Rhetorical Stance in Modern Literature Lynette Hunter, 1984-06-18      Comparative Criticism: Volume 9, Cultural Perceptions and Literary Values E. S. Shaffer, 1987-10-29 The ninth volume of this annual journal continues the consideration of the relations of European with non European literatures begun in volume 8 It brings the series of special bibliographies on the history of comparative literary studies in the UK up to 1965 and contains the annual bibliography of comparative literature covering 1984      Rhetorical Affect in Early Modern Writing R. Cockcroft, 2002-12-10 Emotive language is now best understood by combining the analytic techniques of classical rhetoric with current linguistic practices With or without prompting the passions of Renaissance culture can stir contrary feelings in today's readers which are enlisted to validate a range of theorised responses This book will mediate between critics readers the author and the original audience using the New Rhetoric to open fresh perspectives on writers as diverse as Christopher Marlowe Lucy Hutchinson and Margaret Cavendish      Rewriting the Thirties Keith Williams, Steven Matthews, 2014-09-25 Rewriting the Thirties questions the myth of the anti modernist decade Conversely the editors argue it is a symptomatic transitional phase between modern and post modern writing and politics at a time of cultural and technological change The text reconsiders some of the leading writers of the period in the light of recent theoretical developments through essays on the ambivalent assimilation of Modernist influences among proletarian and canonical novelists including James Barke and George Orwell and among poets including Auden MacNeice Swinger and Bunting and in the work of feminist writers Vera Brittain and Winifred Holtby In this substantial remapping the complexity and scope of literary critical debate at the time is discussed in relation to theatrical innovation audience attitudes to the mass medium of modernity cinema the poetics of suburbia consumerism and national ideology as well as the discursive strategies of British and American documentarism      A Rhetoric of Doing Stephen Paul Witte, Neil Nakadate, Roger Dennis Cherry, 1992 Concerned with both the nature and the practice of discourse the eighteen essays collected here treat rhetoric as a dynamic enterprise of inquiry exploration and application and in doing so reflect James L Kinneavy's firm belief in the vital relationship between theory and practice his commitment to a spirit of accommodation and assimilation that promotes the development of ever more powerful theories and ever more useful practices A thorough introduction provides the reader with clear summaries of the essays by leading edge theorists researchers and teachers of writing and rhetoric A field context for the ideas presented in this book is provided through the division of the various chapters into four major sections that focus on classical rhetoric and rhetorical theory in historical contexts on dimensions of discourse theory aspects of discourse communities and the sorts of knowledge people access and use in producing written texts on writing in school related contexts and on several dimensions of nonacademic writing A fifth section contains a bibliographic survey and an appreciation of James Kinneavy's work The exceptional range of these essays makes A Rhetoric of Doing an ecumenical examination of the current state of mind in rhetoric and written communication a survey and description of what discourse and those in the field of discourse are in fact doing      Rhetoric, Sophistry, Pragmatism Steven Mailloux, 1995-05-18 The anti sceptical relativism and self conscious rhetoric of the pragmatist tradition which began with the Older Sophists of Ancient Greece and developed through an American tradition including William James and John Dewey has attracted new attention in the context of late twentieth century postmodernist thought At the same time there has been a more general renewal of interest across a wide range of humanistic and social science disciplines in rhetoric itself language use writing and speaking persuasion figurative language and the effect of texts This book written by leading scholars explores the various ways in which rhetoric sophistry and pragmatism overlap in their current theoretical and political implications and demonstrates how they contribute both to a rethinking of the human sciences within the academy and to larger debates over cultural politics      Humanism, Capitalism, and Rhetoric in Early Modern England Lynette Hunter, 2022-01-19 This book offers an interdisciplinary approach to concepts of the self associated with the development of humanism in England and to strategies for both inclusion and exclusion in structuring the early modern nation state It addresses writings about rhetoric and behavior from 1495 1660 beginning with Erasmus work on sermo or the conversational rhetoric between friends which considers the reader as an absent audience and following the transference of this stance to a politics whose broadening democratic constituency needed a legitimate structure for governance at a distance Unusually the book brings together the impact on behavior of these new concepts about rhetoric with the growth of the publishing industry and the emergence of capitalism and of modern medicine It explores the effects on the formation of the subject and political legitimation of the early liberal nation state It also lays new ground for scholarship concerned with what is left out of both selfhood and politics by that state studying examples of a parallel development of the self defined by friendship not only from educated male writers but also from women writers and writers concerned with socially middling and laboring people and the poor      Persuading People Robert Cockcroft, Susan Cockcroft, Craig Hamilton, 2013-12-01 This fascinating and practical book explores persuasive techniques in the English language and is the ideal introduction for students and others with a professional interest in persuasion Using a wide range of lively and accessible illustrative material Robert Cockcroft and Susan Cockcroft unpick the complexities of persuasive language both written and spoken and enable readers to develop and enhance their rhetorical skills Now thoroughly revised and expanded the second edition of this successful text includes Developed application of cognitive linguistic theory which sheds new light on the emotional and logical powers of persuasion Extended and updated examples of rhetoric in action Clear pointers for further study to allow readers to continue their exploration into rhetorical theory and practice A new final chapter which invites readers to practice their skills using updated versions of traditional rhetorical exercises      Towards A Definition of Topos Lynette Hunter, 1991-06-18 Allegories rhetoric imagery commonplaces cliches and archetypes are discussed in connection with the literary work of authors such as Montaigne Shakespeare Jules Verne Emile Zola and James Joyce      The Recovery of

Rhetoric Richard H. Roberts, James M. M. Good, 1993     Jacques Derrida (Routledge Revivals) William Schultz, Lewis L.B. Fried, 2016-06-17 First published in 1992 this book represents the first major attempt to compile a bibliography of Derrida's work and scholarship about his work. It attempts to be comprehensive rather than selective, listing primary and secondary works from the year of Derrida's Master's thesis in 1954 up until 1991 and is extensively annotated. It arranges under article type a huge number of works from scholars across numerous fields reflecting the interdisciplinary and controversial nature of Deconstruction. The substantial introduction and annotations also make this bibliography in part a critical guide and as such will make a highly useful reference tool for those studying his philosophy     Fielding, Dickens, Gosse, Iris Murdoch and Oedipal Hamlet Douglas Brooks-Davies, 1989-11-13     Challenging Theory: Discipline After Deconstruction Catherine Burgass, 2019-01-04 First published in 1999 this volume perceives that English literature is under threat as an academic discipline. In Challenging Theory Catherine Burgass warns against the recent trend towards the conflation of literature teaching with cultural studies in British and American universities. Focusing on theory of deconstruction as developed by Jacques Derrida in the 1960s the book redresses some common misinterpretations of Derrida's work relating to the status of metaphysical oppositions. Part One discusses textual differences and the ways in which these may dissolve and reform according to different cultural contexts. The practical issues associated with teaching literature and literary theory in universities are examined in Part Two while Part Three highlights some of the more invidious claims of literary theorists and questions the value of metaphysical analysis as a tool for political critique. Challenging Theory tackles an important debate that lies at the heart of humanities teaching. It illuminates the impact on academia of the work of critical theorists over the last thirty years and provides a platform for future reassessment of the relationships between literature philosophy and theory     Gender and Literacy Karen A. Krasny, 2013-02-27 This work offers parents, educators and librarians a practical guide to discovering the ways gender identities are constructed through literacy practices, providing recommendations for addressing gender inequities in schools and in the community at large. Gender and Literacy: A Handbook for Educators and Parents focuses on issues related to the gendered experience of students from pre-kindergarten through grade 12, promoting an understanding that the issues surrounding gender cannot be reduced to broad generalizations. Author Karen A. Krasny seeks to make clear the complex notion of gender construction within the context of redefining what constitutes legitimate literacy practices in schools. This handbook will help to guide educators, parents and librarians by assisting them in the selection and evaluation of print and media resources. The first chapter explains the need to understand the complex relationship between gender and literacy. The bulk of the book provides readers with a critical review of the studies conducted to investigate gendered literacy practices while the last three chapters focus on actionable strategies and policy making     Plato: Phaedrus Plato, 2011-05-26 Ostensibly a discussion about love, the debate in the Phaedrus also encompasses the art of rhetoric and how it should be practised. This new edition contains an introductory essay outlining the argument of the dialogue as a whole and Plato's arguments about rhetoric and eros in particular The Introduction also considers Plato's style and offers an account of the reception of the dialogue from its composition to the twentieth century A new Greek text of the dialogue is accompanied by a select textual apparatus The greater part of the book consists of a Commentary which elucidates the text and makes clear how Plato achieves his philosophical and literary objectives Primarily intended for advanced undergraduates and graduate students of ancient Greek literature and philosophy it will also benefit scholars who want an up to date account of how to understand the text argument style and background of the work Πλάτωνος Φαίδρος Plato, 2011 Primarily intended for advanced undergraduates and graduate students of ancient Greek literature and philosophy this book will also benefit scholars who want an up to date account of how to understand the text argument style and background of the work MLA International Bibliography of Books and Articles on the Modern Languages and Literatures, 2008 Rhetoric William A.
