Richard Meiers Barcelona Museum Of Contemporary Art:

Richard Meier: Museu D'Art Contemporani de Barcelona, MACBA Richard Meier, 2011 Located in the rundown district of the Raval the Museum of Contemporary Art of Barcelona creates a dialogue between the quarter's historic urban fabric and contemporary art The labyrinthine nature of the pre-existing streets in the district is reflected in the building's organization most notably in the main entrance A pedestrian passageway runs parallel from the museum's back garden to a newly created square in front of the museum known as the Plaça dels Àngels and links to a pedestrian network running throughout the old city The gentle curve of this thoroughfare underscores the centrifugal movement of the cylindrical lobby and describes a fifth facade connecting the geometries of the museum to an urban context characterized by skewed intersections and the domes of ancient churches As befits an institution devoted to modern and contemporary art the striking contemporaneity of the museum's architecture fuses with the accumulated history of the surroundings

Richard Meier, Barcelona Museum of Contemporary Art Richard Meier, 1997 This clearly designed and illustrated book is dedicated to a complete overview of Richard Meier's Barcelona Museum of Contemporary Art completed in 1995 Located in the area of the Casa de la Caritat a former monastic enclave this extraordinary building maintains a unique dialogue between the city's old urban fabric and the contemporary art housed within the museum Barcelona's first institution devoted entirely to twentieth century art this museum synthesizes the striking contemporaneity of its bold architecture and the rich medieval history of its context Meier's masterful use of materials pristine white aluminum panels glass stucco and granite and characteristic modern style emphasize a play of solid and void light and shadow through the museum's fluid geometric forms An external ramp leads from the sweeping plaza to a triple height atrium space An internal glass enclosed ramp unfolds vertically along the front facade of the building offering breathtaking vistas of a sixteenth century church and the romantic city beyond and leading to three floors of open exhibition areas This unique publication documents the dramatic design with preliminary sketches models drawings and lavish color photographs

Imagining the Future of the Museum of Modern Art Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 1998 Edited by John Elderfield Introduction by Glenn D Lowry

The Museums of Contemporary Art Mr J Pedro Lorente, 2013-07-28 Where how by whom and for what were the first museums of contemporary art created These are the key questions addressed by J Pedro Lorente in this new book In it he explores the concept and history of museums of contemporary art and the shifting ways in which they have been imagined and presented Following an introduction that sets out the historiography and considering questions of terminology the first part of the book then examines the paradigm of the Musée des Artistes Vivants in Paris and its equivalents in the rest of Europe during the nineteenth century The second part takes the story forward from 1930 to the present presenting New York's Museum of Modern Art as a new universal role model that found emulators or contramodels in the rest of the Western world during the twentieth century An epilogue reviews recent museum developments in the last decades Through its adoption of a long term worldwide perspective the book not only provides a narrative of the development of museums of contemporary art but also sets this into its international perspective By assessing the extent to which the great museum capitals Paris London and New York in particular created their own models of museum provision as well as acknowledging the influence of such models elsewhere the book uncovers fascinating perspectives on the practice of museum provision and reveals how present cultural planning initiatives have often been shaped by historical uses
