Smith, 2017-04-12 For two decades students and instructors have relied on award winning author Craig Smith s detailed description and analysis of rhetorical theories and the historical contexts for major thinkers who advanced them He employs key themes from important philosophical schools in this well researched chronicle of rhetoric and human consciousness One is that rhetoric is a response to uncertainty The modern philosophers like the naturalists of ancient Greece and the Scholastics who preceded them tried to end uncertainty by combining the discoveries of science and psychology with rationalism Their aim was progress and a consensus among experts as to what truth is However where modernism proved ineffective rhetoric was revived to fill the breach Another significant theme is that different conceptions of human consciousness lead to different theories of rhetoric and for every major school of thought another school of thought forms in reaction Classic and contemporary examples demonstrate the usefulness of rhetorical theory especially its ability to inform and guide By providing probes for rhetorical criticism discussions also demonstrate that rhetorical criticism illustrates verifies and refines rhetorical theory Thus the synergistic relationship between theory and criticism in rhetoric is no different than in other arts Theory informs practice analysis of successful practice refines theory Smith s absorbing study has been expanded to include thorough treatments of rhetoric in the Romantic Era feminist and queer theory and historical context for the creation of

Rhetoric and Philosophy Richard A. Cherwitz, Henry W. Johnstone Jr., 2014-06-03 This important volume explores alternative ways in which those involved in the field of speech communication have attempted to find a philosophical grounding for rhetoric Recognizing that rhetoric can be supported in a wide variety of ways this text examines eight different philosophies of rhetoric realism relativism rationalism idealism materialism existentialism deconstructionism and pragmatism The value of this book lies in its pluralistic and comparative approach to rhetorical theory Although rhetoric may be the more difficult road to philosophy the fact that it is being traversed by a group of authors largely from speech communication demonstrates important growth in this field Ultimately there is recognition that if different thinkers can have solid reasons to adhere to disparate philosophies serious communication problems can be eliminated Rhetoric and Philosophy will assist scholars in choosing from among the many philosophical starting places for rhetoric

Vain Rhetoric Gary D. Salyer, 2001-06-01 The Book of Ecclesiastes like many ancient and modern first person discourses generates ambivalent responses in its readers The book's rhetorical strategy produces both acceptance of and suspicion towards the major positions argued by the author Vain rhetoric aptly describes the persuasive and dissuasive properties of the narrator's peculiar characterization It also describes how the Book of Ecclesiastes with its abundant use of rhetorical questions constant gapping techniques and other strategies from the arsenal of ambiguity is a stunning testimony to the power of the various strategies of indirection to communicate to the reader something of his or her own rhetorical liabilities and limitations as well as those of the religious community in general

Rhetorical Animals Kristian Bjørkdahl, Alex C. Parrish, 2017-11-30 For this edited volume the editors solicited chapters that investigate the place of nonhuman animals in the purview of rhetorical theory what it would mean to communicate beyond the human community how rhetoric reveals our brute roots In other words this book investigates themes that enlighten us about likely or possible implications of the animal turn within rhetorical studies The present book is unique in its focus on the call for nonanthropocentrism in rhetorical studies Although there have been many hints in recent years that rhetoric is beginning to consider the implications of the animal turn as yet no other anthology makes this its explicit starting point and sustained objective Thus the various contributions to this book promise to further the ongoing debate about what rhetoric might be after it sheds its long standing humanistic bias

Rhetorical Speculations Scott Sundvall, 2019-04-15 The future of writing studies is fundamentally tied to advancing technological development writing cannot be done without a technology and different technologies mediate writing differently In Rhetorical Speculations contributors engage with emerging technologies of composition through speculative modeling as a strategy for anticipatory futural thinking for rhetoric and writing studies Rhetoric and writing studies often engages technological shifts reactively after the production and reception of rhetoric and writing has changed This collection allows rhetoric and writing scholars to explore modes of critical speculation into the transformative effect of emerging technologies particularly as a means to speculate on future shifts in the intellectual pedagogical and institutional frameworks of the field In doing so the project repositions rhetoric and writing scholars as proprietors of our technological future to come rather than as secondary receivers critics and adjusters of the technological present Major and emerging voices in the field offer a range of styles that include pragmatic technical and philosophical approaches to the issue of speculative rhetoric exploring what new media writing studies could be theoretically pedagogically and institutionally as future technologies begin to impinge on the work of writing Rhetorical Speculations is at the cutting edge of the subject of futures thinking and will have broad appeal to scholars of rhetoric literacy futures studies and material and popular culture Contributors Bahareh Brittany Alaei Sarah J Arroyo Kristine L Blair Geoffrey V Carter Sid Dobrin Kristie S Fleckenstein Steve Holmes Kyle Jensen Halcyon Lawrence Alexander Monea Sean Morey Alex Reid Jeff Rice Gregory L Ulmer Anna Worm Toward a Phenomenological Rhetoric Barbara Couture, 1998 Current rhetorical and critical theory for the most part separates writing from consciousness and presumes relative truth to be the only possible expressive goal for rhetoric These presumptions are reflected in our tradition of persuasive rhetoric which values writing that successfully argues one person's belief at the expense of another's Barbara Couture presents a case for a phenomenological rhetoric one that values and respects consciousness and selfhood and that restores to rhetoric the possibility of seeking an all embracing truth through pacific and cooperative interaction Couture discusses the premises on which current interpretive theory has supported relative truth as the philosophical grounding for rhetoric premises she argues that have led to constraints on our notion of truth that divorce it from human experience She then shows how phenomenological philosophy might guide the theory and practice of rhetoric reanimating its role in the human enterprise of seeking a shared truth She proposes profession and altruism as two guiding metaphors for the phenomenological activity of truth seeking through interaction Among the contemporary rhetoricians and philosophers who influence Couture are Pierre Teilhard de Chardin Martin Buber Charles Altieri Charles Taylor Alasdair MacIntyre and Jürgen Habermas The Rhetoric of the Conscience in Donne, Herbert, and Vaughan Ceri

Sullivan, 2008-09-11 In the first book for over a decade to deal with the issue of conscience in metaphysical poetry Ceri Sullivan draws on theology poetics and rhetoric in detailed readings of the works of Donne Herbert and Vaughan She shows that these poets see the conscience as part theirs part God's and respond uncomfortably to failures in its workings

Rhetorics and Hermeneutics James D. Hester, David Hester, 2004-01-01 This collection of essays provides original studies of various New Testament texts read through the eyes of rhetorical criticism as well as a tribute to the continuing influence of Wilhelm Wuellner and his work Rhetoric in an Antifoundational World Professor Michael F

Bernard-Donals, Michael F. Bernard-Donals, Richard R. Glejzer, 1998-01-01 In this brilliant collection literary scholars philosophers and teachers inquire into the connections between antifoundational philosophy and the rhetorical tradition What happens to literary studies and theory when traditional philosophical foundations are disavowed What happens to the study of teaching and writing when antifoundationalism is accepted What strategies for human understanding are possible when the weaknesses of antifoundationalism are identified This volume offers answers in classic essays by such thinkers as Richard Rorty Terry Eagleton and Stanley Fish and in many new essays never published before The contributors to this book explore the nexus of antifoundationalism and rhetoric critique that nexus and suggest a number of pedagogical and theoretical alternatives The editors place these statements into a context that is both critical and evaluative and they provide for voices that dissent from the antifoundational perspective and that connect specific practical pedagogies to the broader philosophical statements For those with an interest in rhetoric philosophy comparative literature or the teaching of composition this book sets forth a wealth of thought provoking ideas I have nothing but praise for this work a masterful treatment of the question What positive intellectual projects are possible within a world that radically questions the existence of philosophical foundations Steven Mailloux University of California Irvine
