Subject Cataloging Division,1980 Sunset ,1904 How Places Make Us Japonica Brown-Saracino,2018 Maybe we ve had enough of studies of gay men and urban centers tracing out the similarities from one place to the next Japonica Brown Saracino bucks the trend giving us the first in depth study of lesbians and bisexual queer women more generally showing how four contrasting communal cultures have shaped their identity Individual lesbian residents shape the culture of sexual identity they embrace based at the same time on the prevailing culture in the city they inhabit And the consequence is that the same woman will develop a different version of lesbian identity depending on which of the four cities she moves into Those cities are Ithaca New York San Luis Obispo California Greenfield Massachusetts and Portland Maine She identifies them in the book a rare move for ethnographers thus insuring a coast to coast readership with lots of debate This book advances in almost equal measure sexuality and gender studies theories of identity theories of place and urban sociology Each city has its own loose bundles or connections between residents whether it s the taste based ties in Ithaca or the ties in San Luis Obispo that cut across demographics or the conversations about identity that prevail in Portland or the emphasis Greenfield on other dimensions of the self e g profession politics or life stage such as motherhood Along the way Brown Saracino poses a set of questions from urban sociology about migration residential choice and community change processes that students of cities rarely apply to sexual minority populations

Tole Painting Adventures in Alaska Judy Farnham,2018-01-10 After many years I am still a member of the National Society of Decorative Painters and support them by attending the conventions I took a look at the pictures of my creations and asked myself what I should do with them It was at this time that I decided to share them in a book with others I hope this book inspires you to enjoy painting as much as I do Framing the Sacred Eleanor Wake,2012-11-08 Christian churches erected in Mexico during the early colonial era represented the triumph of European conquest and religious domination Or did they Building on recent research that questions the cultural conquest of Mesoamerica Eleanor Wake shows that colonial Mexican churches also reflected the beliefs of the indigenous communities that built them European authorities failed to recognize that the meaning of the edifices they so admired was being challenged pre Columbian iconography integrated into Christian imagery altars oriented toward indigenous sacred landmarks and carefully recycled masonry In Framing the Sacred

Wake examines how the art and architecture of Mexico's religious structures reveals the indigenous people's own decisions regarding the conversion program and their accommodation of the Christian message. As Wake shows, native peoples selected aspects of the invading culture to secure their own culture's survival. In focusing on anomalies present in indigenous art and their relationship to orthodox Christian iconography, she draws on a wide geographical sampling across various forms of Indian artistic expression, including religious sculpture and painting, innovative architectural detail, cartography, and devotional poetry. She also offers a detailed analysis of documented native ritual practices that she argues assist in the interpretation of the imagery. With more than 200 illustrations, including 24 in color, Framing the Sacred is the most extensive study to date of the indigenous aspects of these churches and fosters a more complete understanding of Christianity's influence on Mexican peoples.
