her husband Nathan struggled to find a cure in time. Despite overcoming many odds without medical explanation, Zachary became an inspiration beyond belief as he strengthened the faith of a community and far beyond. It wasn't until Carol Ann and Nathan were forced to make the ultimate decision that they would come to realize the extent of what Zachary was capable of accomplishing despite his incredible suffering while teaching thousands a valuable lesson in the meaning of life.

Saints for the Family John Murray, 2021-04-01. Best selling author of Saints for Our Time and Saints for the Journey. Fr John Murray introduces us to a selection of saints for the family to mark the World Meeting of Families which takes place in Dublin in August. Among those included are traditional Biblical figures like Joseph, husband of Mary, as well as Elizabeth and Zechariah. There are classical saints too from the Church's past such as Margaret of Scotland and Bernadette of Lourdes. However, the author wanted to show also that many who came from families also experienced difficulties and trauma, people like Laura Vicuña who suffered abuse and Antonia Brenner who had two failed marriages before befriending prisoners in a maximum security complex. There too is Sr Ignatia who helped in the founding of the AA organisation and Bartolo Longo who at one time was a Satanist priest but became in time a great devotee of the rosary. There are also couples included like the parents of St Therese of Lisieux as well as the parents of Pope Saint John Paul and couples like Felip and Maria Barreda who died during the Nicaraguan civil war as well as Jacques and Raissa Maritain who blazed a path for the intellectual life in the 20th century.

Between Heaven and Earth Robert A. Orsi, 2006-11-19. Between Heaven and Earth explores the relationships men, women and children have formed with the Virgin Mary and the saints in twentieth century American Catholic history and reflects more broadly on how people live in the company of sacred figures and how these relationships shape the ties between people on earth. In this boldly argued and beautifully written book, Robert Orsi also considers how scholars of religion occupy the ground in between belief and analysis, faith and scholarship. Orsi infuses his analysis with an autobiographical voice steeped in his own Italian American Catholic background from the devotion of his uncle Sal who had cerebral palsy to a crippled saint, Margaret of Castello, to the bond of his Tuscan grandmother with Saint Gemma Galgani. Religion exists not as a medium of making meanings, Orsi maintains, but as a network of relationships between heaven and earth involving people of all ages as well as the many sacred figures they hold dear. Orsi argues that modern academic theorizing about religion has long sanctioned dubious distinctions between good or real religious expression on the one hand and bad or bogus religion on the other, which marginalize these everyday relationships with sacred figures. This book is a brilliant critical inquiry into the lives that people make for better or worse between heaven and earth and into the ways scholars of religion could better study of these worlds.
