Conversations with Margaret Walker Margaret Walker, 2002 Margaret Walker 1915 1998 began her writing career as a poet in the late 1930s But she was cast into the limelight in 1966 when her novel Jubilee was published to wide critical and commercial acclaim In interviews ranging from 1972 to 1996 Conversations with Margaret Walker captures Walker s voice as she discusses an incredibly wide range of interests The same erudition wit and love of language on display in Jubilee comes through in conversations as well as her sense of moral authority imbued by a resonant Christian humanism and her attention to historical detail In a long 1972 conversation with fellow poet Nikki Giovanni Walker argues about the tribulations and triumphs of motherhood the presence of black women in literature and race relations in American culture from 1900 to the present With Marcia Greenlee in 1977 she talks extensively about her family's history and her love of botany In several of the interviews her friendship with Richard Wright rises to the forefront Even in her interviews with Claudia Tate and John Griffin Jones in which the interviewers try to direct the conversations toward the mechanics and thought processes behind Walker's writing the talks often sweep into broader issues of African American culture family history and the past's influence on the present This collection amply shows that Margaret Walker was a writer who considered her work to be deeply influenced by the culture around her She viewed her writing as part of her larger life and not separate or distanced from her existence Bracingly direct witty and oddly charming the writer in Conversations with Margaret Walker is complicated passionate forceful and piercingly intelligent

Richard Wright Keneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04 African American writer Richard Wright 1908 1960 was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris But his writings changed American culture forever and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays books and articles from 1983 through 2003 Arranged alphabetically by author within years are some 8 320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book length studies of African American literature and literary criticism Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982 This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics Mississippi Library News, 1977

Song of My Life Carolyn J. Brown, 2014-10-24 Margaret Walker 1915 1998 has been described as the most famous person nobody knows This is a shocking oversight of an award winning poet novelist essayist educator and activist as well as friend and mentor to many prominent African American writers Song of My Life reintroduces Margaret Walker to readers by telling her story one that many can relate to as she overcame certain obstacles related to race gender and poverty Walker was born in 1915 in Birmingham Alabama to two parents who prized education above all else Obtaining that education was not easy for either her parents or herself but Walker went on to earn both her master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Iowa Walker's journey to become a nationally known writer and educator is an incredible story of hard work and perseverance Her years as a public figure connected her to Richard Wright Langston Hughes Alex Haley and a host of other important literary and historical figures This biography opens with her family and those who inspired her her parents her grandmother her most important teachers and mentors all significant influences on her reading and writing life Chapters trace her path over the course of the twentieth century as she travels to Chicago and becomes a member of the South Side Writers Group with Richard Wright Then she is accepted into the newly created Master of Fine Arts Program at the University of Iowa Back in the South she pursued and achieved her dream of becoming a writer and college educator as well as wife and mother Walker struggled to support herself her sister and later her husband and children but she overcame financial hardships prejudice and gender bias and achieved great success She penned the acclaimed novel Jubilee received numerous lifetime achievement awards and was a beloved faculty member for three decades at Jackson State University in Jackson Mississippi

How I Wrote Jubilee and Other Essays on Life and Literature Margaret Walker, 1990 This first comprehensive collection of Margaret Walker's autobiographical and literary essays has been acclaimed as a powerful social history and as a serious study of black American literature Kirkus Review In the title essay Walker recounts the search for family and social history from which she wrote her carefully researched novel of the Civil War The autobiographical essays reflect on her work and her life as an artist as African American and a woman while the literary essays examine the writings of such giants as Richard Wright W E B DuBois Phyllis Wheatley Georgia Douglas Johnson and others Spanning a half century 1943 to 1988 these brilliant intimate writings capture the flavor of the times and powerfully convey the social and literary thoughts that distinguishes Walker as one of the intellectual beacons of her generation Booklist
