Tradition, Modernity and Post-modernity in Comparative Education Vandra Masemann, Anthony Welch, 1998-01-31

This special double issue consists of a selection of papers presented at the Ninth World Congress of Comparative Education held at the University of Sydney Australia in July 1996 on the theme of Tradition Modernity and Post modernity in Comparative Education Before presenting the selection this introduction will first survey the changing discourse in comparative education over the past few decades and will argue that an unreformulated and uncritical postmodernity holds no greater promise in comparative education than its uncritical modernist or tradition oriented rivals When Nicholas Hans 1949 cited Michael Sadler's early rationale for studying comparative education it was within the context of a work which sought to identify the traditions that underlay national educational systems This early work together with others such as that by Isaac Kandel 1930 was predicated on the assumption of the importance of national character of which education systems were an important component Indeed from this perspective the purpose of comparative education was not merely to analyse the forces and factors which produced differences among educational systems but implicitly at least also to discover the underlying principles which govern the development of all national systems of education Hans 1949 5 Hans was preeminently an historian of course as was Kandel to an extent and therefore saw comparative education first and foremost in this light

Young Children in the World and Their Rights Adrijana Višnjić-Jevtić, Alicja R. Sadownik, Ingrid Engdahl, 2021-04-20 This book provides different perspectives on the concept of children's rights including policy educational and children's perspectives It examines how the crucial ideas of the Convention on the Rights of the Child are respected and implemented in 14 countries in five regions of the world It looks at early childhood education children's participatory rights and at how these rights are promoted and guaranteed in different countries It explores the professional practice of education and its complexities challenges and dilemmas as well as the role of play and of listening and participation The book advocates children's rights today arguing for its vital importance in the best interests of the children In doing so it furthers the understanding of children's rights and spreads knowledge about the Convention as a means of celebrating its 30th anniversary The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child UNCRC comprises the potential to change the lives of children to the very best It may exalt children from the position of marginalized citizens to the centre of policies all over the world Even though the concept of children's rights is omnipresent the respect for children's rights must be discussed While the Convention brings the new perspective of children as citizens to the world there are still challenges in its application The book interrogates challenges in understanding and applying children rights and offers possible answers to these challenges The ratification process itself does not guarantee that children's rights are respected While all adults should take responsibility for implementing the UNCRC in everyday life Early Childhood Education should give opportunities for children to learn and live their rights

Wealth and New Zealand Max Rashbrooke, 2015-11-09 We are heading towards Thomas

Piketty's predicted steady state of wealth being worth six times national income. We are not immune to his prognosis of a return to Victorian style levels of inequality. The most recent NBR Rich List has revealed the biggest proportional increase in wealth since the list first appeared in 1986. But what do these figures mean and what else do we know about New Zealand's fortunes? Following his groundbreaking work on income inequality, Max Rashbrooke examines how wealth shapes our experience. Drawing on previously unpublished data, he explores what constitutes wealth in New Zealand, where, how, and why it is held. In doing so, he addresses how wealth has come to be so unevenly distributed and why this imbalance is something we can no longer ignore.

EFA Global Monitoring Report - 2013-2014 - Teaching and Learning: Achieving quality for all UNESCO, 2014-02-04. The 2013-2014 Education for All Global Monitoring Report shows that a lack of attention to education quality and a failure to reach the marginalized have contributed to a learning crisis that needs urgent attention. Worldwide, 250 million children, many of them from disadvantaged backgrounds, are not learning the basics. Teaching and Learning: Achieving Quality for All describes how policy makers can support and sustain a quality education system for all children, regardless of background, by providing the best teachers. The Report also documents global progress in achieving Education for All goals and provides lessons for setting a new education agenda post 2015. In addition, the Report identifies that insufficient financing is hindering advances in education.

Socioeconomic Segregation and Educational Inequality Nathan A. Burroughs, Jacqueline A. Gardner, Dirk F. Zuschlag, Craig Joseph Van Vliet, 2024-08-27. This open access book uses multiple IEA Assessments to examine the relationship between socioeconomic segregation between classrooms and student outcomes. By examining Socioeconomic status (SES) segregation between classrooms as well as between schools, it produces a more accurate estimate of student sorting. Further, this study examines the differential impact of student sorting across subject areas and grades in order to explore whether school structure's relationship to educational inequality exhibits content and longitudinal heterogeneity. This study employs time series, fixed effect, random effects, and synthetic cohort methods to comprehensively investigate the robustness of the relationship between SES segregation and achievement inequalities This project makes an important contribution to researchers understanding of student sorting s impact using a comparative lens while also providing important information to policymakers on the role of schools in mediating social inequalities

A History of Christchurch Muslims Abdullah Drury,2024-09-30 This book examines a significant part of New Zealand history through a critical analysis of the Muslim community in Christchurch a neglected but important aspect of wider New Zealand social and religious history Islam is one of the fastest growing religions in New Zealand and one of the least understood by the wider public However the historic reality demonstrates that the first Muslim settlers arrived within 15 years of the proclamation of the colony in 1841 and many have been living quietly in this country and contributing to society ever since Drury elucidates how New Zealand Muslims have proved it possible to integrate into a European society in the South Pacific whilst retaining an idiosyncratic sense of Islamic communal identity This book is a useful reference for scholars and educators curious to learn more about Muslims in New Zealand and about the Christchurch Mosque communities before the 2019 shootings

A Bark But No Bite Jack Vowles,Hilde Coffé,Jennifer Curtin,2017-08-21 Based on New Zealand Election Study NZES data from a sample of 2 830 eligible voters A Bark But No Bite explores a puzzle While there was a lot of talk about inequality before the 2014 general election in New Zealand and during the campaign concern about inequality appeared to have no tangible effect on the election outcome This book shows that by its attention to the concerns of middle ground voters the National Government had reduced the potential of policy differences to drive voter choices Perceptions of competence and effective leadership were National s strongest suit crowding out voter concerns over matters of policy When voters did consider policy inequality and related concerns were second to the economy Traditional priorities about health and education and perceptions of party differences on these matters had faded into the background Meanwhile voters doubted the opposition Labour Party s ability to govern effectively in an alternative coalition to that of the National led government Labour s policies were too many In various ways they would have chipped away at inequality but lacked a coherent narrative and presentation This book confirms that Labour s proposal to increase the age for receipt of New Zealand superannuation gained Labour no new votes Hopes that the missing million people who failed to turn out to vote in 2011 would vote in 2014 and give an advantage to the left were unfulfilled A comprehensive study of the 2014 election this book provides a detailed account of all these findings and a host of others
