Rosa The Life Of An Italian Immigrant Wisconsin Studies In Autobiography:

Rosa Marie Hall Ets, 1999 Rosa was born in a silk making village in Lombardy a major source of north Italian emigration She first set foot in the United States at the Castle Garden immigrant depot on the tip of Manhattan Her life in this country was hard and Ets chronicles it in eloquent detail Rosa endures a marriage at sixteen to an abusive older man an unwilling migration to a Missouri mining town the unassisted birth of a child and manages to escape from a husband who tried to force her into prostitution

Multiethnic Literature and Canon Debates Mary Jo Bona, Irma Maini, 2012-02-16 This groundbreaking collection reinvigorates the debate over the inclusion of multiethnic literature in the American literary canon While multiethnic literature has earned a place in the curriculum on many large campuses it is still a controversial topic at many others as recent campus and corporate revivals of The Great Books attest Many still perceive multiethnic literature as being governed by ideological and political issues perpetuating a false distinction between highbrow literary texts and multiethnic works Through historical overviews and textual analyses the contributors not only argue for the aesthetic validity of multiethnic literature but also examine the innovative ways in which multiethnic literature is taught and critiqued The following questions are also addressed Who and what determines literary value What role do scholars students the reading public book awards and or publishers play in affirming literary value Taken together these essays underscore the necessity for maintaining vibrant conversations about the place of multiethnic literature both inside and outside the academy

The Dream Book Helen Barolini, 2000-12-01 Drawing on rare sources and archival material Helen Barolini has here collected 56 works by Italian American women writers The volume features prose poetry one play and a large section of fiction

By the Breath of Their Mouths Mary Jo Bona, 2012-02-01 In By the Breath of Their Mouths Mary Jo Bona examines the oral uses of language and the liberating power of speech in Italian American writing as well as its influences on generations of assimilated Italian American writers Probing and wide ranging Bona's analysis reveals the lasting importance of storytelling and folk narrative their impact on ethnic working class and women's literatures and their importance in shaping multiethnic literature Drawing on a wide range of material from several genres including oral biographies fiction film poetry and memoir and grounded in recent theories of narrative and autobiography postcolonial theory and critical multiculturalism By the Breath of Their Mouths is must reading for students in Italian American studies in particular and ethnic studies and multiethnic literature more generally

Anthropology and Migration Caroline B. Brettell, 2003-09-08 Brettell's new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective It has been estimated at the turn of the millennium that 160 million people are living outside of their country of birth or citizenship The author analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal as well as research in Germany Brazil France the United States and Canada Key issues she discusses include the value of immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states the role of ethnicity and ethnic groups the effects of clandestine or illegal immigration the differing commitments to host vs sending communities the shift from city enclaves to suburban areas the constraints and opportunities that lead to ethnic entrepreneurship the role of religion in transnational linkages and the differing experiences of men and women as migrants Brettell also explores the relevance of life histories and oral narratives in understanding the immigration process and the mediation of boundaries in a new society This book provides a fresh perspective on the contemporary experience of migration and will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology race and ethnic studies immigration studies urban studies sociology and international relations
