Role Of The Chinese Military In National Security Policymaking:

The Role of the Chinese Military in National Security Policymaking Michael D. Swaine, 1996 A comprehensive picture of China's national security policy process with particular attention to the military's increasing influence in these critical areas

PLA Influence on China's National Security Policymaking Phillip C. Saunders, Andrew Scobell, 2015-09-09 In recent years there have been reports of actions purportedly taken by People's Liberation Army PLA units without civilian authorization and of Chinese Communist Party CCP civilian leaders seeking to curry favor with the military suggesting that a nationalistic and increasingly influential PLA is driving more assertive Chinese policies on a range of military and sovereignty issues To many experienced PLA watchers however the PLA remains a party army that is responsive to orders from the CCP

PLA Influence on China's National Security Policymaking seeks to assess the real relationship between the PLA and its civilian masters by moving beyond media and pundit speculation to mount an in depth examination and explanation of the PLA's role in national security policymaking After examining the structural factors that shape PLA interactions with the Party State the book uses case studies to explore the PLA's role in foreign policy crises It then assesses the PLA's role in China's territorial disputes and in military interactions with civilian government and business exploring the military's role in China's civil military integration development strategy The evidence reveals that today's PLA does appear to have more influence on purely military issues than in the past but much less influence on political issues and to be more actively engaged in policy debates on mixed civil military issues where military equities are at stake

The Role of the Chinese Military in National Security Policymaking. Revised Edition Michael Swaine, RAND national defense research inst santa monica ca, 1998 This report documents one component of a year long effort to analyze key factors influencing China's national security strategies policies and military capabilities and their potential consequences for longer term U S national security interests Specifically this report examines the current and future roles of the Chinese military in China's national security policy process The report was produced under the aegis of a project entitled Chinese Global and Regional Strategy and U S Policy Dynamics and Implications A second document resulting from this project is Professionalization of the Senior Chinese Officer Corps by James C Mulvenon MR 901 OSD 1997 This volume is a revised version of the original report that appeared in 1996

The Making of Chinese Foreign and Security Policy in the Era of Reform David M. Lampton, 2001 This is the most comprehensive in depth account of how Chinese foreign and security policy is made and implemented during the reform era It includes the contributions of more than a dozen scholars who undertook field research in the People's Republic of China South Korea and Taiwan

The Palgrave Handbook of National Security Michael Clarke, Adam Henschke, Matthew Sussex, Tim Legrand, 2021-09-28 This handbook provides a comprehensive analysis of the contemporary theory practice and themes in the study of national security Part 1 Theories examines how national security has been conceptualised and formulated within the disciplines international relations security studies and public policy Part 2 Actors shifts the focus of the volume from these disciplinary concerns to consideration of how core actors in international affairs have conceptualised and practiced national security over time Part 3 Issues then provides in depth analysis of how individual security issues have been incorporated into prevailing scholarly and policy paradigms on national security While security now seems an all encompassing phenomenon one general proposition still holds national interests and the nation state remain central to unlocking security puzzles As normative values intersect with raw power as new threats meet old ones and as new actors challenge established elites making sense out of the complex milieu of security theories actors and issues is a crucial task and is the main accomplishment of this book

China's Foreign Policy Making Lin Su, 2017-03-02 Various domestic factors impact upon China's foreign policy making such as bureaucracy academics media and public opinion This stimulating book examines their increasing influence and focuses in particular on China's policy towards the United States exploring whether there has been an emergence of societal factors independent of the Communist Party that have begun to exert influence over the policy process It also debates questions such as how it will affect the ability of the Chinese government to frame and implement its policy towards the US and whether it has generated institutional arrangements in China for cooperation on issues such as trade human rights and Taiwan The book provides a better understanding of the role of societal forces in China's foreign policy making process

Assessing the Threat: The Chinese Military and Taiwan's Security, Since at least the early 1950s the entire Asia Pacific region has struggled with the complicated and complex relationship between China and Taiwan today the Taiwan question is considered a potential flashpoint for a much larger international conflict Bringing together experts from the United States and Taiwan Assessing the Threat provides a comprehensive look at the dangers of military escalation in the Taiwan Strait the latest advances in capabilities of the People's Liberation Army and China's security relationship with the United States and the Asia Pacific There is increasing concern that Beijing is steadily shifting the balance of power across the Taiwan Strait in its favor Recent advances in Chinese air and naval power along with changes in PLA doctrine have the potential to weaken deterrence and destabilize the cross strait military balance At this critical juncture there is no question that this issue requires sustained detailed analysis and that many measures can and should be taken to reduce the threat of conflict between China Taiwan and the United States

Assessing the threat offers such analysis as well as concrete suggestions and crisis management practices for government and military leaders in Washington D C Beijing and Taipei

Chinese Foreign Policy Think Tanks and China's Policy Towards Japan Xuanli Liao, 2006 Examines Chinese foreign policy think tanks and their influence in China's foreign policy towards Japan between the late 1970s and late 1990s Through case studies this book demonstrates a growing pluralistic trend in post Mao China's foreign policy making process

Energy Policy and Regulation in the People's Republic of China C. P. Andrews-Speed, 2004-01-01 China is the world's second largest consumer of commercial energy and is therefore a significant contributor to atmospheric pollution It is becoming a major player in global and regional markets for energy products services and investment This book provides an overview of the formulation and implementation of energy policy in China Part One provides background information on China s energy sector Part Two examines the nature of China s energy policy and of the policy making process with examples drawn from the coal and natural gas sectors as well as from the government s drive to promote energy conservation and energy efficiency Part Three focuses on recent efforts to reform the energy sector in China and to regulate it more effectively paying particular attention to the electrical power sector and to small scale coal mines Part Four evaluates from the perspective of the citizen policy relating to the electrical power sector and to the closure of small scale coal mines Part Five addresses the international dimensions of China s energy policy with accounts of both inward and outward investment and of the international political implications About the author Dr Philip Andrews-Speed is Director of the Centre for Energy Petroleum and Mineral Law and Policy at the University of Dundee Scotland He spent fourteen years as a geologist in the international mining and petroleum industries before coming to the Centre in 1994 gaining an LLM in Energy Law and Policy and joining the academic staff

Competition and Compromise among Chinese Actors in Africa Niall Duggan, 2019-08-02 This book explains why conflict exists among Chinese foreign policy actors in Africa and argues against the concept that China has a grand strategy in relation to Africa It does so by examining Sino African relations by focusing on how China s Africa policy is constructed and implemented concluding that a large number of actors are active in its formulation and implementation The book argues that China s Hegemonic Political Discourse HPD the goal of achieving a Harmonious Society and later the Chinese Dream through the Scientific Concept of Development has dominated Chinese political discourse It is this HPD that acts as the structural imperative that allows for collective action in the Chinese foreign policy process in Africa rather than a Chinese grand strategy since the actors are unwilling to break the social norms of the collective process for fear of exclusion This book will be of great interest to China watchers and those eager to understand how China s rise will impact the developing world
