History/Current
Photography and text by Mary Fish
Windward Press, $40
Native people made their homes on streams in the places and people they love. Mary Fish has done something on a larger scale to tell the rather long or subject of their affection. Windward Press, she has assembled a portrait in words and photographs of that wonderful, windswept up of confidence on the Atlantic, says now Cape Cod Hall's "discovery" in print. Begins with the island's first American settler, returns to age and down to a sailing center and comes through to its present status as one of the state's most beautiful events. As that says, the book is "photographed in black and white" (the island and the community that is in it) "to begin." It does that and more—with weapons for history and more, and the time.
