Rich Nations - Poor Nations Derek Howard Aldcroft, 1994

Should Rich Nations Help the Poor? David Hulme, 2016-09-07 In the past decade the developed world has spent almost US 2 trillion on foreign aid for poorer countries Yet 1.2 billion people still live in extreme poverty and around 2.9 billion cannot meet their basic human needs But should rich nations continue to help the poor In this short book leading global poverty analyst David Hulme explains why helping the world's neediest communities is both the right thing to do and the wise thing to do if rich nations want to take care of their own citizens future welfare The real question is how best to provide this help The way forward Hulme argues is not conventional foreign aid but trade finance and environmental policy reform But this must happen alongside a change in international social norms so that we all recognise the collective benefits of a poverty free world

Global Marshall Plan James A. Yunker, 2014-08-14 Today's foreign aid programs are small scale because of the widespread belief that they are ineffective This could be an example of a self fulfilling prophecy small scale virtually guarantees ineffectiveness However the pervasive contemporary pessimism regarding global economic inequality is most likely unfounded The research described in this book suggests that a properly designed and sufficiently massive economic development assistance project a Global Marshall Plan could tremendously reduce the economic gap between the richest and poorest nations within a 50 year planning period Enrichment of the poor nations would not entail impoverishment of the rich nations The actual cost of the GMP program to the populations of the rich nations would be a very slight and virtually unnoticeable reduction in the rate of growth of their living standards The model incorporates features suggested by the skeptical literature on foreign aid and it is shown that if certain key parameter values are sufficiently adverse the GMP would indeed be ineffective However extensive sensitivity analysis demonstrates that the optimistic benchmark results are robust against wide variations in the numerical values of most model parameters The fundamental policy implication of this research is that only an actual real world experiment with a Global Marshall Plan could reliably determine whether or not it would be successful

Climate Justice Henry Shue, 2014-06-12 The fruit of twenty years of moral reflection on the emerging greatest challenge to humanity of the 21st century these far sighted and influential essays by a pioneering practical philosopher on the tangled questions of justice between nations and justice across generations confronting all attempts at international cooperation in controlling climate change sharply crystallize the central choices and offer constructive directions forward Arguing that persistent attempts by U S negotiators to avoid the fundamental issues of justice at the heart of persistent international disagreement on the terms of a binding multilateral treaty are as morally misguided as they are diplomatically counter productive Henry Shue has built a case that efforts to price carbon through cap and trade or carbon taxes as a mechanism to drive down greenhouse gas emissions by the affluent must for both ethical and political reasons be complemented by international transfers that temporarily subsidize the development of non carbon energy and its dissemination to those trapped in poverty Our vital escape from climate change rooted in the dominance of the fossil fuel regime ought not and in fact need not come at the price of de railing the escape of the world s poorest from poverty rooted in lack of affordable energy that does not undermine the climate The momentum of changes in the planetary climate system and the political inertia of energy regimes mean that future generations like the poorest of the present are vulnerable to our decisions and they have rights not to be left helpless by those of us with the power instead to leave them hope

The New Geography of Global Income Inequality Glenn Firebaugh, 2009-07 The surprising finding of this book is that contrary to conventional wisdom global income inequality is decreasing Critics of globalization and others maintain that the spread of consumer capitalism is dramatically polarizing the worldwide distribution of income But as the demographer Glenn Firebaugh carefully shows income inequality for the world peaked in the late twentieth century and is now heading downward because of declining income inequality across nations Furthermore as income inequality declines across nations it is rising within nations though not as rapidly as it is declining across nations Firebaugh claims that this historic transition represents a new geography of global income inequality in the twenty first century This book documents the new geography describes its causes and explains why other analysts have missed one of the defining features of our era a transition in inequality that is reducing the importance of where a person is born in determining his or her future well being

Breaking the Boundaries B. Sanyal, 2013-03-09 Exploring the complex arena of international planning for development has until now been uniquely the privilege of influential senior western planners This book calls into question many of their hallowed principles and much of the conventional wisdom still evident in the halls of academe At a time of increasing enrollment of foreign students in North American planning programs the emergence of a new voice has coincided with a growing skepticism worldwide about old notions of planning and development in poorer and ex colonial countries Now there is a need for brave innovations to reshape our understanding of the global crisis and the potential for progressive and democratic local solutions in both rich and poor nations alike This new voice is given expression by academics and professionals from Third World nations who received their planning education in the west and who now hold posts in major western planning schools Breaking the Boundaries presents their views and those of concerned colleagues about the need for a radically changed curriculum based on a comparative one world approach to planning education Their personal experiences as young expatriate scholars and later as teachers of both Third World and First World students in western planning schools are seen as crucial to this need for change Through candid reflections and perceptive critiques of their own field the spatial environmental social design and communications disciplines the contributors explore crucial issues in development planning from theoretical and professional practice perspectives

Crisis & Response Noordin Sopiee, B.A. Hamzah, Leong Choon Heng, 2013-09-05 First Published in 1989 It was time for countries of the South to establish a body of men who would help chart the way forward for the world's developing countries of Africa and Latin America This volume has been developed from the time when Third World Foundation and the Malaysian Institute of Strategic and International Studies convened in Kuala Lumpur a meeting of 100 scholars and statesmen from 23 countries of the South in May 1986 called South South II Charting the Way Forward and actions by the Steering Group since

From Dependency To Development Heraldo Munoz, 2019-04-09 Although much has been written on the concept nature and implications of dependency in underdeveloped countries there is a noticeable lack of comprehensive material on dependency reversal the ways and circumstances under which dependency and underdevelopment can be overcome Dr Munoz brings together in a coherent volume the alternative strategies for dependency reversal that have been posed by leading social scientists the emphasis is on commonalities differences and theoretical and practical derivations The book outlines the basic features of the dependency literature and clarifies the emergence and development of the dependency paradigm its meaning and its differences from other theoretical perspectives on underdevelopment New aspects of dependency situations are also introduced Significant alternatives to dependency are offered taking into account varying geographical ideological and functional factors Though no claim is made that all existing answers to development are included this is clearly the most complete work available to date Holy Scriptures in Judaism, Christianity and Islam H. M. Vroom, Jerald D. Gort, 1997

Holy Scriptures in Judaism, Christianity and Islam, 2023-09-20 One of the prime issues that needs to be addressed in dialogical encounter between the three monotheistic faiths of the world is that concerning the authority and interpretation of Holy Writ since Jews Christians and Muslims alike consider their Scriptures to be divine revelation It is incumbent upon each of these religions to apprise itself of the hermeneutical approach employed by the others in ascribing current meaning to ancient scriptural texts This is not only important as a means for the enhancement of inter religious understanding but is also of great interest to society at large What role does the Jewish Bible the Christian Bible and the Qu ran play in the thinking and the lives of contemporary Jews Christians and Muslims How are these Holy Scriptures interpreted in terms of present day circumstances How much room do the three religions allow for bringing their basic messages and biblical theological traditions into rapport with constantly changing social political and economic conditions Is the concept of hermeneutical space acceptable to these religions If so in what sense and at what level Is it possible to identify the scopus of a text and then reconstitute it textually as it were in light of the social and ethical questions thrown up by new contextual developments Can interpretive adjustments be made without jeopardizing the core message of the text involved And do the three monotheistic religions stand open to one another for influence in this regard Has one or another of them taken hermeneutical cues from the others Is there room for mutual learning within the hermeneutical space mentioned above or is this a sacred space closed to all influence from other traditions These are among the central questions raised and dealt with in this interreligious collection of essays perhaps the only dialogical symposium to date to deal exclusively with the doctrine and hermeneutics of Holy Scripture in Judaism Christianity and Islam Challenges to Democracy K. Dowding, J. Hughes, H. Margetts, 2016-05-06 This collection brings together leading political scientists in order to address the challenges faced by democracy in the twenty first century The contributors tackle the changing nature of democratic ideas in particular equality in society and the satisfaction of citizens They examine changing patterns of political involvement from voting to new forms of participation and protest using the Internet and new technologies Finally they look at the challenge to democracy posed by the changing nature of state institutions party systems bureaucracy and e government regulation and the processes of institutional development Reflections on Human Development Mahbub ul Haq, 1995-08-17 This work explores a new development paradigm whose central focus is on human well being Increase in income is treated as an essential means but not as the end of development and certainly not as the sum of human life Development policies and strategies are discussed which link economic growth with human lives in various societies The book also analyzes the evolution of a new Human Development Index which is a far more comprehensive measure of socio economic progress of nations than the traditional measure of Gross National Product For the first time a Political Freedom Index is also presented The book offers a new vision of human security for the twenty first century where real security is equated with security of people in their homes their jobs their communities and their environment The book discusses many concrete proposals in this context including a global compact to overcome the worst aspects of global poverty within a decade key reforms in the Bretton Woods institutions of World Bank and IMF and establishment of a new Economic Security Council within the United Nations People Under Kirdar, Leonard Silk, 1995-04 Assembles the work of some 50 international policymakers academics leaders of public and private enterprise and members of the media Contributions address the massive and unfinished problem of human deprivation throughout the world in an era of abundance The 48 articles address poverty productive employment social cohesion and peace and security Lacks an index and bibliography although some articles include notes Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR
