Rhymes and More Rhymes of a Pfc Lincoln Kirstein, 1966 Rhymes of a Pfc Lincoln Kirstein, 1980 Visions of War M. Paul Holsinger, Mary Anne Schofield, 1992 For Americans World War II was a good war a war that was worth fighting Even as the conflict was underway a myriad of both fictional and nonfictional books began to appear examining one or another of the raging battles These essays examine some of the best literature and popular culture of World War II Many of the studies focus on women several are about children and all concern themselves with the ways that the war changed lives While many of the contributors concern themselves with the United States there are essays about Great Britain Canada France Germany Poland Russia and Japan War and American Popular Culture M. Paul Holsinger, 1999-01-30 Spanning more than 400 years of America's past this book brings together for the first time entries on the ways Americans have mythologized both the many wars the nation has fought and the men and women connected with those conflicts Focusing on significant representations in popular culture it provides information on fiction drama poems songs film and television art memorials photographs documentaries and cartoons From the colonial wars before 1775 to our 1997 peacekeeper role in Bosnia the work briefly explores the historical background of each war period enabling the reader to place the almost 500 entries into their proper context The book includes particularly large sections dealing with the popular culture of the American Revolution the Civil War the Indian Wars West of the Mississippi World War II and Vietnam It has been designed to be a useful reference tool for anyone interested in America's many wars to provide answers to teach to inspire and most of all to be enjoyed Words to Measure a War David K. Vaughan, 2009-04-23 This is a study of the war poetry of nine American men who served in World War II The efforts of those who had established themselves as poets prior to or during the war Karl Shapiro Randall Jarrell John Ciardi and William Meredith are compared with those whose poetic careers began after the war Louis Simpson James Dickey Richard Hugo Howard Nemerov and Lincoln Kirstein The military careers of these soldiers illuminate how their experiences affected the content as well as style of their poems Each man's poetry directly related to his involvement with the combat environment the closer the combat experience the more personal the poetry the more distant the experience the more detached the poetry Military Review, 2010 Review of Current Military Literature, 2010 Professional Journal of the United States Army, 2010 Writers Directory NA NA, 2016-03-05 Not Without Glory Vernon Scannell, 2013-10-28 First published in 1976 Poets from Homer and Virgil to Tennyson and Hardy have written much about armed conflict on land and sea but it was not until the end of the First World War that the term War Poetry was used to describe not merely that verse which took war as its subject but a kind of poetry which had not been written before a literature which did not celebrate the martial virtues but one which was created by those who had endured battle and described in exact and often brutal terms just what it was like to be a fighting man in the first Great War of the twentieth century This is a collection of essays on the following poets Keith Douglas Alun Lewis Sidney Keyes Roy

Fuller Alan Ross and Charles Causley Henry Reed and others and American Poets of the Second World War Wartime
Paul Fussell, 1990-10-25 Winner of both the National Book Award for Arts and Letters and the National Book Critics Circle Award for Criticism Paul Fussell's The Great War and Modern Memory was one of the most original and gripping volumes ever written about the First World War Frank Kermode in The New York Times Book Review hailed it as an important contribution to our understanding of how we came to make World War I part of our minds and Lionel Trilling called it simply one of the most deeply moving books I have read in a long time In its panoramic scope and poetic intensity it illuminated a war that changed a generation and revolutionized the way we see the world Now in Wartime Fussell turns to the Second World War the conflict he himself fought in to weave a narrative that is both more intensely personal and more wide ranging Whereas his former book focused primarily on literary figures on the image of the Great War in literature here Fussell examines the immediate impact of the war on common soldiers and civilians He describes the psychological and emotional atmosphere of World War II He analyzes the euphemisms people needed to deal with unacceptable reality the early belief for instance that the war could be won by precision bombing that is by long distance he describes the abnormally intense frustration of desire and some of the means by which desire was satisfied and most important he emphasizes the damage the war did to intellect discrimination honesty individuality complexity ambiguity and wit Of course no Fussell book would be complete without some serious discussion of the literature of the time He examines for instance how the great privations of wartime when oranges would be raffled off as valued prizes resulted in roccoco prose styles that dwelt longingly on lavish dinners and how the high mindedness of the era and the almost pathological need to accentuate the positive led to the downfall of the acerbic H L Mencken and the ascent of E B White He also offers astute commentary on Edmund Wilson's argument with Archibald MacLeish Cyril Connolly's Horizon magazine the war poetry of Randall Jarrell and Louis Simpson and many other aspects of the wartime literary world Fussell conveys the essence of that wartime as no other writer before him For the past fifty years the Allied War has been sanitized and romanticized almost beyond recognition by the sentimental the loony patriotic the ignorant and the bloodthirsty Americans he says have never understood what the Second World War was really like In this stunning volume he offers such an understanding Lincoln Kirstein Ashley Lefrak, 2007 The Way it Wasn't James Laughlin, 2006 Lavishly illustrated The Way It Wasn't offers an intimate firsthand encounter with 20th century Modernism from the extraordinary man who defined it for America Making Ballet American Andrea Harris, 2018 Situating ballet within twentieth century modernism this book brings complexity to the history of George Balanchine's American neoclassicism It intervenes in the prevailing historical narrative and rebalances Balanchine's role in dance history by revealing the complex social cultural and political forces that actually shaped the construction of American neoclassical ballet The Warrior Image Andrew J. Huebner, 2011-12-01 Images of war saturated American culture between the 1940s and the 1970s as U S troops marched off to battle in World War II the Korean War and the Vietnam War

Exploring representations of servicemen in the popular press government propaganda museum exhibits literature film and television Andrew Huebner traces the evolution of a storied American icon the combat soldier Huebner challenges the pervasive assumption that Vietnam brought drastic changes in portrayals of the American warrior with the jaded serviceman of the 1960s and 1970s shown in stark contrast to the patriotic citizen soldier of World War II In fact Huebner shows cracks began to appear in sentimental images of the military late in World War II and were particularly apparent during the Korean conflict Journalists filmmakers novelists and poets increasingly portrayed the steep costs of combat depicting soldiers who were harmed rather than hardened by war isolated from rather than supported by their military leadership and American society Across all three wars Huebner argues the warrior image conveyed a growing cynicism about armed conflict the federal government and Cold War militarization Intimate Companions David Leddick, 2015-11-24 Leddick makes a strong case for why his subjects remain vital and important American artists Publishers Weekly Photographer George Platt Lynes painter Paul Cadmus and critic Lincoln Kirstein played a major role in creating the institutions of the American art world from the late 1920s to the early 1950s The three created a remarkable world of gay aesthetics and desire in art with the help of their overlapping circle of friends lovers and collaborators Through hours of conversation with surviving members of their circle and unprecedented access to papers journals and previously unreleased photos David Leddick has resurrected the influences of this now vanished art world along with the lives and loves of all three artists in this groundbreaking biography

Stealing the Mystic Lamb Noah Charney, 2010-10-05 Jan van Eyck's Ghent Altarpiece is on any art historian's list of the ten most important paintings ever made Often referred to by the subject of its central panel The Adoration of the Mystic Lamb it represents the fulcrum between the Middle Ages and the Renaissance It is also the most frequently stolen artwork of all time Since its completion in 1432 this twelve panel oil painting has been looted in three different wars burned dismembered forged smuggled illegally sold censored hidden attacked by iconoclasts hunted by the Nazis and Napoleon used as a diplomatic tool ransomed rescued by Austrian double agents and stolen a total of thirteen times In this fast paced real life thriller art historian Noah Charney unravels the stories of each of these thefts In the process he illuminates the whole fascinating history of art crime and the psychological ideological religious political and social motivations that have led many men to covet this one masterpiece above all others The Complete Works of W. H. Auden: Prose, v. 6, 1969-1973. A certain world ; Essays and reviews, 1969-1973 ; Forewords and afterwords ; Addenda to previous volumes ; Appendices ; Textual notes Wystan Hugh Auden, 1988 Forewords and Afterwords W. H. Auden, 1990-02-19 The essays in this collection were written as reviews mainly for The New York Review of Books and The New Yorker on books by or about Alexander Pope Vincent van Gogh Thomas Mann Virginia Woolf Oscar Wilde and A E Housman or as introductions to editions of the classical Greek writers the Protestant mystics Shakespeare Goethe Kierkegaard Tennyson Grimm and Andersen Poe G K Chesterton Paul Valéry and others Throughout these prose pieces reveal the same wit and intelligence as well as the vision that sparked the brilliance of Auden's poetry Art in America 1945-1970 (LOA #259) Various, 2014-10-09 Experience the creative explosion that transformed American art in the words of the artists, writers and critics who were there. In the quarter century after the end of World War II a new generation of painters, sculptors and photographers transformed the face of American art and shifted the center of the art world from Paris to New York. Signaled by the triumph of abstraction and the ascendancy of painters such as Pollock, Rothko, de Kooning and Kline, this revolution generated an exuberant and contentious body of writing without parallel in our cultural history. In the words of editor, art critic and historian Jed Perl, there has never been a period when the visual arts have been written about with more mongrel energy, with more unexpected mixtures of reportage, rhapsody, analysis, advocacy, editorializing and philosophy. In this Library of America volume, Perl gathers for the first time the most vibrant contemporary accounts of this momentous period by artists, critics, poets, gallery owners and other observers conveying the sweep and energy of a cultural scene dominated in the poet James Schuyler's words by the floods of paint in whose crashing surf we all scramble. Here are statements by the most significant artists and major critical essays by Clement Greenberg, Susan Sontag, Hilton Kramer and other influential figures. Here too is an electrifying array of responses by poets and novelists reflecting the free interplay between different art forms: John Ashbery on Andy Warhol, James Agee on Helen Levitt, James Baldwin on Beauford Delaney, Truman Capote on Richard Avedon, Tennessee Williams on Hans Hofmann and Jack Kerouac on Robert Frank. The atmosphere of the time comes to vivid life in memoirs, diaries and journalism by Peggy Guggenheim, Dwight Macdonald, Calvin Tomkins and others. Lavishly illustrated with scores of black and white images and a 32-page color insert, this is a book that every art lover will treasure.
