Free-lancers and Literary Biography in South Africa Stephen Gray, 1999 This collection is concerned with the problems and pleasures of writing literary biography in the context of South African writing. Stephen Gray's introduction outlines the choice faced by the researcher between writing revisionist history à la Strachey and the personal bias the portraitist must take into account when conducting the retrieval, especially of lost and enigmatic figures à la Symonds. Concentrating on the unattached irregulars of the arts in South Africa, often the arts of their times, Gray stresses the value of the free lance figure in the formation of an evolving colonial and post colonial literature. Subjects included are Charles Maclean, alias John Ross, who recorded his experiences of the Zulu King Shaka in Natal's first captivity narrative; Douglas Blackburn, rated as the successor of Swift for his satires of the Anglo Boer War conflict; Beatrice Hastings, polymath journalist whose lovers included Katherine Mansfield and Amedeo Modigliani; Stephen Black, founder of indigenous South African drama in English; Edward Wolfe, the Bloomsbury painter who began as a child actor in the mining town of Johannesburg; Bessie Head, who became the Botswana based wise woman of African literature before her untimely death in 1986, yet never knew her own origins; Etienne Leroux, the Free State rancher who in Afrikaans wrote much banned postmodernist novels; Mary Renault, whose bestselling novels set in Ancient Greece peculiarly represented the shutdown of democracy in apartheid South Africa; Sipho Sepamla, stalwart of the Soweto Poetry school which came to prominence after the 1976 Soweto uprising; and Richard Rive, novelist, cultural commentator and liberation icon, murdered in his prime. The portrait gallery of the figures who have shaped and defined the role of literature in South Africa is both revealing and provocative, showing the route taken by some lesser known talents in their struggle to establish the rights of authors in an often indifferent or repressive state. Monte Hellman Brad Stevens, 2010-06-28 I just did it and I probably made more mistakes than the average person who makes a first film. I didn't really have any help and I wouldn't take any help I had to do it on my own Once I made my first film I considered myself a film maker I lost all interest in the theater and never went back Monte Hellman In 1970 an LA Times headline described Monte Hellman as Hollywood's best kept secret More than thirty years later Hellman and his work are still secrets his genius recognized only by a small but passionate group of admirers This book is both a biography of Hellman and a critical study of his films which include The Shooting Two Lane Blacktop and Ride in the Whirlwind It also covers films to which Hellman has contributed as an editor actor and producer as well as those on which he has worked in various capacities without onscreen credit such as Shatter and Robocop Attention is focused on the hallmarks of Hellman's work including his dominant themes and obsessive characters and all the films are subjected to close stylistic analysis Dirty Real Peter Stanfield, 2024-07-06

The story of how the movies assumed a gritty facade in the name of authenticity with working actors transforming into artists poets painters troubadours and filmmakers both on and off screen This is the tale of how Hollywood inspired by the success of Easy Rider sold a cycle of films as the new dirty real Dennis Hopper Peter Fonda Monte Hellman Jack Nicholson Kris Kristofferson and Sam Peckinpah among others parlayed a nostalgia for the gutter and donned bohemian personae pulling on soiled shirts and scuffed boots to better counter the glamour and phoniness of Tinseltown The result was a generation of movies including The Hired Hand Five Easy Pieces Two Lane Blacktop The Last Picture Show and Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid With great care for the historical record and displaying a refined critical acuity Peter Stanfield captures that pivotal moment when Hollywood tried to sell a begrimed vision of itself to the world Jack's Life Patrick McGilligan, 2016-02-01

Jack's Life feels true Fascinating Entertainment Weekly Jack Nicholson has lived large on and off the screen Patrick McGilligan one of America's outstanding film biographers has plumbed research and interviews to expand his definitive biography since its publication over thirty years ago Jack's Life captures the essence of this most private and public of stars with a vivid depiction of Nicholson's tangled Dickensian upbringing his hungry years as actor and writer his near accidental breakthrough in Easy Rider and his prolificacy and artistry ever since with roles in Chinatown Five Easy Pieces The Shining A Few Good Men As Good As It Gets and The Departed to name a beloved handful of his sixty plus films McGilligan captures the life and legacy of this unabashed and complex personality Voices of Justice and Reason Geoffrey V. Davis, 2003

Over the past fifty years transformations of great moment have taken place in South Africa Apartheid and the subsequent transition to a democratic non racial society in particular have exercised a profound effect on the practice of literature This study traces the development of literature under apartheid then seeks to identify the ways in which writers and theatre practitioners are now facing the challenges of a new social order The main focus is on the work of black writers prime among them Matsemela Manaka Mtutuzeli Matshoba and Richard Rive who as politically committed members of the oppressed majority bore witness to the black experience through their writing Despite the draconian censorship system they were able to address the social problems caused by racial discrimination in all areas of life particularly through forced removals the migrant labour system and the creation of the homelands Their writing may be read both as a comprehensive record of everyday life under apartheid and as an alternative cultural history of South Africa Particular attention is paid to theatre as a barometer of social change in South Africa The concluding chapters consider how in the current period of transition writers and arts institutions have set about reassessing their priorities redefining their function and seeking new aesthetic directions in taking up the challenge of imagining a new society

When Whites Riot Sheila Smith McKoy, 2012-11 In a bold work that cuts across racial ethnic cultural and national boundaries Sheila Smith McKoy reveals how race colors the idea of violence in the United States and in South Africa two countries inevitably and inextricably linked by the central role of skin color in personal and national identity Although race riots are usually seen as black events in both the United States and South Africa they have played a significant role in shaping the concept of whiteness and white power in both nations This emerges clearly from Smith McKoy's examination of four riots that demonstrate the relationship between the two nations and the apartheid practices that have historically defined them North Carolina's Wilmington Race Riot of 1898 the Soweto Uprising of 1976 the Los Angeles Rebellion in 1992 and the pre election riot in Mmabatho Bophuthatswana in 1994 Pursuing these events through narratives media reports and film Smith McKoy shows how white racial violence has been disguised by race riots in the political and power structures of both the United States and South Africa The first transnational study to probe the abiding inclination to blacken riots When Whites Riot unravels the connection between racial violence both the white and the raced in the United States and South Africa as well as the social dynamics that this connection sustains
