipi and kayak models dolls and tiny moccasins speak to a more intimate significance Ritual objects imbued with spiritual meaning masks and katsinas tablitas and medicine bundles as well as utilitarian objects such as pottery and baskets also have a strong presence This catalogue tells the stories of nearly two hundred of these objects combining art history with personal reminiscence and reveals the role Coe has played in bringing about awareness of the artistic heritage of Native America Metropolitan Museum of Art website

Adventures and Sufferings of John R. Jewitt Hilary, 2009-12-01 A Narrative of the Adventures and Sufferings of John R Jewitt is a classic of its kind In 1802 when he was nineteen Jewitt signed on the brigantine Boston which set sail from England for the Pacific Northwest Coast of North America At Nootka Sound on Vancouver Island the ship stopped to trade furs with the native people Days later the powerful chief Maquinna and his warriors massacred the ship s entire crew except for Jewitt and John Thompson Held captive as a slave for two years young Jewitt experienced adventure and hardship as he learned the language took part in many facets of native life and even married against his will Throughout it all he kept a forbidden journal recording his activities and observations Hilary Stewart enriches this reprint of Jewitt s narrative with background information on the history of the coast and a chapter on the remainder of his colourful life

Art Without Borders Ben-Ami Scharfstein, 2009-08-01 People all over the world make art and take pleasure in it and they have done so for millennia But acknowledging that art is a universal part of human experience leads us to some big questions Why does it exist Why do we enjoy it And how do the world s different art traditions relate to art and to each other Art Without Borders is an extraordinary exploration of those questions a profound and personal meditation on the human hunger for art and a dazzling synthesis of the whole range of inquiry into its significance Esteemed thinker Ben Ami Scharfstein s encyclopedic erudition is here brought to bear on the full breadth of the world of art He draws on neuroscience and psychology to understand the way we both perceive and conceive of art including its resistance to verbal exposition Through examples of work by Indian Chinese European African and Australian artists Art Without Borders probes the distinction between accepting a tradition and defying it through innovation which leads to a consideration of the notion of artistic genius Continuing in this comparative vein Scharfstein examines the mutual influence of European and non European artists Then through a comprehensive evaluation of the world's major art cultures he shows how all of these individual traditions are gradually but haltingly conjoining into a single current of universal art Finally he concludes by looking at the ways empathy and intuition can allow members of one culture to appreciate the art of another Lucid learned and incomparably rich in thought and detail Art Without Borders is a monumental accomplishment on par with the artistic achievements Scharfstein writes about so lovingly in its pages
