The Portola Expedition of 1769-1770 Vincente Vila,1911 The Narrative of the Portola Expedition of 1769-1770 Miguel Costansó,1910 The Portola Expedition of 1769-1770, Diary of Miguel Costanso Miguel Costansó,1911 Fray Juan Crespi Juan Crespi,1927 San Diego River, The: Dams, Dikes, Floods and Fights John Martin,2023 The unreliable river that shaped a modern city For nearly a century the people of San Diego wrestled to control the mercurial San Diego River Their efforts to keep the river from destroying their valuable harbor while providing water for a growing population led to decades of legal battles over river water rights Likewise the divisive question of where to dam the river consumed the town pitting citizens and civic leaders against one another The construction of El Capitan Dam temporarily solved the town s water dilemma but resulted in the removal of a native population Join author and historian John Martin as he chronicles the lives of those who shaped modern day San Diego s water infrastructure Aboriginal California Robert F. Heizer,2023-12-22 In prehistoric California the exchange of ideas and materials between different groups was largely driven by intergroup trade facilitating not only the spread of objects but also the diffusion of knowledge across vast regions Archaeologists rely on evidence from these trading networks to understand the cultural exchanges and the crafting techniques used by ancient peoples The three papers presented in this volume originally published in limited editions by the University of California Archaeological Survey in 1961 and 1962 offer valuable insights into these prehistoric economies Now out of print these reports have been reassembled due to significant public interest shedding light on various aspects of aboriginal California Indian culture and the trade systems that shaped it This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1963 Stage Coach Operation in San Diego and Imperial Counties, 1857-1874 Kenhelm W. Stott,1950 Learning From the Octopus Rafe Sagarin,2012-03-27 Despite the billions of dollars we ve poured into foreign wars homeland security and disaster response we are fundamentally no better prepared for the next terrorist attack or unprecedented flood than we were in 2001 Our response to catastrophe remains unchanged add another step to airport security another meter to the levee wall This approach has proved totally ineffective reacting to past threats and trying to predict future risks will only waste resources in our increasingly unpredictable world In Learning from the Octopus ecologist and security expert Rafe Sagarin rethinks the seemingly intractable problem of security by drawing inspiration from a surprising source nature Biological organisms have been living and thriving on a risk filled planet for billions of years Remarkably they have done it without planning predicting or trying to perfect their responses to complex threats Rather they simply adapt to solve the challenges they continually face Military leaders public health officials and business professionals would all like to be more adaptable

but few have figured out how Sagarin argues that we can learn from observing how nature is organized how organisms learn how they create partnerships and how life continually diversifies on this unpredictable planet As soon as we dip our toes into a cold Pacific tidepool and watch what we thought was a rock turn into an octopus jetting away in a cloud of ink we can begin to see the how human adaptability can mimic natural adaptation The same mechanisms that enabled the octopus s escape also allow our immune system to ward off new infectious diseases helped soldiers in Iraq to recognize the threat of IEDs and aided Google in developing faster ways to detect flu outbreaks While we will never be able to predict the next earthquake terrorist attack or market fluctuation nature can guide us in developing security systems that are not purely reactive but proactive holistic and adaptable From the tidepools of Monterey to the mountains of Kazakhstan Sagarin takes us on an eye opening tour of the security challenges we face and shows us how we might learn to respond more effectively to the unknown threats lurking in our future
