Population Development In Rural Egypt:

Population and Development in Rural Egypt Allen C. Kelley, Atef M. Khalifa, M. Nabil El-Khorazaty, 1982      The Demographic Revolution in Modern Egypt Warren C. Robinson, Fatma H. El-Zanaty, 2006-01-01 The Demographic Revolution in Modern Egypt tells the dramatic story of Egypt's transition in the last two decades from staggeringly high to low fertility and mortality rates. Scholars Warren C. Robinson and Fatma H. El-Zanaty especially delve into the reasons for the decline in fertility, including the relative success of Egypt's recent public initiatives in family planning. Robinson and El-Zanaty compellingly show the importance of continued demographic stability in Egypt for that nation, the Middle East, and indeed the world. The authors point to Egypt's optimistic progress as a model for other countries facing out of control birth rates wreaking havoc with economic and social development.

Egypt's Agricultural Development, 1800-1980 Alan Richards, 2019-04-18 This book uses both microeconomic theory and social and political analysis to show how the interaction of social classes, technical change, government policy, and the international and state systems have shaped Egypt's agricultural development.      Administration and Development in the Arab World Jamil Jreisat, Zaki R. Ghosheh, 2016-03-22 This book, first published in 1986, examines the literature on administration, human resources, and development in the Arab world. It emphasizes contemporary societies and their internal dynamics, the least known and most critical aspects of Arabic studies.

Perspectives on Development and Population Growth in the Third World O.G. Simmons, 2012-12-06 Until the early to mid 1970s, social scientists in the fields of population and development were largely going their own ways. Demographers relied almost exclusively on demographic transition theory as their paradigm for understanding the role of development in population change and fertility decline. Conversely, most development economists and other specialists were certainly aware of the constraints placed upon development objectives by population growth. However, the main development theories paid little attention to population and the implications of population growth for development. Indeed, it was not until after the World Population Conference in Bucharest in 1974 that the interaction of population and development became a serious and positive theme for social scientific study. Accordingly, since about the mid 1970s, an extensive literature in the field of population and development has been generated. And in 1975, under the auspices of The Population Council, the journal Population and Development Review was founded, a journal which in the past decade has developed into the premier publication in the world for work in this area. But our understanding of development as it refers to change in Third World countries remained fragmented. Moreover, our understanding of the linkages and interactions between population and development was very limited. It is in this regard that Ozzie Simmons's Perspectives on Development and Population Growth in the Third World will certainly have an impact.

Egypt Egyptian-U.S. Agricultural Sector Assessment Team, United States. Department of Agriculture, 1976 The Adaptation Process of a Resettled Community to the Newly-Built Environment A Study of the Nubian Experience in Egypt Wael Salah Fahmi, 2014-04-01 Generally construction of dams is regarded as means of economic progress in many countries Major consequences of such projects are the inundation of upstream areas and the resettlement of entire communities in newly built environments where they experience dramatic transformation in their lifestyles The present study takes the Nubian resettlement experience after the creation of Lake Nasser that submerged their old settlements along the river Nile Following their resettlement the design of the newly built environment disrupted the Nubian traditional lifestyles and patterns of privacy mechanisms territoriality and social interaction The inadequacy of the newly built environment was mainly attributed to the Nubians transfer from spacious homes in the old villages to compact contiguous houses in the new settlements The arrangement of these resettlement state built houses distributed on the basis of household size has further resulted in the fragmentation and the dispersion of traditional kinship based neighborhoods Within an interdisciplinary approach the study is based on theoretical historical and conceptual themes and on empirical research It sets out to examine the households responses towards and adaptation mechanisms with the newly built environment looking critically at the achievements of imposed top down planning in meeting the socio cultural and economic needs of those resettled

Population Dilemmas in the Middle East Gad G. Gilbar, 2012-11-12 This study provides a general outline of Palestinian population growth between 1948 and 1987 and then focuses on the town of Nablus for a detailed analysis of the main aspects of Palestinian migration and high rates of natural increase The author shows how the recession that struck the Arab oil economies in the early 1980s by slowing down the migratory movement shut off the valve that had afforded the Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza relief from economic pressures

Community Development And Family Planning J. Mayone Stycos, 2019-03-22 Program evaluation is not among the most popular of exercises since it carries risks for all associated with it Because every important program has friends and enemies anxious for its prosperity or demise the investigators and their findings will normally be attacked from at least one side and not infrequently from both But this is an occupational hazard dutifully accepted by its practitioners for some it even adds a zestful touch of danger However the program s sponsors and its participants require an unusual degree of courage since negative or indifferent results are not infrequently used to impugn their wisdom or dedication We applaud the courage of all those who in the interest of improving policies and programs to further their clients well being assumed the risks of introducing scientific program evaluation Primary credit goes to the sponsor of the current research the United Nations Fund for Population Activities UNFPA in particular the Mediterranean and Middle East Branch and its chief Roushdi El Henedi Special thanks go to Dr Habib Siddiqui for his stimulus in launching the study His efforts were followed by those of M A Abu Nuwar whose bureaucratic and diplomatic skills were much appreciated and Sylvia Rhodes who was of assistance near the close of the project UNFPA staff in Egypt in particular Hamed Fahmy were most helpful in the field Needless to say neither these individuals nor the UNFPA necessarily agree with the conclusions reached in this book The Impact of Population Growth on Well-being in Developing Countries Dennis A. Ahlburg, Allen C. Kelley, Karen Oppenheim Mason, 2013-03-14 This book examines the nature and significance of the impact of population growth on the well being of developing countries in particular the effects on economic growth education health food supply housing poverty and the environment In addition because family planning programmes often significantly affect population growth the study examines the impacts of family planning on fertility and health and the human rights implications of family planning programmes In considering the book's conclusions about the impact of population growth on development four caveats should be noted First the effects of population growth vary from place to place and over time Thus blanket statements about overall effects often cannot be made Where possible the authors note the contexts in which population effects are strongest and weakest Second all of the outcomes examined in this book are influenced by factors other than population growth Moreover the impact of population growth may itself vary according to the presence or absence of other factors This again makes blanket statements about the effects of population growth difficult Throughout the chapters the authors try to identify other relevant factors that influence the outcomes we discuss or that influence the impact of population growth on those outcomes The Egyptian Labor Market Caroline Krafft, Ragui Assaad, 2022-03-03 The Egyptian economy has faced many challenges in the decade since the 2011 Arab Spring uprisings Not only was job creation anaemic from 2012 to 2018 but new jobs were also of low quality characterized by informality and vulnerability to economic shocks These challenges pushed many in Egypt especially the most vulnerable into a more precarious labor market situation Then in the midst of economic recovery brought on by tough reform measures adopted in 2016 and 2017 the country was hit by the widespread disruption of a global pandemic This book examines the plight of Egypt's most vulnerable groups by focusing on the intersection of gender and economic vulnerability in the labor market With this emphasis on vulnerability and a lens that is sensitive to gender differences and inequities the contributors to this volume use data from the most recent wave of a unique longitudinal survey to illuminate different aspects of Egyptians' lives The aspects they explore include labor supply behavior the ability to access good quality and well paying jobs the evolution of wages and wage inequality the school to work transition of youth the decline in public sector employment international and internal migration the situation of rural women access to social protection food security vulnerability to shocks and coping mechanisms health status and access to health care services These analyses are prescient in understanding the axes of vulnerability in Egyptian society that became all too salient during the COVID 19 pandemic

Middle East Contemporary Survey, Volume Xvi, 1992 Ami Ayalon, 1994-12 A number of contributors explore contemporary Middle East countries and look at how and if they have moved forward It looks at the rise of religious extremists and the Arab Israeli peace process stimulated by the change of government in Israel In The U.S. Interest Janet Welsh Brown,2021-11-28 In the U S interest explores the implications this growing interdependence holds for US foreign policy in the developing world It links US jobs trade and geopolitical interests to the environmental economic and political health of key developing nations Case studies of Mexico Egypt Kenya and the Philippines analyze Third World resource environmental and population problems revealing the need for US policymakers to recognize US national interest in international environmental cooperation The Estimation of Recent Trends in Fertility and Mortality in Egypt ,1982-01-01

Population and Development United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Population,1978 Inside Inequality in the Arab Republic of Egypt Paolo Verme,Branko Milanovic,Sherine Al-Shawarby,Sahar El Tawila,May Gadallah,Enas Ali A.El-Majeed,2014-04-16 This book joins four papers prepared in the framework of the Egypt inequality study financed by the World Bank The first paper prepared by Sherine Al Shawarby reviews the studies on inequality in Egypt since the 1950s with the double objective of illustrating the importance attributed to inequality through time and of presenting and compare the main published statistics on inequality To our knowledge this is the first time that such a comprehensive review is carried The second paper prepared by Branko Milanovic turns to the global and spatial dimensions of inequality The objective here is to put Egypt inequality in the global context and better understand the origin and size of spatial inequalities within Egypt using different forms of measurement across regions and urban and rural areas The Egyptian society remains deeply divided across space and in terms of welfare and this study unveils some of the hidden features of this inequality The third paper prepared by Paolo Verme studies facts and perceptions of inequality during the period 2000 2009 the period that preceded the Egyptian revolution The objective of this part is to provide some initial elements that could explain the apparent mismatch between inequality measured with household surveys and inequality aversion measured by values surveys No such study has been carried out before in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region and this seemed a particular important and timely topic to address in the light of the unfolding developments in the Arab region The fourth paper prepared by Sahar El Tawila May Gadallah and Enas Ali A El Majeed assesses the state of poverty and inequality among the poorest villages of Egypt The paper attempts to explain the level of inequality in an effort to disentangle those factors that derive from household abilities from those factors that derive from local opportunities This is the first time that such study is conducted in Egypt The book should be of interest to any observer of the political and economic evolution of the Arab region in the past few years and to poverty and inequality specialists that wish to have a deeper understanding of the distribution of incomes in Egypt and other countries in the MENA region Work-related Migration and Poverty Reduction in Nepal Michael Lokshin,Mikhail Bontch-Osmolovski,Elena E. Glinskaya,2007 Using two rounds of nationally representative household survey data in this study the authors measure the impact on poverty in

Nepal of local and international migration for work They apply an instrumental variable approach to deal with nonrandom selection of migrants and simulate various scenarios for the different levels of work related migration comparing observed and counterfactual household expenditure distribution The results indicate that one fifth of the poverty reduction in Nepal occurring between 1995 and 2004 can be attributed to increased levels of work related migration and remittances sent home The authors also show that while the increase in work migration abroad was the leading cause of this poverty reduction internal migration also played an important role The findings show that strategies for economic growth and poverty reduction in Nepal should consider aspects of the dynamics of domestic and international migration
