Harker,2012-12-06 3 While all of these explanations seem to have merit there is one dominant reason why the percentage of GDP and employment dedicated to services has continued to increase low productivity According to Baumol's cost disease hypothesis Baumol Blackman and Wolff 1991 the growth in services is actually an illusion The fact is that service sector productivity is improving slower than that of manufacturing and thus it seems as if we are consuming more services in nominal terms However in real terms we are consuming slightly less services That is the increase in the service sector is caused by low productivity relative to manufacturing The implication of Baumol's cost disease is the following Assuming historical productivity increases for manufacturing agriculture education and health care Baumol 1992 shows that the U S can triple its output in all sectors within 50 years However due to the higher productivity level for manufacturing and agriculture it will take substantially more employment in services to achieve this increase in output To put this argument in perspective simply roll back the clock 100 years or so and replace the words manufacturing with agriculture and services with manufacturing The phenomenal growth in agricultural productivity versus manufacturing caused the employment levels in agriculture in the U S to decrease rapidly while producing a truly unbelievable amount of food It is the low productivity of services that is the real culprit in its growth of GDP and employment share     Sustainable. Resilient. Free. John Warner,2020-12-08 After the coronavirus pandemic has laid bare the unsustainability of our public higher education system an author and educator maps out a path for change In 1983 U S News and World Report started to rank colleges and universities throwing them into competition with each other for students and precious resources Over the course of the next thirty or so years a Reagan era ethos of privatization and competition transformed students into consumers and colleges into businesses Now tuition is unaffordable Student loan debt is more than 1.6 trillion and most college faculty work in adjunct positions for low pay and with no job security Colleges seem to exist only to enroll students collect tuition and hold classes When learning happens it is in spite of the system not because of it In Sustainable Resilient Free John Warner envisions a future in which our public colleges and universities are reoriented around enhancing the intellectual social and economic potentials of students while providing broad based benefits to the community at large As Warner explains it's not even all that complicated It's no more costly than the current system We just have to choose to live the values we claim to hold dear A critical read for anyone invested in the future of public higher education     A Manifesto for Excellence in Schools Rob Carpenter, 2018-10-18 Rob Carpenter took a school from Special Measures to Outstanding in less than two years and firmly believes that the quality of teaching and leadership holds the key to raising standards in our schools today A Manifesto for Excellence in Schools will help all teachers and leaders to transform learning journeys both individual and whole school so that your school is inclusive and supportive creating the best education for all This book suggests new ways to ensure that all children succeed and advocates that learning journeys are connected to a moral purpose positive learning habits and that they help young people make sense of the world around them Framed around the context of ever increasing expectations for pupils and the growing focus on learning mastery A Manifesto for Excellence in Schools contains a balance of both practical advice and multiple examples resources and ideas for teachers and leaders to plan and deliver high quality learning experiences At its heart this book is all about helping teachers and leaders to become architects for learning by helping them to design classrooms curricula and whole school practices that are inclusive engaging and above all excellent     Gifted Students and Inclusion Sarah Schaffer, 1996 Contains journal articles and excerpts from books published between 1993 and 1996     Schools and Cultural Citizenship Pat Thomson, Christine Hall, 2023-02-24 Why study the arts at school This book offers a fresh perspective on this question Informed by rigorous research the book argues that the arts help young people to develop key skills knowledge and practices that support them to become both critical appreciative audiences and socially engaged cultural producers Drawing on a three year study in partnership with the Royal Shakespeare Company and Tate art museum Schools and Cultural Citizenship sets out an ecological model for cultural citizenship that goes beyond the classroom to include families the media and popular culture The authors introduce new interrelated concepts to change how we consider arts education Chapters provide fresh insights guidance and practical recommendations for educators including An introduction to the Tracking Arts Learning and Engagement research Detailed case studies featuring arts rich schools and arts broker teachers Analysis of the importance of immersive professional development for teachers and the benefits of partnerships with arts organisations An ecological model for cultural citizenship Focusing on the ways in which cultural citizenship can be taught and learnt this is an essential read for arts educators education staff in arts organisations researchers postgraduate students arts education activists and policy makers     The Pitfalls of Reform John

Tanner, 2013-12-16 The systems that make up the accountability package in education standards assessments and the quality determination for a school have each entered the educational field under the explicit assumption by their creators that they would drive educator behavior in a positive way But what if that isn't actually the case What if each of the components was actually designed for another purpose entirely and now is tasked with a role that was never considered in its design If that is the case those who put the systems in place risk expecting a result that the system was never designed to produce That is exactly where we find ourselves today In education the misalignment between what the systems were designed to do and the intent of those who selected them is masked in the sheer complexity of the educational exercise What this book does so marvelously is unravel that complexity and present the contradictions in a clear coherent manner Understanding these contradictions is the first step towards actual improvement
