in rural Mississippi the grandson of slaves Richard Wright overcame every social obstacle including poverty racism and limited education to achieve literary recognition as the creator of some of America's most powerful Black literature. Written with unprecedented candor, Wright's works changed the cultural landscape by challenging old stereotypes and myths about race. Wright scholar Robert Felgar has written a critical volume to help students appreciate the literary significance of such groundbreaking works as Native Son and the autobiographical Black Boy. This study serves students of both literature and social history as it explores the themes of racism and all types of institutionalized oppression that Wright exposed in his provocative writing. Felgar approaches each of Wright's major works in chronological order, offering insightful literary analysis of Uncle Tom's Children, Native Son, Black Boy, and The Outsider, as well as Wright's two works published posthumously, Eight Men, a collection of stories, and Lawd Today. The original censored works are discussed and compared with the more recently re-published unexpurgated versions. This Student Companion introduces readers to Richard Wright with a biographical chapter recounting the writer's struggles and achievements. A literary heritage chapter examines the genres, themes, and stylistic traditions that figured in Wright's work. Each of Wright's major works of fiction is given careful literary interpretation with analysis of plot, character development, thematic concerns, and a close alternate reading. A selective bibliography of critical works and reviews, in addition to the listings of Wright's stories, essays, and full-length works, will help students derive the most from their study of this important American writer.

The Unfinished Quest of Richard Wright Michel Fabre, 1993 Widely acclaimed for its comprehensive and sensitive picture of one of America's most renowned writers, The Unfinished Quest of Richard Wright received the Anisfield Wolf Award on Race Relations when it was first published. This first paperback edition contains a new preface and bibliographic essay updating changes in the author's approach to his subject and discussing works published on Wright since 1973.

Race and Racism in Continental Philosophy Robert Bernasconi, 2003-06-18 The 15 original essays in Race and Racism in Continental Philosophy explore the resources that continental philosophy brings to debates about contemporary race theory and investigate the racism of some of Europe's most important thinkers. Attention is devoted to the influence of the work of W. E. B. Du Bois, Jean-Paul Sartre, Richard Wright, and Frantz Fanon. Questions about race in European philosophy, especially in the work of Nietzsche, Heidegger, Lévi-Strauss, and Arendt, are also considered. This volume provides an indispensable critical introduction to new perspectives on thinking about race and racism.

Cultures of decolonisation Ruth Craggs, Claire Wintle, 2016-01-01 Cultures of decolonisation combines studies of visual, literary, and material cultures in order to explore the complexities of the end of empire as a process. Where other accounts focus on high politics and constitutional reform, this volume reveals the diverse ways in which cultures contributed to wider political, economic, and social change. This book demonstrates the transnational character of decolonisation, thereby illustrating the value of comparison between different cultural forms and diverse places in understanding the nature of this wide-reaching geopolitical change. Individual chapters focus on architecture theatre museums heritage sites fine art and interior design alongside institutions such as artists groups language agencies and the Royal Mint across Africa Asia the Caribbean and Europe Offering a range of disciplinary perspectives these contributions provide revealing case studies for those researching decolonisation across the humanities and social sciences

Richard Wright in a Post-Racial Imaginary Alice Craven, William Dow, Yoko Nakamura, 2014-07-31 In African American fiction Richard Wright was one of the most significant and influential authors of the twentieth century Richard Wright in a Post Racial America analyses Wright's work in relation to contemporary racial and social issues bringing voices of established and emergent Wright scholars into dialogue with each other The essays in this volume show how Wright's best work asks central questions about national alienation as well as about international belonging and the trans national gaze Race is here assumed as a superimposed category rather than a biological reality in keeping with recent trends in African American studies Wright's fiction and almost all of his non fiction lift beyond the mainstays of African American culture to explore the potentialities and limits of black trans nationalism Wright's trans native status his perpetual outsiderness mixed with the essential humanness of his activist and literary efforts are at the core of the innovative approaches to his work included here
