Varley Katerina Atanassova, 2007-03-30 Frederick Horsman Varley was unique among the members of the Group of Seven One of the greatest Canadian portraitists of the twentieth century he is an intriguing example of an artist who despite his fame as a portrait painter remains better known for his landscapes This is due mainly to his position as one of the founding members of the Group of Seven and their deliberate attempt to raise awareness of our national identity by depicting the Canadian landscape Even though many public collections across the country including the National Gallery of Canada the Art Gallery of Ontario and the Vancouver Art Gallery display some of Varley's best known portraits these works do not easily fit into the conventional mould of the Group of Seven. Nearly four decades after his death Varley's portraits are still not fully acknowledged. The release of this beautifully illustrated bilingual volume coincides with the opening of an unprecedented exhibition of his portraiture.

Theophile Gautier, Orator to the Artists James Kearns, 2017-12-02

Theophile Gautier a envoyé avec un feuillet plus de trois mille personnes dans l'atelier de M. Ingres wrote Champfleury in 1848. For artists, critics and readers alike Gautier was the essential figure in French art journalism in the mid nineteenth century. During the short lived but pivotal period of the Second Republic when the new administration was committed to reforming all the institutions of the fine arts Gautier deployed the full resources of his brilliant flexible and authoritative writing to support and direct these developments in ways compatible with his commitment to an idealist aesthetic itself under growing pressure from alternative trends in an increasingly competitive art market. This first study of all Gautier's art journalism written during the Second Republic provides a long overdue reassessment of Gautier's importance in French nineteenth century visual culture.

Arabic-Type Books Printed in Wallachia, Istanbul, and Beyond Radu-Andrei Dîpratu, Samuel Noble, 2024-01-29

This first volume of Collected Works of the ERC Project TYPARABIC focuses on the history of printing during the 18th century in the Ottoman Empire and the Romanian Principalities among diverse linguistic and confessional communities. Although most roads lead to Istanbul the many pathways of early modern Ottoman printing also connected authors, readers and printers from Central and South Eastern Europe, Western Europe and the Levant. The papers included in this volume are grouped in three sections. The first focuses on the first Turkish language press in the Ottoman capital examining the personality and background of its founder Ibrahim M. Teferrikan, the legal issues it faced and its context within the multilingual Istanbul printing world. The second section brings together studies of printing and readership in Central and South East Europe in Romanian, Greek and Arabic. The final section is made up of studies of the Arabic liturgical and biblical texts that were the main focus of Patriarch Athanasios III Dabb's efforts in the Romanian Principalities and Aleppo. This volume will be of interest to scholars of the history of printing, Ottoman social history, Christian Arabic literature and Eastern Orthodox liturgy.
