Population Politics in the Tropics Samuël Coghe, 2022-01-26 Population Politics in the Tropics explores colonial population policies in Angola between 1890 and 1945 from a transimperial perspective Using a wide array of previously unused sources and multilingual archival research from Angola Portugal and beyond Samu l Coghe sheds new light on the history of colonial Angola showing how population policies were conceived implemented and contested He analyses why and how doctors administrators missionaries and other colonial actors tried to grasp and quantify demographic change and improve the health conditions reproductive regimes and migration patterns of Angola s native population Coghe argues that these interventions were inextricably linked to pervasive fears of depopulation and underpopulation but that their implementation was often hampered by weak state structures internal conflicts and multiple forms of African agency Coghe s fresh analysis of demography health and migration in colonial Angola challenges common ideas of Portuguese colonial exceptionalism

Politics and Change in Developing Countries Colin Leys, 2011-02-03 This 1969 work gathers together essays on Third World development by nine social scientists with diverse academic interests These contributions are united by a relative uncertainty in relation to development derived from the contemporary critical reappraisal of the area together with a need to create fresh methodologies for the advancement of their respective fields

Man in Adaptation Yehudi A. Cohen, 2022-04-19 Underlying the anthropological study of man is the principle that there is a reality to which man must adapt if he is to survive Reproduce and to perpetuate himself Populations must adapt to the realities of the physical world and maintain a proper fit between their biological makeup and the pressures of the various niches of the world in which they seek to live Social groups where culture is found must develop adaptive mechanisms in the organization of their social relations if there is to be order regularity and predictability in patterns of cooperation and competition and if they are to survive as viable units This three volume set of readings presents an introduction to anthropology that is unified and made systematic by focus on adaptations that have accompanied the evolution of man from non human primate to inhabitant of vast urban areas in modern industrial societies

Man in Adaptation The Cultural Present introduces Cultural Anthropoloty also from the point of view of adaptation and provides coherence for the study of human societies from man s social beginnings to the present The book deals sequentially with the more and more complex technologies and political and social structures that have enabled different societies to make effective use of the energy potentials in their habitats This and the two companion volumes are the first attempt to unify the disparate subject matter of anthropology within a single and powerful explanatory framework They incorporate the work of the most renowned anthropological experts on man and they illuminate clearly one of the most important concepts around which one can build an investigation of the nature and scope of anthropology itself For these reasons they are recognized as indispensable reading for every professional anthropologist and as perhaps the best available means of introducing new students to the field

International Theory at the Margins Nicholas Greenwood Onuf, 2024-03-12 This book brings together thirteen essays from the celebrated international theorist Nicholas Greenwood Onuf They address topics that Onuf has puzzled over for decades prompting him to develop a distinctive perspective on international theory as social theory Among these topics are the problem of materiality in social construction epochal change in the modern world and the power of language Building on the work of giants from Aristotle and Cicero Hume and Kant to Derrida and Foucault and drawing on diverse contemporary theorists including Seyla Benhabib James Der Derian Johan Galtung Morton Kaplan Joseph Nye James Rosenau Elaine Scarry and Kenneth Waltz the book ranges over the margins of the field and settles on issues that have never been put to rest

Aquatic Ecosystems Nicholas V. C. Polunin, 2008-09-11 Concern about future supplies of fresh water to society to meet the full range of human needs now comes very high on the priority list of global societal issues An overarching issue which this book addresses is whether global climate change is a dominant driver of change in the structure and function of all natural water based ecosystems or whether direct human population growth and accelerated consumption are playing an equal or greater role This book divides the whole aquatic realm into 21 ecosystems from those on land both saline and fresh water to those of the open and deep oceans It draws on the understanding of leading ecologists to summarize the state and likely condition by the year 2025 of each of the ecosystems Written for academic researchers and environmental professionals the aim is to put the climate change debate into a broader context as a basis for conservation science and planning

The Politics of Reform in Ghana, 1982-1991 Jeffrey Herbst, 2023-04-28 Economic reform was the most pressing question for African and other Third World countries during the 1980s In this first full length examination of the political economy of adjustment in Ghana Jeffrey Herbst describes the causes of Ghana's dramatic economic decline and reviews the politics of reform that began in 1983 Since Ghana was one of the first African countries to adopt a comprehensive reform program and the one that has sustained adjustment longest the Ghanaian experience has profound ramifications for debates regarding stabilization and structural change across the continent Herbst devotes special attention to the interaction between the type of government and the politics of adjustment the reaction of interest groups such as urban labor and the peasantry and the relationship between economic and political change His extended field research and sophisticated knowledge of the issues involved both from the economic and political science literature make this study of importance not only to Africanists political scientists economists and sociologists but also to government and financial leaders wrestling with economic reform in developing countries This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice

J. Jepma, 2014-02-04 The depletion of the tropical rain forests has attracted considerable attention in recent times and the serious consequences for the global biosphere are widely acknowledged Yet deforestation continues apace and in some areas for example southeast Asia the very existence of the forests is seriously threatened Contrary to popular belief evidence suggests that local economic and living conditions are more significant in this than timber exploitation for exports to the Northern countries Tropical Deforestation A Socio Economic Approach offers a new perspective on the economic imperatives which encourage indigenous populations to encroach upon their own forests and shows how action against deforestation must form part of a wider movement to improve both the living conditions of the local inhabitants and the durability of their national economies Part 1 offers an overview of the processes surrounding deforestation and an assessment of the current situation Part 2 analyses the land use issues and explains the socioeconomic imperatives in the affected regions In an absorbing conclusion Part 3 guides the reader through a series of hypothetical policy scenarios using a specially adapted economic computer model to predict which combinations of policies and trade arrangements might bring about a more beneficial state of affairs
