Rhetoric and Composition Richard Layton Graves,1984

The Writing Teacher's Sourcebook Edward P. J.

Corbett,Nancy Myers,Gary Tate,2000 Now in its fourth edition this widely acclaimed sourcebook remains one of the most up to date and inclusive works on teaching writing today In this edition the editors have added twelve new essays and deleted several from the previous edition making the content as timely as possible Emphasizing the importance of adapting good pedagogy to multiple environments and audiences this unique collection features some of the most intellectually exciting and pedagogically sound articles in the field The Writing Teacher s Sourcebook 4 e is the definitive resource for beginning and experienced teachers alike Teaching Composition Gary Tate,1987 Resources in Education ,2001 Handbook for Planning an Effective Writing Program, K-12 DIANE Publishing Company,1996-02 This popular handbook is designed to provide teachers curriculum specialists school administrators parents and students with a standard for assessing existing writing programs and a tool for helping them design new programs It includes information to help them identify the strengths and weaknesses of existing or proposed writing programs and to select strategies for change Addresses both the content and teaching methodology of a writing program that is what ought to be taught and how it should be taught Award Winner Illustrated Teaching ESL Composition Dana R. Ferris,John Hedgcock,John S. Hedgcock,2004-09-15 Presents pedagogical approaches to the teaching of ESL composition in the framework of current theoretical perspectives on second language writing processes practises and writers Power and Identity in the Creative Writing Classroom Anna Leahy,2005-11-11 Power and Identity In the Creative Writing Classroom remaps theories and practices for teaching creative writing at university and college level This collection critiques well established approaches for teaching creative writing in all genres and builds a comprehensive and adaptable pedagogy based on issues of authority power and identity A long needed reflection this book shapes creative writing pedagogy for the 21st century Readings in Writing Courses Richard C.

Raymond,2010-12-01 As the title suggests this six chapter book responds to a question which in Western culture goes back to Plato Aristotle Cicero and Quintilian namely What should rhetoric teachers ask their students to read Primarily historical the first two chapters trace conflicting answers to the question above focusing on two constructive results of the debate the re invention of rhetoric and writing as a discipline a coherent and growing body of knowledge and as a result the emergence of independent departments of writing free from departments of English free therefore to develop their own curriculum and to manage their own budgets Additionally the second chapter examines two destructive consequences of this debate the ban of literature from writing courses where students might profitably study both and as a result the often painful departmental splits which not only separate former colleagues but also cramp the pedagogy of those trained to teach both writing and literature More than a survey of key publications this chapter encourages readers to honor the discipline of rhetoric but to make a place for literature on their composition syllabi The next four chapters provide pedagogical support for these chief claims that literature can and should be taught in writing courses and that such readings need not distract students from the primary text their own writing On the contrary these readings motivate serious writing when students feel invited into a conversation on issues that touch their lives These pedagogical chapters then move entering professionals from the theoretical debate to the application of theory therefore the book would serve well professors of courses in composition theory particularly those who enjoy teaching the conflicts and preparing their graduate students to design assignments and courses that apply theories of learning reading and composing The Writing Teacher's Sourcebook Gary Tate,1994 Revised and updated this guide to the teaching of composition includes a new section of sources listing journals books and other bibliographic resources A Guide to Curriculum Planning in English Language Arts Ellen L. Last,1989

Contemporary Composition Studies Edith Babin,Kimberly Harrison,1999-12-30 Composition studies is a rapidly growing and constantly changing field At present however graduate students new to the field and writing teachers who want to make new connections between theory and practice have little choice of current reference works that define key terms in composition studies and provide information about the scholars and researchers who have shaped and are shaping the discipline This book supplies this information in an easily accessible format and places both scholars and terms in the context of the field s development Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 108 individuals who have developed the field and 128 terms central to the discipline The first part of the book provides entries for leaders in composition studies Each entry identifies the areas in which the scholar has contributed most influentially to the field and provides both a chronological overview of the person s contributions and a bibliography of representative works The second part includes entries for terms that are problematic both for newcomers and for those already familiar with the discipline The entries for the terms show how the disciplinary context has shaped the ways in which they have been used The entries also indicate how established thinkers in composition studies and other disciplines have explained or defined the terms provide examples of the terms in context and list scholars often associated with them An appendix includes entries for scholars from other disciplines who have contributed to the field Why Johnny Can't Write Myra J. Linden,Arthur Whimbey,2012-12-06 The authors of this book both experienced teachers examine the controversy surrounding two popular methods for teaching writing the process approach and its offspring Writing Across the Curriculum Both have recently been called into question for their ineffectiveness An alternative lesser known procedure called sentence combining which has been proven successful in numerous studies over the past fifteen years finally is gaining the attention it deserves Using the sentence combining approach the authors present a rationale for re thinking and re tooling the English classroom and consequently making the entire educational system work more effectively This book is useful for teachers at any level especially those involved in writing instruction It is also worthwhile reading for those wishing to improve their writing skills Doing the sample exercises will strengthen writing skills and provide a solid foundation for a lifelong program of language growth The Macmillan Guide for Teachers of Writing Maggy Smith,1991 Situating Composition Ede, Lisa,2004 Responding to a growing pedagogical paralysis in debates over the nature and status of composition studies as an academic discipline Lisa Ede offers a provocative inquiry into the politics of composition s place in the academy The result is a timely and engaging reflection on the rhetoric ideology and ethics of scholarship and instruction in composition studies today Academic and Professional Writing in an Age of Accountability Shirley Wilson Logan,Wayne H. Slater,2018-12-27 What current theoretical frameworks inform academic and professional writing What does research tell us about the effectiveness of academic and professional writing programs What do we know about existing best practices What are the current guidelines and procedures in evaluating a program s effectiveness What are the possibilities in regard to future research and changes to best practices in these programs in an age of accountability Editors Shirley Wilson Logan and Wayne H Slater bring together leading scholars in rhetoric and composition to consider the history trends and future of academic and professional writing in higher education through the lens of these five central questions The first two essays in the book provide a history of the academic and professional writing program at the University of Maryland Subsequent essays explore successes and challenges in the establishment and development of writing programs at four other major institutions identify the features of language that facilitate academic and professional communication look at the ways digital practices in academic and professional writing have shaped how writers compose and respond to texts and examine the role of assessment in curriculum and pedagogy An afterword by distinguished rhetoric and composition scholars Jessica Enoch and Scott Wible offers perspectives on the future of academic and professional writing This collection takes stock of the historical rhetorical linguistic digital and evaluative aspects of the teaching of writing in higher education Among the critical issues addressed are how university writing programs were first established and what early challenges they faced where writing programs were housed and who administered them how the language backgrounds of composition students inform the way writing is taught the ways in which current writing technologies create new digital environments and how student learning and programmatic outcomes should be assessed Handbook of Research on Writing Charles Bazerman,2009-03-04 The Handbook of Research on Writing ventures to sum up inquiry over the last few decades on what we know about writing and the many ways we know it How do people write How do they learn to write and develop as writers Under what conditions and for what purposes do people write What resources and technologies do we use to write How did our current forms and practices of writing emerge within social history What impacts has writing had on society and the individual What does it mean to be and to learn to be an active participant in contemporary systems of meaning This cornerstone volume advances the field by aggregating the broad ranging interdisciplinary multidimensional strands of writing research and bringing them together into a common intellectual space Endeavoring to synthesize what has been learned about writing in all nations in recent decades it reflects a wide scope of international research activity with attention to writing at all levels of schooling and in all life situations Chapter authors all eminent researchers come from disciplines as diverse as anthropology archeology typography communication studies linguistics journalism sociology rhetoric composition law medicine education history and literacy studies The Handbook s 37 chapters are organized in five sections The History of Writing Writing in Society Writing in Schooling Writing and the Individual Writing as Text This volume in summing up what is known about writing deepens our experience and appreciation of writing in ways that will make teachers better at teaching writing and all of its readers better as individual writers It will be interesting and useful to scholars and researchers of writing to anyone who teaches writing in any context at any level and to all those who are just curious about writing Writing Spaces 1 Charles Lowe,Pavel Zemliansky,2010-06-18 Volumes in Writing Spaces Readings on Writing offer multiple perspectives on a wide range of topics about writing much like the model made famous by Wendy Bishop s The Subject Is series In each chapter authors present their unique views insights and strategies for writing by addressing the undergraduate reader directly Drawing on their own experiences these teachers as writers invite students to join in the larger conversation about developing nearly every aspect of craft of writing Consequently each essay functions as a standalone text that can easily complement other selected readings in writing or writing intensive courses across the disciplines at any level Topics in Volume 1 of the series include academic writing how to interpret writing assignments motives for writing rhetorical analysis revision invention writing centers argumentation narrative reflective writing Wikipedia patchwriting collaboration and genres A Socially Just Classroom: Transdisciplinary Approaches to Teaching Writing Across the Humanities Kristin Coffey,Vuslat Katsanis,2022-08-16 This edited collection provides a range of transdisciplinary approaches to the teaching of writing across the Humanities through the lens of inclusion and equity in higher education In three parts From Disciplinary Practice to Transdisciplinary Application The Collective We Transparent Pedagogy in Praxis Power in Presence From Chalkboard to Pavement the chapters focus on teaching triumphs and challenges specific learning objectives and best practices theories and their applications and concrete examples of campus action within specific institutional or socio historical contexts In whole the book represents what a socially just classroom looks like from first year university writing classes to advanced graduate studies and the impact of learning beyond the university Building on the scholarship of equity in higher education the book forefronts transdisciplinary pedagogies with chapters representing language and literature creative writing cultural and ethnic studies women and gender studies and media studies While we understand social justice as a multifaceted and ever expanding effort we affirm the essential role of classroom instructors as the foundational actors in cultivating and sustaining inclusion and equity We also acknowledge the current challenges of teaching brought on by the COVID 19 pandemic which intensifies previously existing issues surrounding housing employment healthcare and the legal residency status of many students By fostering a conversation around writing pedagogy in a comparative and transdisciplinary context we encourage educators to translate the resources available in their fields in a collective effort to close the equity gaps At the same time we intend for this book to provide a context where younger faculty and diverse students can redefine the college classroom while empowering each other within their chosen institutions
