Los Angeles in Fiction David M. Fine, 1984 Imagining Los Angeles David Fine, 2016-06-01 The literary image of Los Angeles has evolved since the 1880s from promotional literature that hyped the region as a New Eden to contemporary visions of the city as a perplexing sometimes corrupt even apocalyptic place that reflects all that is wrong with America In Imagining Los Angeles the first literary history of the city in more than fifty years critic David Fine traces the history and mood of the place through the work of writers as diverse as Helen Hunt Jackson Mary Austin Norman Mailer Raymond Chandler Joan Didion Carolyn See and many others His lively and engaging text focuses on the way these writers saw Los Angeles and used the image of the city as an element in their work and on how that image has changed as the city itself became ever larger more complex and more socially and ethnically diverse This is essential reading for anyone interested in the literature and changing image of Southern California Los Angeles Peter Moore Smith, 2005 A beautiful neighbor's arrival and her eerie disappearance knocks Angel Veronchek's solitary reclusive life off balance and plunges him into the sinister world of Los Angeles nights a world of secrets that aren't meant to be told and people who aren't meant to be found

The Road to Los Angeles John Fante, 2010-05-18 I had a lot of jobs in Los Angeles Harbor because our family was poor and my father was dead My first job was ditchdigging a short time after I graduated from high school Every night I couldn't sleep from the pain in my back We were digging an excavation in an empty lot there wasn't any shade the sun came straight from a cloudless sky and I was down in that hole digging with two huskies who dug with a love for it always laughing and telling jokes laughing and smoking bitter tobacco Los Angeles Stories Robert Noyola, 2002-05-24 Los Angeles is a city of losers Robert Mitchum Fourteen million inhabitants in Los Angeles county in a battle for survival Three million people within the city limits of Los Angeles compete for jobs space food water air and are seduced and overwhelmed by exiting living in Los Angeles with too much luxury that exhausts the human spirit This is a collection of short stories about the characters that Robert Noyola knew and lived among during his years in Los Angeles The final story The Golden Triangle is an accurate fictionalization of the history of his hometown of Port Arthur Texas Where he finally returned after retiring in Los Angeles California then moving to El Paso Texas Los Angeles stories Ry Cooder, 2012 Crime Fiction John Scaggs, 2005 Provides a lively introduction to what is both a wide ranging and hugely popular literary genre Accessible and clear this comprehensive overview is the essential guide for all those studying crime fiction Southland Nina Revoyr, 2003-04-01 Nina Revoyr brings us a compelling story of race love murder and history against the backdrop of Los Angeles Winner of a 2004 American Library Association Stonewall Honor Award in Literature Winner of the 2003 Lambda Literary Award Nominated for an Edgar Award The plot line of Southland is the stuff of a James Ellroy or a Walter Mosley novel But the climax fairly glows with the good heartedness that Revoyr displays from the very first page Los Angeles Times Jackie Ishida's grandfather had a store in Watts where four boys were killed during the riots in 1965 a mystery she attempts to solve New York Times Book Review included in Where Noir Lives in the City of Angels Nina Revoyr brings us a compelling story of race love murder and history against the backdrop of Los Angeles A young Japanese American woman Jackie Ishida is in her last semester of law school when her grandfather Frank Sakai dies unexpectedly While trying to fulfill a request from his will Jackie discovers that four black teenagers were killed in the store he ran during the Watts Riots of 1965 and that the murders were never solved or reported Along with James Lanier a cousin of one of the victims she tries to piece together the story of the boys deaths In the process Jackie unearths the long held secrets of her family s history and her own Moving in and out of the past from the shipping yards and internment camps of World War II to the barley fields of the Crenshaw District in the 1930s to the means streets of Watts in the 1960s to the night spots and garment factories of the 1990s Southland weaves a tale of Los Angeles in all of its faces and forms Making History Carolyn See,1991 Carolyn See s four previous novels have established her as one of the best chroniclers of California life Now she reaches out to encompass the whole Pacific Rim in a dazzling new novel about living on the edge of the future It is the story of one family who has achieved the L A dream of affluent happiness and of what happens when their sunny world is shattered by a series of random accidents To Live and Die in L.A. Gerald Petievich,2025-01-21 THE NOVEL THAT INSPIRED THE CULT CLASSIC MAJOR MOTION PICTURE Agent Richard Chance is on a relentless mission to avenge his partner s murder by bringing down master counterfeiter Eric Masters As Chance delves into the dangerous underworld of Los Angeles he faces a high stakes game of cat and mouse where every move could be his last The novel that inspired the iconic film of the same name To Live and Die in L A is a gripping thriller with a vivid portrayal of the darker side of the City of Angels Animals in Detective Fiction Ruth Hawthorn,John Miller,2022-12-06 This book explores the vast array of animals that populate detective fiction If the genre begins as is widely supposed with Edgar Allan Poe s Murders in the Rue Morgue 1841 then detective fiction s very first culprit is an animal Animals moreover consistently appear as victims clues and companions while the abstract conception of animality is closely tied to the idea of criminality Although it is often described as an essentially conservative form detective fiction can unsettle the binary of human and animal to intersect with developing concerns in animal studies animal agency the ethical complexities of human animal interaction the politics and literary aesthetics of violence and animal metaphor Gathering its 14 essays into sections on ontologies ethics politics and forms Animals in Detective Fiction provides a compelling and nuanced analysis of the central role creatures play in this enduringly popular and continually morphing literary form A Richard Wright Bibliography Kenneth Kinnamon,Joseph Benson,Michel Fabre,Craig Werner,1988-01-13 Any future biographical work on Richard Wright will find this bibliography a necessity academic or public libraries supporting a program of black culture will find it invaluable and it belongs in any library supporting American literature studies Richard Wright has truly been well served Choice The most comprehensive bibliography ever compiled for an American writer this book contains 13 117 annotated items pertaining to Richard Wright It includes almost all published
